FIVE HUNDRED BARRELS OF HYDRAULIC sold to an investor. It is No. 436 Broadway, northeast corner of Howard st, a 9-sty building, on plot 60.10x98x60x97.8. The sellers are M. L. & C. Ernst, and the buyer is said to be Thomas L. Watt, president of the Mt. Morris Bank, who, it is said, pays all cash, but as over $1,000,000 is reported to be involved in the transaction, it is more than likely a trade. William R. Lowe & Co. were the brokers.

4TH ST.—M. L. & C. Ernst have sold to Julius Shatmann No. 25 East 4th st, an 8-sty loft building, on lot 21x127.4. It sold at foreclosure in 1900 to the plaintiff for $47,475. Joseph Bierhoff and David Davis were the brokers. The buyer gives other prop-

The Greenwich Local Board of Improvement have decided to recommend the Board of Estimate to establish a plaza at 4th av, between 8th and 9th sts. The plans propose to cut through the Bible House by taking a strip on 4th av, 23 feet deep on 9th st, and 89 feet on 8th st.

P. M. Mackenzie, who has been associated with the firm of S. Osgood Pell & Co. during the past fifteen months, was the recipient of a pleasant surprise on Saturday last, when the firm presented him with a very handsome piece of silver, together with a congratulatory letter, recognizing his good work for them during the past year.

A. W. McLaughlin & Co. were the brokers in the sale of the block front on Broadway, east side, 85th to 86th st, for the General Building and Construction Co., to the Eighty-Sixth Street Co.; the same transaction involving the erection of a high-class, 12-sty apartment hotel, which will have an underground connection with the subway station at this point.

Muhlker Bros. is the name of a new firm of realty workers, who have well-appointed offices at No. 1248 Lexington av, near 84th st. They transact a general real estate business; selling, exchanging and managing property, negotiating mortgage loans and placing insurance. Telephone, 2060 79th, calls Muhlker Bros.

W. K. Aston has organized the Orient Building Co. to erect a 12-sty building at the southeast corner of Wall and Pearl sts, on a plot 72.10x61.7½, purchased by Mr. Aston in December last, The Orient Co. has just taken title, the consideration being $300,000; $175,000 of this is left on mortgage, and a building loan of $450,000 is made by the George A. Fuller Co., who have the general contract.

The International Realty Co., the lessee of the St. Cloud Hotel site, at the southeast corner of Broadway and 42d st, have commenced to tear down the old building. They leased the property from John Jacob Astor for $105,000 a year, and Mr. Astor makes them a building loan of $1,800,000 at 6 per cent., due in 1920. J. E. & A. L. Pennock will erect the building. Bruce Price is the architect.

Col. Oliver H. Payne has just taken title to the Cook plot, on 5th av, between 78th and 79th sts. It fronts 70 feet on 5th av and 15 feet on 79th st, and contains 8,532½ square feet. The price is $525,000, which would make a square foot price of $61.52, the third highest square foot price yet made on the avenue, the others being $73.19 for the Progress Club site by J. B. Haggin, and $65.95 by E. T. Gerry for No. 816 5th av.

Promoters of the scheme to widen 59th st, from river to river have elected the following officers: President, E. W. Bloomingdale; Treasurer, J. B. Bloomingdale; Secretary, A. C. Chenoweth; Executive Committee, John D. Crimmins, Justice Henry P. Dugro, Joseph Day, A. C. Chenoweth and Harry L. Toplitz. In the discussion of details of the proposed improvement it was suggested that an arcade be built under the present sidewalk for pedestrian traffic, giving the present sidewalk over to roadway purposes.

A petition is on file in the office of Borough President Cantor for probably the strangest street opening proceeding ever known. It is for the extension of West 60th st, from Broadway to Central Park West, or through the southerly end of the old riding academy site. What would be gained by this it is difficult to see. The Washington Heights Local Board of Improvements have applied for two additional tracks on the rapid transit railroad in Lenox av, from 110th to 140th st. Other petitions are for the improvement of the land taken for Colonial Park, and for laying out Alexander Hamilton Park, at 142d st and Convent av.

A most interesting transaction, and one that shows how deceiving the revenue stamps on a deed are as a basis for figuring on values, is that at the northwest corner of Park av and 58th st, a vacant plot, 50.5x100, which Clarence E. Rice transferred this week to Emil Simon. The revenue stamp on the deed to Mr. Simon indicated a price of $105,000, and the stated consideration in a transfer by Mr. Simon to the Lenox Realty Co. is $150,000. Mr. Rice's asking price some months ago was $85,000; the differences between the three prices indicate a very sudden advance in this neighborhood in a short time, and one which experts have not discovered. Mr. Simon, by the way, is connected with the office of the attorney of the buyer.

The Appellate Division have reversed the judgment which Julian Benedict recovered against Alfred Duane Pell, on the claim that he had been instrumental in selling for Pell the property on the northwest corner of Broadway and 34th st, to a Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith bought the property for $375,000. The plaintiff's testimony was that he had learned from a man named Bollinger that Mr. Pell was the owner, but that he was in Europe. Benedict called at Mr. Pell's house and was told that George A. Potterton was his agent. He and Smith then saw Potterton, who told them that any offer they had to make could be put in writing and forwarded to Mr. Pell. When the latter returned from Europe Benedict and Smith called upon him and were introduced by Potterton. The outcome of the interview was the payment of $375,000 cash for the property by Mr. Smith. Mr. Pell's defense was that he never recognized any agent other than his own, Mr. Potterton, and that in the contract of sale between him and Mr. Smith there was a provision that "George A. Potterton is the only broker who brought about this transaction, and, so far as the vendee knows, no other broker is concerned herein." The Appellate Division finds, by Justice Ingraham, that there was no evidence to show that the defendant was ever informed that Benedict was a broker, or assumed to represent him in the transaction. Neither was there evidence that Mr. Pell either directly or indirectly, employed Benedict, or accepted Smith's offer with knowledge that the plaintiff purported to be a real estate broker.

The row over the Sheriff's office has seriously interfered with the disposal of property by legal sale. On one day this week sales of fourteen parcels were postponed, because the attorneys in the case preferred to take adjournments rather than any chances of deeds given by a possible illegal incumbent of the Sheriff's office. It is presumable that recent events may satisfy them, and, also, that they may decide to await the result of any action that Mr. Guden may be disposed to take to hold the office against the Governor's order of removal and his appointment of another sheriff.

The building outlook in Brooklyn and its suburbs for the spring and summer has been seriously affected by the bridge tangle. Many proposed buildings, principally dwellings in the suburbs, of which plans have already been completed, are held up until the transportation problem has been favorably solved. Architects, builders and real estate men have done nothing in unison for the relief of the bridge, yet their interests are effected by its obstruction more than any other commercial interests in the borough.

The Board of Brokers' Dinner.

The sixth annual dinner of the Real Estate Board of Brokers, which will take place this evening at the Hotel Savoy, promises to be a very enjoyable and interesting event. Those who desire to participate, and have not already done so, can obtain tickets of Henry A. B. Kelly, Manager, at the rooms of the association, No. 111 Broadway. The list of invited guests includes the names of Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, George L. Rives, Corporation Counsel; Charles V. Fornes, Chairman of the Board of Aldermen; Assemblymen Julius H. Seymour and William S. Bennett; John P. Leo, President, Builders' League; James L. Wells, President, Tax Department; John F. Doyle, Lawson Purdy, Charles O. Maas and Edgar J. Levy. Speeches have been promised on a number of topics of vital interest to the real estate world, and attendance at the dinner ought to be followed by solid profit, as well as intellectual and gastronomical enjoyment.

Important Combination of Elevator Interests.

Within the past week arrangements have been perfected whereby the entire elevator field is to be covered by manufacturers of the latest and most improved types of electric and hydraulic apparatus. The corporations interested are: The Marine Engine and Machine Company, of this city, manufacturers of the "New Standard" electric elevators; and The Portland Company, of Portland, Maine, manufacturers of hydraulic elevators. The merger of two corporations of such financial and executive strength means much to the building trades, inasmuch as the combination will be the means of their being able to supply either electric or hydraulic elevators of the highest types, as may be the choice of the builder, architect or owner.

United Real Estate Owners' Association.

A lively and interesting meeting of the United Real Estate Owners' Association was held Friday evening, at Terrace Garden, under the chairmanship of President Geo. B. Christman. Resolutions were passed authorizing the officers of the association to oppose the increase of the Corporation Counsel's appropriation by $112,000, to provide for legal assistance to the Tenement House Commission; Commissioner Lindenthal's plan for improving the Brooklyn Bridge approach by a cost of $14,500,000, and the transfer of Blackwell's Island by the city to the Navy Department. The local associations have addressed to their representatives in the Legislature a letter containing the following, which was endorsed by the United Association:

As citizens and residents of your district and as real estate owners we desire to respectfully call your attention to the following matters. We are vitally interested in the passage of the so-called "Administration Bill" introduced in the Senate by Senator Stranahan, known as Bill No. 703, also introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman Kelcey, known as Bill No. 1158, providing for certain modifications of the Tenement House Law passed last year, excepting Sections 79, 80, 85, 98, 99, 100, 101 and 164, for which amendments have been offered by the United Real Estate Owners' Association of the City of New York.

The law as now on the Statute Book is so harsh and unreasonable that unless amended it will result in great hardship not alone to owners but tenants as well.

We also desire to call your attention to and request you to vote for Assembly Bill 1151, introduced by Assemblyman Seymour, which provides that a member of the United Real Estate Owners' Association shall become a member of the Board of Examiners of the Building Department.

We further respectfully request you to strongly oppose the Uhlman Bill No. 881, which requires that an engine shall be run only by a licensed engineer; this apparently would include engines used to pump water to tanks on roofs and low pressure boilers for heating purposes. This measure is not alone grossly unreasonable, but involves a large expense which is wholly unnecessary.

Fire Alarm Connections.

Mayor Low gave hearings Tuesday and yesterday on a request of the Fire Department that the exclusive privilege of a company manufacturing fire-alarm boxes used in buildings, to connect with the department's boxes in the street, be cancelled. The request of the department was strongly supported by property-owners' associations, notably by the United Real Estate Owners' Association, who were represented by Geo. B. Christman, President, and Henry Markus; and the West End Association, for whom President Cyrus Clark, Charles Buek and Judson Lawson appeared. The effect of the present system is that owners of apartment houses and tenements and other buildings are charged heavily for fire-alarm boxes, because the law requires them to be put in, and the privilege of connecting them with the department wires is an exclusive privilege, out of which the owners are making a great deal of money. Mr. Buek said that with 80,000 tenements and 20,000 other buildings charged $50 a year each, the annual income would be $5,000,000, which was a quite unnecessary charge and burden upon the property-owners, as was shown by the Fire Department's desire to dispense with this auxiliary alarm system. Mayor Low did not state what action he would take.

Delancey St. Bridge Approach.

A meeting of the Bowery Board of Local Improvement was called on Thursday to consider a proposition to widen Delancey st, as a continuation of the Manhattan approach to the New East River Bridge, and a resolution was adopted recommending that the approach be fixed in accordance with the terms of the resolution passed by the Board of Public Improvements at their meeting in December last, with the exception that the approach shall extend to the easterly line of the Bowery only. This means simply the widening of Delancey st, from Norfolk st to the Bowery, by taking off a strip on the southerly side of Delancey st.

The World of Building

Material Market.

Information regarding Building Material, Prices, Manufacturers or production will receive due attention when addressed to Editor Building Material Department.

With the advent of fine spring weather the music of trowel and chisel mingles with the voices of the birds, and we know that building construction has once again commenced in earnest, no more to be retarded by storms of snow or rain, until the order of nature brings winter once again.

Evidences of the activity in building is gradually making itself felt in the material market. Prices are assuming a more healthy tone. Supplies in all directions are receiving considerable attention whilst manufacturers are making preparations for the demands in the far future.

It is not surprising to learn that statistics showed a falling-off in the production of blast furnaces on March 7. The reduction per week for coke and anthracite pig is from 334,007 tons to 323,721 tons. The "Iron Age," commenting on this, says: "This, however, is partly due to the fact that February records of the active plants upon which the capacity of the active furnaces is based, was considerably below the normal. The actual production in February, a short month, was 1,255,000 tons, when the normal make ought to have been at least 75,000 tons larger. It is not surprising, therefore, that the stocks fell off 25,000 tons. In fact, had the transportation facilities been adequate, there would have been further depletion of the slender supply, now under 100,000 tons of iron, held by what may be termed merchant furnaces. We know that the coke and transportation difficulties are lessening somewhat, but it is expecting too much to look for a full swing of the productive industry for the next 30 days. That, of course, means continued scarcity. Then, however, we may expect record-breaking totals of pig-iron production month after month, which ought to ease the situation."

Iron and Steel.—Notwithstanding the reports that the pig-iron market has been very quiet, we are informed by reliable authorities in the city, including Rogers, Brown & Co., that three, and even four, dollars per ton advance is being paid for pig iron. "Call it a premium or what you like," they say, "but it is a fact that this is being demanded and obtained over and above quoted prices for quick delivery." A small advance was given for list quotation in Northern No. 1 X Jersey City of fifty cents, and the same on No. 2 X Jersey City and Grey Forge. Producers are not seeking orders for future delivery from speculators and those consumers who may order very far ahead.

The demand for Bessemer iron is generally fluctuating, while Basic iron is strong and Grey Forge easy.

Steel is not in active demand, conceded to be owing to small quantities being placed on the market. Plate mills, while being very busy, are not pressed beyond their capacity, and while the demand is active, they are prepared for a greater rush of orders. The leading manufacturer of sheets is maintaining his prices and taking new orders in abundance. Some minor producers claim to be obtaining higher prices. There is a strong demand for galvanized sheets.

Old material is still in demand, and prices are being firmly maintained.

Cut nails have advanced five cents per keg and wire nails are in great demand, with advances anticipated very shortly.

A dispatch from Halifax, N. S., informs us that The Dominion Iron and Steel Co., of Sydney, is endeavoring to amend its charter to admit of its issuing $10,000,000 of new stock.

Two additional merchant bar mills at the Brown-Bonnell plant are about to be erected by the Republic Iron and Steel Co., of Youngstown. The improvements now being made at this plant will cost $1,500,000.

The Laughlin Nail Co., of Wheeling, W. Va., expects to have two additional sheet mills in operation by April 1st.

There is a rumor that the United States Steel Corporation is interested in the forge combine which is again on the tapis.

Iron producers and consumers alike are rejoicing that the railroads are getting in better shape, and fully expect that shipments from the south will be much better than they have been for months past.

The estimated improvements to be made by the United Steel Corporation in Pittsburg during the present year are: Armor plate mills, $3,000,000; Bessemer railroad, $1,000,000; structural mills (Homestead), $750,000; American Bridge plant (new), $1,500,000; Neville Island furnace plant, $1,500,000; other improvements, $250,000; total, $8,000,000.

From Hartford, Conn., we learn that the incorporators of a new hardware combination are the directors of the P. & F. Corwin Co. and Russell & Erwin, of New Britain. The capitalization is $5,000,000, with margin for indefinite increase. The company will acquire and hold stock of mercantile and manufacturing companies.

Brick, etc.—Next in importance in building construction to iron and steel is undoubtedly brick, and the manufacturers of this product who met at their monthly meeting in their exchange rooms in this city on Wednesday last had all the appearance of comprehending the importance of their product. Reporters were not permitted at the meeting, because, as Secretary Hammond said, it would never do for the mapority of the discussions to become public property. We fully understand that the monthly meeting is a private affair, where difficulties are regulated and matters of little or no general interest to the public discussed. So long as we are informed of the result of discussion upon matters interesting to the building trade at large, we make no objection to being kept on the outside. The perfection of the manufacture of brick, the prices and supplies and their source are the interesting subjects upon which we desire to keep our readers posted; nevertheless, there are matters discussed which it might be advantageous to report in the leading building trade paper—the Record and Guide.

Mr. Hammond said that the prices were the same for the present. That transportation had opened as far as Newburg this week, several barges having gone up to bring down large supplies only on Tuesday last.

"Of course," continued Mr. Hammond, "business is opening up strongly, but we are well able to keep up with the demand. Manufacturers are already making preparations for supplying the next year's demand."

On April 2d, a dinner is to be given to the officers of the association. The committee appointed to take charge of the affair are: Omar S. Ramsdell, Wm. Lahey and C. Clayton Bourne.

Firebricks and tiling are in great demand for the high class of fireproof buildings now in course of erection. Prices remain firm, and there are no prospects of change except in the way of advance unless something unforeseen happens. Whether the advent of a new clay or kaoten, which has recently been discovered in large quantities, will have any effect upon the market for tiles or enameled bricks remains to be seen. Several hundred acres of beds of this new material have been found somewhere in Colorado. Its high fusing and fire-resisting qualities, with its tenacity, are highly spoken of. Its analysis gives the following: Silica, 45.68; alumina, 40.44; sesquioxide of iron, .88; lime, .24; magnesia, none; water of combination, etc., 12.66.

Lumber.—All classes of lumber for building construction are in active demand. Prices, however, are not materially changed from last week. We anticipate having to report advances in several classes in a few days.

The Wholesale Lumber Dealers' Association gave a banquet in Chicago last week. The speakers were: Robt. A. Long, of Kansas City; D. L. Gillespie, of Pittsburg, Pa.; John N. Scratchard, of Buffalo; William B. M. Ershon, of Saginaw, Michigan; and J. E. Defebaugh, editor of the "American Lumberman."

Cleveland lumber men are in need of ships for the coming season's lumber trade.

Reports from Bay City, Mich., state that a very early opening of navigation is expected to rejoice the hearts of the lumbermen.

We learn that all the standing timber has been cut up on the Black River, Wis., which includes the logging in that district, at least for some time to come.

The former secretary of the National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' Association, Eugene F. Perry, has just been re-elected, which speaks volumes for the efficiency with which he fills his position.

Frank Cole is the treasurer of the National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' Association, and Pendennis White is the newly-elected president.

William Bacon, a well-known successful lumberman, who has recently been in Burmah, India, tells an elephant story: "I saw an old elephant," he says, "showing a customer some teak timber. He would reach up with his trunk and take down a stick which was pointed out to him, and turn it over for inspection, putting his foot on the knots and doing his best to hide the imperfections. It was a great sight, the old chap was so intelligent about it."

A contemporary, in giving a short biographical sketch of George M. Paine, the manager of an extensive sash and door factory, declares that such a position requires more skill than the management of a saw mill. We see no originality in this.

A decision important to the lumber trade has recently been decided at Nashville, Tenn. The case was that of Benedict Bros. vs. Davidson County et al., in which was involved the taxation of saw logs and lumber made from logs that were the product of the soil of Tennessee. The case was decided in favor of the plaintiff, and they were given the right to recover the money paid in on such assessment. The suit involved the question of taxation of millions of dollars of property which had heretofore been exempt.

Much in the nature of an experiment was the attempt made by A. P. Burton & Co., a Philadelphia firm, to bring lumber from the South into this port by steamship, and it proved a great success. Heretofore the lumber-carrying trade has been practically monopolized by schooners, but the firm chartered the steamship "S. V. Luckenbach" and started her on her voyage. The "Luckenbach" finished unloading her first cargo Tuesday last, having been just 24 days out, including 6 days for loading and 8 for unloading. Besides this great saving in time the steamship brought the vast cargo of 2,200,000 feet of lumber, or over 600,000 feet more than the charterers anticipated.

Window Glass.—The National Jobbers' Association has not yet decided to advance prices, and no definite information could be gathered in this direction. The prospective awakening of demand which the spring weather brings with it, is some offset to the general demoralization of the window glass market.

Paint, Oil, etc.—The leading manufacturers had no changes to report in prices. The fine weather, however, is making itself evident in an increasing demand which will undoubtedly continue as the spring advances. Linseed oil showed no material change, and quotations remain the same. Crushers anticipate an improvement in the demand if the fine weather continues; they are, however, dubious about March. Turpentine is expected to advance during next week. Stocks are reducing rapidly, being bought up in anticipation of large demand for summer trade.

The new uses discovered for asbestos have already succeeded in increasing the prices of this product considerably. The Canadian asbestos is worth three times what it was a year ago, and mines recently unproductive are reported to be quite active.

The gross value of the asbestos shipped this year promises to exceed $2,000,000. The best quality is worth about $300 a ton.

The common grades continue as before to be made into steam-packing and fireproof building felt. Stage dresses are spun from the finest quality of the fibre.

We heard a manufacturer of building product this week say that the Record and Guide was the "most effective salesman" he had. "It did its work quietly and well." Of course he referred to his advt. in its columns. Multum in parvo!

Something like 3 million brick were in the demolished buildings, and about 1½ million feet of heavy timbers, mainly 4x12 ins. x25 ft., all in excellent condition. BUILDING IN KANSAS CITY.

In Kansas City the tendency towards more extensive building has been manifest for several seasons, but the last twelve months have shown the largest development in a decade. During 1901, there was expended $6,028,170 for new buildings, $2,000,000 more than in 1900. Of the total amount spent, $3,077,000 was for dwellings, $2,300,000 for business houses, leaving $650,000 for the sixty-seven flats that were constructed during the year. A feature of the building in this city in the last year has been the tendency towards construction of homes. While last year 58 houses were built costing over $5,000 each, 1,385 houses were constructed costing less than that sum, showing the tendency towards the medium-class home. More than half these were erected at a cost of between $2,000 and $3,000. The indications are that there will be no diminution of the building movement during the coming season. At the Builders' Exchange it is asserted that every architect has enough to do to keep him busy until far into the summer.—Kansas City Correspondence.

CITY COLLEGE BUILDING PLANS CHANGED.

The Board of Trustees of the College of the City of New York, Tuesday, decided to change the general plans of the new buildings in 140th st and St. Nicholas terrace, from a single building, and the following specifications were sent to the architect, George B. Post: "There shall be separate buildings for the collegiate and academic departments, each to accommodate about fifteen hundred students. There shall be a chapel seating fifteen hundred students, which shall be attached to the collegiate building. The physical, mechanical and chemical laboratories shall not be in either the collegiate or academic buildings, but shall occupy separate structures. Provision must be made for easily augmenting the capacity of the buildings. These buildings will cost about $1,500,000, while the original single structure plan called for an expenditure of $3,000,000.

A PLAN TO RELIEVE THE BRIDGE.

To relieve the present Brooklyn Bridge, or rather, to provide more room for the traffic, Wm. Hildenbrand, Chief Engineer for John H. Roebling's Sons for the erection of the cables of the new East River Bridge, proposes to widen the roadways for vehicles from 18 ft. 9 ins. to 25 ft. 6 ins. He would do this by "letting out" the outer cables, which are now inclined inward, or "cradled," to the extent of 10 ft. The outer cables would thus swing back more nearly to a vertical plane, though they would still "cradle" about 3½ ft., or a little less than the present "cradling" of the inner cables. He finds by calculation that the stress on the cables due to extra load would not exceed 51,000 lbs. per sq. in., whereas Mr. Philbin's engineers considered a stress of 60,000 lbs. perfectly safe. The estimated cost of this widening is less than $500,000, and the work could be done in about nine months. The direct gain would be relief at the bridge entrances by separating the roadways from the trolley tracks and thus avoiding delays to the latter from any accident on the wagonway. As the trolley tracks would be separated by a railing from the wagonway, any speed desired could be maintained by the trolley cars. This separation can not take place under existing conditions.

Questions and Answers.

ICE ON SIDEWALK.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I am the landlord of a certain tenement house in Brooklyn with a store on the ground floor. The store and rooms are rented out to monthly tenants. I do not live in the house. (1) Am I liable to a person slipping and falling on frozen snow or ice accumulated on the sidewalk in front of said premises, which has lain there for about one week prior to accident, with my knowledge? (2) Am I liable if without my knowledge?

Answer.—In neither case are you liable. The liability rests upon the city.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT—OBNOXIOUS SIGN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A client of mine owns a certain piece of business property, said property consisting of two stores on the ground floor and two stories above the stores. One of the stores he has leased to one party and the other store and also the floors above the stores to another party; this last-mentioned party has, without the consent of said owner, rented to an advertising sign company and given them the privilege of placing a sign on the roof, about 12 feet high by 24 feet long, and without a written or verbal consent of the owner. The lease given to this tenant is an ordinary agreement, number 3, and does not mention anything about occupying any other portion of the premises except the one store and the upper part of the house. Now what I want to know is this: (1) Has the tenant a right to lease said roof to this sign company? (2) Has the owner a right to remove this sign and can he make said tenant pay the expense for removing the sign? (3) Should this sign blow down and injure any pedestrian on the street, can the injured person sue the owner and claim damages? Kindly advise the best way to pursue in this matter.

Answer.—(1) Yes. (2) No. (3) The liability in such case would be on the tenant, not the owner.—Law Editor.

BREACH OF CONTRACT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A agreed with B to lease a tenement house from B at an agreed price for five years. A gave to his broker a check for $100. The broker induced A to make an additional check for $50 to the order of B. The broker has taken the two checks to B. B gave the broker a receipt for the checks on a card stating the signing of the lease December 31, without asking whether December 31 was convenient for A. A telephoned to B on the morning of the 31st. B said he was busy and set the matter on for the 2d. A telephoned to B on the 2d to find if he was ready; his book-keeper said B was out and would not be back until the next day. A with his broker called on B on the following day and B refused to close the deal, saying it was to be closed on the 31st, and denies the extensions made through the telephone. A knew B's voice through the phone. After refusing to close, A went to his banker and succeeded in stopping the $100 check, but not the $50. The $50 check was endorsed by B and given to the broker for part of his commission. What cause of action has A got?

Answer.—He may sue to recover back his $50, or he may sue to compel B to give him a lease, or he may sue for damages for the breach of contract.—Law Editor.

The Population of Paris.

The figures of the French census of 1901 afford an interesting indication of the increasing importance of Paris in French life. During the past five years there has been a gain of 444,613 inhabitants, of which 177,204 were credited to Paris. The following is a table showing the increase in the population of Paris since 1881:

1881	280,217	1896	88,877
1886	75,527	1901	177,204
1891	103,407

In twenty-five years Paris has gained 725,262 inhabitants, and that city has now more than five times the population of any other French city—as may be seen from the following table:

Paris	2,714,068	Nantes	132,990
Marseille	491,161	Le Havre	130,196
Lyon	459,099	Rouen	116 316
Bordeaux	256,638	Reims	108,385
Lille	210,696	Nice	105,109
Toulouse	149,841	Nancy	102,559
Saint-Etienne	146,559	Toulon	102,602
Roubaix	142,365

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The Attention of Architects, Builders, Owners and Managers of Hotels and Apartment Houses is called to the New York Telephone Company's

Private Branch Exchange System.

By means of a Private Branch Exchange city and long distance telephone service, as well as an interior service, are available to every apartment, at very moderate cost. Most people depend so much now-a-days on the telephone service that a Private Branch Exchange, connecting with the New York Telephone System, is practically a necessity in the Modern Apartment House or Hotel.

Vol. LXIX. MARCH 22, 1902. No. 1775

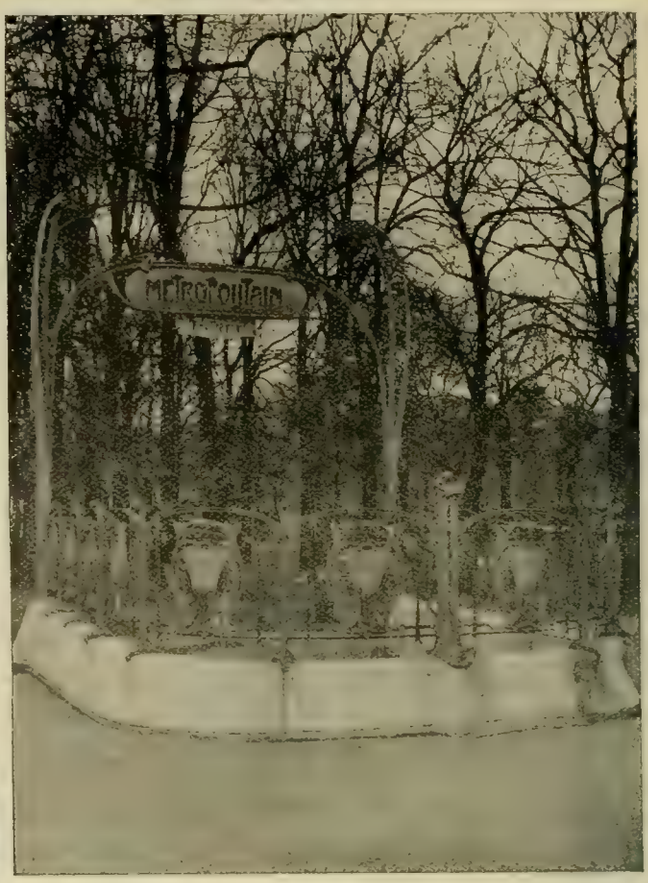
ANOTHER week has passed on the Stock Exchange in which operations have been very predominantly professional or manipulative. The volume of business from day to day both in the stock and bond divisions of the market has been about the same as it has been for weeks past and this, taken, with the levels of prices maintained shows that there is no unusual realizing or liquidation. This makes the task of keeping up quotations an easy and calculable one—legitimate buying and selling are probably about equal, and the professional operators and the manipulator do the rest. Under the circumstances it is not likely that interested support need be very large. Such conditions favor the great financial leaders and the managers of the big enterprises, who are carrying everything their own way. There is no doubt that the U. S. Steel Co. will get the new capital they want as the Metropolitan and Brooklyn Rapid Transit have done. So far as the investing public are concerned they are clearly with the leaders in consolidation and concentration, and the latter can do as they please with them. This is one result, as well as a sign of the pervasiveness of prosperity. The public are never critics or grumblers while they are making money fast; it is later when profits dwindle and expenses are hard to reduce that the kicking comes. This condition of the moneyed-public's mind makes it still possible that the tactics employed to advance quotations may yet be successful before the dull season comes. The country has met the latest test of the soundness of business conditions—the storms of this and last month—without, so to say, turning a hair; time has shown that the growth of industrial and commercial activity were more than an offset for the crop losses of last year and, unless these are to recur this year with greater severity, which is unlikely through something no one is able to determine, the sky is clear for the immediate future. Under such circumstances, were prices lower an advance could be confidently predicted; being what they are, the question is, can manipulation gather another dividend from the buoyancy of public feeling?

NO matter how well-disposed one feels towards the plans of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, it must be admitted, as the Record and Guide has already pointed out, that the authorizing bill now before the Mayor is open to serious objection. The justifiable ground for such objection is not in our opinion the proposal to grant the franchise in perpetuity, for it is natural that the Pennsylvania Railroad should object to investing on a revocable lease a great many million of dollars in a tunnel, which from its point of view is only the terminus for many thousand of miles of road in other states. Moreover, the franchise it seeks has not very much value, apart from the connections which are made with the tracks of the Pennsylvania and Long Island Railroads. It is not as if a company were asking for a franchise from the Battery to Harlem on a similar pretext, for in that case the franchise would have an independent local value and should not be permanently alienated. But while under the circumstances, the company is justified in asking for a perpetual franchise, the conditions governing the grant should be made as special and exceptional as the Constitution allows. There is no reason in the world why the Aldermen and the Board of Estimate should be given authority to grant perpetual franchises for tunnels running in any direction to any railroad that has tracks outside of the city limits, for by so doing the restrictions against the permanent alienations of city franchises are destroyed; and while the public has abundant confidence in the present Board of Estimate that Board as well as the Board of Aldermen has had predecessors within the past ten years, who might have abused the power. The protest of the Rapid Transit Commissioners is consequently so far justified. If the bill in some way unmistakably restricted the power of perpetual alienation to this special case, it would be unnecessary to seek the acquiescence of that commission, for public opinion has unmistakably approved the route and plans of the Pennsylvania Railroad. But just in so far as the powers granted by the bill to the Aldermen and the Board of Estimate are general and go beyond the limits of the special case, the Rapid Transit Commissioners are justified in considering that their functions are ignored and their rights infringed.

The Stations of the Metropolitan Electric Railroad in Paris.

WE are living in a century of progress—progress not only in scientific, but also in social matters—and Art itself is affected by this universal transformation. The conditions under which we exist are constantly undergoing improvement; things are now valued according to their degree of usefulness; the industrial and commercial portion of the world is becoming more and more active every day; "Time is Money," as the English proverb says, and there is no longer any opportunity for leisure. These are considerations which more than suffice to explain the great favor which the Paris "Métro," as it is commonly called, has met with at the hands of the inhabitants of that city.

It was essential that the stations of this railroad—which was an absolute novelty—should have a distinctive appearance, so that the public could know unmistakably at a glance what they were. In view of this, the Paris Municipal Council instituted a competition of architects. Upwards of eighty designs were submitted, but not one of them was entertained by the examining committee. All these designs proceeded on the old lines and embodied the old classic formulae taught in the schools; the authors had entirely ignored the fact that they had to deal with an underground road, and that these stations were to cover entrances which amounted to mere holes in the ground; and they had failed utterly to realize the uselessness of erecting anything of a monumental character, as the ticket offices and other bureaux were to be located beneath the sidewalks, to say nothing of the limited amount of space available. Most of the competitors remembered, as usual, that the Parthenon had columns, and Saint Peter's at Rome a cupola—that is to say, the elementary rules of the architect's education. This servile worship of the past spares the necessity of exercising any imagination, any initiative or any ingenuity; a church may resemble a Greek temple, and an insurance company's building a Florentine palace. The structure is immutable; whether or not the internal accommodation meets the requirements is a minor matter!



This competition having proved a failure, and the work having to be carried out within a limited time, a municipal councillor—M. Lebreton—proposed that the task should be entrusted to M. Hector Guimard, the architect of the "Castel Béranger" and the winner of a prize for the best façade. This gentleman, who was known as the promoter of what is called "l'Art nouveau," had revolutionized domestic architecture—that of apartment houses as well as of private villas. He had stamped himself as a man of daring and independence, one whose youthful ardor broke through the bonds of convention, and whose conceptions, while observing the fundamental rules of art, rose above the clogging influences of grammars and manuals. He had shown himself withal to be a man who kept in view the needs of the times, thus making art the handmaiden of utility and comfort; who went back beyond the ancient precepts to the living spring of nature, sseking for inspiration in the forms of the Tree and the Plant, and yet remaining at all times rigidly logical.

M. Hector Guimard made a sketch, which was at once accepted, and thereupon the erection of these little structures was intrusted to his care. Henceforth, the existence of the underground road is proclaimed and the way thereto pointed out by M. Guimard's stations. Let us now explain and comment upon what he has designed.

Taking into account the feeling of alarm which everyone experiences when he finds himself close to a dark, yawning gulf, and desiring to cause an attraction to be exercised at a spot which, in its unadorned nakedness, produces an instinctive repulsion. M. Guimard has enlivened the entrances to these sombre stairways by covering them over with an edifice made of light-colored enameled tiles, ironwork entwined like tropical climbing plants, and a sort of penthouse in glass for a roof, which seems to draw up the air, as it were. The framework is extremely light, there being no thick beams or massive pillars. It is a kind of efflorescence emanating from the bowels of the earth—the tender springing forth of a graminaceous plant above the terrestrial surface. Thus, he has produced something gracile and modest, which, while occupying little room, and not causing any obstruction to the street traffic, answers most admirably the intended purpose. The exterior part—that is, the part above ground—of some of these stations (the intermediate ones) consists simply of a balustrade ornamented with what looks like masks, but which are not; they are surmounted by two harmonious stems, flowering at their extremities into spreading corollae, from the heart of which, at night, issue the rays of electric lamps. In this way the top of the stairs has a crown of light, the reflections from which fall upon the large tinted stoneware panels, becoming less bright on the deeper shades of the lower part. The effect is most attractive. One of the best examples of these intermediate stations is situated in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne. We reproduce some photographs of it. Standing amidst the mass of trees, forming a component part of the picture, either of autumnal desolation or spring verdure, which that spot presents, these pavilions, whose roofs suggest upturned umbrellas, appear as a bright addition to the ordinary scene. Looking at them from a distance, we are charmed and attracted; we approach and finish by going inside. This phenomenon of suggestion is greatly to the architect's honor, showing, as it does, that he has succeeded in popularizing the new mode of transit.

TWO VIEWS OF THE STATION OF THE CHAMPS ELYSEES.

STATION OF THE PORT DAUPHIN.

STATION OF THE PORTE DAUPHIN—ANOTHER VIEW.

On the Place de l'Etoile, and also on the Place de la Bastille, the stations are larger, but built in the same style. They stand forth in compact masses, and appear bigger than they are in reality, owing to pieces joined on, which latter, however, are in keeping with the rest. One readily recognizes these stations by the originality of their design, their coloration, the lace-like glass, and the sinuosities of the ironwork. They have no portico with the inevitable clock, no mouldings, no caryatides, and no colonnades. The curved lines seem to entwine themselves round the glance cast upon them; the details of the ornamentation do not in the least disturb the exquisite harmony of the ensemble; one looks at the structure as one would inhale the perfume of a flower, and the impression produced is that one is in presence of a thing of unity, logic and harmoniousness.

This creation of M. Hector Guimard's was a revolution, and a revelation; it brought new theories to the front; it proclaimed the official consecration of a form of aestheticism which has its enthusiastic partisans, and also its bitter opponents, and it showed that the world could not be forever contented with the old order of things—with the mere adaptation of the principles of former days to the requirements of this era of progress. Our imaginations must have something fresh to work upon; there is a new force to be discovered or created, and it is M. Hector Guimard's glory to have been a moving spirit, a man who does not simply mark time, but who goes forward and breaks ground where, in the future, splendid crops will flourish.

MAURICE GUILLEMOT.

The Real Estate Situation

Fifth Avenue North of 42d Street.

The sale of five lots on the southeast corner of 5th ave. and 52d, by Stewart H. Chisholm to the New York Realty Corporation is likely to prove a good thing for that part of the avenue. Mr. Chisholm had formed a company to erect an eighteen-story apartment hotel on the site; and plans for such a building had already been filed. But for some reason actual building, apart from the excavation was postponed, and the reason of the postponement is now apparent. It was desirable both in the interest of the Union Club, and of the many owners of very expensive private dwellings already erected in the vicinity, that residences rather than a sky-scraping hotel should be built on the site; and the negotiations, which will in the end hand the property over to the builder of dwellings, were started and have fortunately reached a prosperous conclusion. If the price reported to have been paid, viz., $1,000,000, is very near the real price, the property will have been sold at about as high a value as any parcel on the avenue ever fetched; but it is probable that this figure is an over-estimate. At any rate the lots have increased fully fifty per cent in value since they were sold by the Orphan Asylum. They will probably be soon disposed of to the builders of private dwellings, for expensive residences are in better demand just at present south of the Park than they are to the east thereof. In fact 5th av. is more active for the ten blocks north of 42d st. than it is in any other locality; and the curious part of it is that the conversion of old brownstone residences into business buildings goes along side by side with their conversion into American basement residences. It seems to be generally conceded that for the present the spread of retail trade will be stopped at about 48th st., and that even south of 48th st. there is no reason why residences should not continue. The truth is that people who want expensive private houses are coming more and more to prize very central locations; and they will cling tenaciously to any streets that remain habitable north of 34th st. In the meantime there are two important corners on 5th av., north of 42d st. still unimproved, the fate of which will affect that part of the avenue very much either for good or ill. One is the corner on 44th st., opposite Delmonico's, and the other is that on 55th, next to the University Club. Both of these corner have been reported sold several times during the past year; but what actually is to become of them is still doubtful. When they are gone, however, it will be very difficult to secure one plot in that part of 5th av. available for a big apartment hotel.

The Value of Careful Restriction.

A certain amount of activity has developed near the southeast corner of Union Square, which has been prompted probably by the importance, which that corner will obtain from the Subway station; and this importance will be very great for the express as well as the local trains will stop at 14th st. In the course of time the whole east side of the square, which has lagged in its development far behind the western side, will feel the leavening influence of the increased traffic. A speculative movement of considerable proportions would have developed on 4th av. before this, were it not that very little property on that avenue is for sale; most of it being controlled by large estates, which are willing to lease but not to sell. This fact will undoubtedly very much retard the development of 4th av., which because of its width and convenience, might well become from 9th to 42d st. another 5th av. or Broadway. The chief interest of the present market, however, continues to be not local but residential. The demand for cheaper private dwellings east of the Park has overflowed to Lexington av., at least on the part of speculators; and it is noticeable furthermore that this demand is spreading to the west and the north sides. It must be remembered that the displacement of house-holders, caused by such an improvement as that at the New York Central Station, does not cease with the new purchases made by the people originally displaced. These people have in many cases bought houses further north, and have dispossessed the inhabitants of these dwellings. The consequence is that these people also have to move, and that the inquiry for residences all over the city has become excellent. During the past week there have been many sales on the West Side. There are only three or four new rows of houses in the market in that region, and these are going fast. There is one serious danger, however, which threatens the purchasers of such dwellings upon blocks, that are not expressly restricted to residences; and that is the danger of having adjoining property bought as the site for a tall apartment house or hotel. The recent decision of Judge Truax indicates that a restriction against tenements is not enough to protect the property against the dangers of having a huge apartment house erected next door; and on the West Side this is a serious danger, for it looks as if some day a tendency even stronger than that at present will set in toward the substitution of large co-operative buildings for the existing single dwellings. Even on the East Side one of the greatest advantages of some of the blocks in which there has been the most activity recently, is that they are definitely and permanently restricted to private dwellings.

ALL indications point to the fact that the revised municipal Budget, prepared by the new administration will exceed by some millions of dollars the provisional Budget prepared by its predecessors. If this proves to be the case, the announcement will be received with profound regret by some of the best friends of the reform movement; and it will be regretted not merely because more money is being spent, but because no successful effort seems to have been made, except in certain departments, really to reduce salaries and to curtail unnecessary expenses. If the present Board of Estimate were able to save several million dollars in one direction, and were then to state that in their opinion the city ought to spend that same sum for other specified and worthy purposes, they would be supported in so doing by public opinion, because the intelligent public of the city has the utmost faith in that Board's judgment and desire to serve the city. But the discouraging aspect of the present case is that notwithstanding all the talk about Tammany extravagance, and the prevailing opinion that the city is paying very high for every service it gets, the task of substantially reducing the expenditure for existing services seems too much for any administration, no matter how well-intentioned. The prevailing opinion mentioned above that New York is paying high for its government can be substantiated by apparantly unequivocal facts. From figures collected by the Merchants' Association, it was shown that the thirteen American cities next in rating to New York, possessing double the population and three times the area of the Metropolis, pay less for their municipal government than do the 3,400,000 people living in this city. In 1899 the average tax-levy per capita of those thirteen cities was $14.35; that of New York was $25.86. It cost $852.71 per mile to keep the paved streets of these thirteen other cities in order; it cost $1,911.51 to perform the same work in New York. This city paid in 1899 $471 per lineal mile for the maintenance of its sewers, whereas the average paid by other cities was but $263. The average cost of police protection per officer is $1,516 for this city, as against $1,165 in the other 13 cities. It cost $1,904 per fireman in New York, and $1,332 for each fireman elsewhere. Until such discrepancies as these are explained away, the Record and Guide will continue to believe that the first duty of a reform administration is either in some measure to remove them, or to show cause why it cannot be done.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE publishes herewith some illustrations of the stations erected for the new Metropolitan Railway in Paris; and as this railroad is, like the one now under construction in New York, a subway, these designs can be studied with advantage by the architects of the Subway Co. In the article accompanying the illustrations, it is stated that all designs based upon classic and conventional models were rejected in Paris, because it was believed that the ordinary motives of such designs were not appropriate to structures which simply marked the entrance to an underground tunnel; and whether we like or do not like the designs of M. Guimard, actually adopted, it must be admitted that his stations are much more logical than those, say, of the Boston Subway. The latter for the most part seem to be diminutive editions of the Boston Public Library, and are stiff, wooden and ponderous beyond all propriety. The stations of M. Guimard, on the other hand, are nothing if not lively. One hesitates to accept unreservedly the horticultural models for such architectural work, which the French architect seems to have had in mind; but both the theory and its embodiment have within them more the germs of progress than the imitative application, characteristic of American architects, of modified classic and Renaissance motives to the many new necessities of American architectural work. Yet on the whole, it is a salutary instinct, which has prevented American architects and decorators from making any experiments in the direction of "Art Nouveau." Just because the United States is a new country, and because the imagination of the artists are not schooled from boyhood by the steadying and informing influence of old models—just for that reason it is better for American architects and decorators at the outset to domesticate the older styles—so far as they can be domesticated under the conditions of a new and industrial society. One shudders to think of the wild and frantic designs, which would inevitably stare at us from the public places of this country in case American practice gave any countenance to the experiments of the "new art" of Europe. Even the European expression of the new movement, particularly in architecture, cannot commend themselves to a trained aesthetic judgment; and American architects and decorators may well make their adoption of the new style abide the results of the somewhat wild and often crude experimentation now under way.

Existing Tenements—Board of Examiners.

A large delegation from the United Real Estate Owners' Association waited upon Mayor Low, on Monday, to enlist his cooperation in securing the amendment of section 79 of the Tenement House Act, which applies to the light and ventilation of interior rooms in tenement houses existing prior to the passage of the act, and to section 100, which requires the removal of school sinks. It was pointed out that there were over 9,000 houses in Manhattan to which these sections applied, and their enforcement would entail a heavy expense and much hardship upon the owners. There were about 80 members of the delegation, and the chief speakers were Adolph Bloch, Geo. B. Christman and ex-Sheriff Tamsen. A copy of a brief prepared by the association and forwarded to Gov. Odell and the chairmen of the committees of the Legislature having the Tenement House Commission's amendment bill under consideration was handed to Mayor Low, who said he would give the matter careful consideration.

The delegation also asked the Mayor to approve the bill giving the association and the Builders' League representation upon the Board of Examiners, and clarifying the situation as to the qualifications of the matter upon which appeal may be had to the Board. Mayor Low expressed himself as opposed to increasing the membership of the board, and created the impression that he had in mind the possibility of the constitution of its being changed altogether at some future time. Wm. J. Fryer, who was present, pointed out the necessity for removing the ambiguities in the wording of the section of the Charter relating to appeals to the Board of Examiners, and this point the Mayor promised to consider.

The Dinner of the Real Estate Board of Brokers.

On last Saturday evening the Real Estate Board of Brokers sat down to dinner at the Savoy Hotel, at eight o'clock, and after eating a good dinner and listening to some dozen speeches, they rose about one o'clock in the morning. The new President of the Board, Mr. Francis E. Ward, presided at the guest table, and introduced the various speakers in words that were both brief and appropriate. In asking the guests to be seated, he said: "Guests and fellow members of the Board of Real Estate Brokers, welcome to this, our sixth annual eating and drinking meeting. May those of the Board at the board not be bored; may good digestion wait upon appetite, and in the good old words of the middleman—Gentlemen, be seated." Seated at the guest-table, on either side of Mr. Ward, were Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, Corporation Counsel George L. Rives, President of the Board of Aldermen Chas. V. Fornes, Tax Commissioner James L. Wells, Assemblymen Julius H. Seymour and William S. Bennett, John F. Doyle, John P. Leo, representing the Builders' League; Edgar J. Levey, President of the Title Insurance Company, Lawson Purdy, and Chas. J. Maas. Among the diners may be mentioned the following gentlemen, who are well known in the real estate and building world: A. W. McLaughlin, Henry C. Irons, J. S. de Selding, H. de Selding, Henry R. Steele, J. E. Leaycraft, Joseph P. Day, James J. Phelan, Wm. W. Hall, Dudley C. Hainer, Christopher C. Day, James E. O'Hara, C. W. Gaylor, Dr. Jas. A. Shears, Garrett Nagle, Fred'k D. Kelley, Eversley Childs, E. P. Holdridge, Chas. H. Easton, F. R. Houghton, W. H. Whiting, John H. Dye, Thomas C. Smith, Chas. E. Schuyler, S. McMillan, Jeremiah C. Lyons, Donald Mitchell, Thomas P. Graham, Dr. John S. White, Wright Barclay, W. Willis Reese, A. V. Amy, L. V. O. Donohue, Chas. S. Kohler, John F. Kohler, R. B. McCotter, Alfred Doyle, John F. Doyle, Jr., A. B. Westervelt, Bryan L. Kennelly, J. C. R. Eckerson, John P. Kirwan, Arthur S. Cox, Walter Stabler, John J. Kavanagh, M. Morgenthau, M. Morgenthau, Jr., G. L. Morgenthau, S. H. Stone, Dudley S. Harde, C. W. Eckardt, Alvan W. Perry, D. H. Scully, H. A. B. Kelly, J. Clarence Davies, Benj. Mordecai, Thos. G. Reynolds, Elisha Sniffin, Edward L. King, Henry L. Felt, Edward J. Carr.

The speaking began about 10 o'clock, and the first speaker, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, whose subject was the Greater New York. He discussed briefly the gradual consolidation of the greater city, and its relation to the State government at Albany. He was followed by Corporation Counsel George L. Rives, who after some remarks about the disadvantages of holding public office, went on to discuss the questions of condemnation proceedings and the debt limit. He said: "I have felt since entering office that if there was but one reform I could effect it would be here; but in doing so found that I had got to deal not only with rooted abuses, but with the general impression by everybody that these proceedings were necessarily tedious and long drawn out. Within the last week I had occasion to notice a case which will give you some idea of the existing conditions. It was in relation to the opening of a small park in the Bronx. Ten and a-half lots were involved, on which were four buildings, some of them belonging to a neighboring factory. The papers show that the matter was brought before the duly appointed commission, who thereupon announced that after going into executive session the matter would be adjudicated. How many times do you suppose that commission sat? Just seventy-eight. Now, to say the least, that seemed rather unnecessary. I mean to do all I can to shorten such proceedings. The Judges of the City Court can do a great deal to help me, and I shall certainly appeal to them. I hope likewise to have the support of the real estate men. The other question of which I wish to speak is a very serious one indeed—the city debt limit. At present the city is within seven or eight million dollars of the limit fixed by the constitution. Beside being bonded for between thirty and forty millions for improvements, such as parks, which, though necessary, are practically unproductive, the City of New York has invested $47,000,000 for docks now worth double that amount and paying 5 per cent. on the original cost. There can be no better, safer or sounder investment found. The city also has invested $30,000,000 in its water supply, which pays a handsome return, and has now agreed to borrow $36,500,000, which will bring in 4½ per cent. Yet all these paying investments must be counted against the municipality. With corporations and individuals, more assets mean an increase in borrowing capacity. With the city we have seen the rule is reversed. If we are going on with the vast improvements which have been inaugurated and are so urgently needed, we will have to have an amendment to the Constitution. In fact, an amendment is needed to enable us to compete with other business interests. There is the rapid transit, which must grow, for instance. It has got to grow, and its growing means a vast increase in values to the city at large. The time has come when the people have got to take an interest in this matter and see that the city is not hampered in the matter of its investments. No class of men is so interested in the matter of public improvement as you real estate men. No class is more affected by good or bad government than you, and in these matters the men who have been elected by the people look to you for support in carrying on the important work intrusted to them."

The next speaker was President Charles V. Fornes, of the Board of Aldermen, who told of the great bulk of municipal improvements now pending, and who eulogized the importance of the real estate broker in the building up of the city. He was followed by Mr. Edgar J. Levey, who, after some humorous remarks about the way in which the brokers had welcomed him into the real estate fraternity, ended up with an earnest plea for municipal economy in the following words: "We have yet to see, in fact, in our city elections, a clean-cut fight on municipal issues. Under existing conditions it is impossible, for instance, to conduct a campaign on a question of taxation involving the immense sum of $130,000,000 to $140,000,000 a year, over the moral fitness of the police force, over the excise and tenement house legislation. If anything in these lines is doing, it is at Albany, and if anything or anybody is done, we are generally it. How about a $100,000,000 budget, more than four-fifths of which has been placed beyond the control of the local authorities? This is a subject which the people might well investigate. It must, of course, be said, 'Does not the city have the annual disposal of from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 for bond sales?' Not even that, I answer. For such power is only on the surface, because every local administration spends about $100,000,000 in carrying to fruition and completion the work planned by its predecessors. Take the situation which confronts us to-day. The sum of $85,000,000 must be spent by the present administration for work planned and authorized before it came into existence. In fact, the problem which now confronts the city authorities is rather how to put the brakes on the train on a down grade to keep it from jumping the track, rather than to put on speed for a new record. Gentlemen, some day or other, this question of the city budget will arise. The day is coming when much more radical measures than are now contemplated for the curtailment of extravagant expenditure will have to be considered. At such time I hope to see the members of the Real Estate Board take the foremost part in the struggle."

The State government claimed the attention of the diners during the next two hours in the persons of two Assemblymen from this city, Mr. Julius H. Seymour and Mr. William S. Bennett. They described the present situation of important bills at Albany, and the prospects for the passage of such measures as the amendments to the tenement house law and the mortgage tax bill. Mr. Bennett also laid particular stress upon the work already accomplished for the good of the city by the present Legislature. Mr. John P. Leo followed with a vigorous assault upon the amendments to the Tenement House Law, and the serious speeches of the evening were closed by Mr. Lawson Purdy, Secretary of the New York Tax Reform Association, who explained why he favored the Stranahan Mortgage Tax Bill of the present year, and who protested against the proposed corporation tax bill in the following words: "No one can possibly foresee the effect of this sweeping change. From the standpoint of those who propose the measure, the utmost benefit to be derived is a little additional revenue to the State, of no particular importance to this city, while it may easily mean the loss of millions of dollars of rentals now paid here. The argument that certain measures will drive capital from the State is often abused, and it would not appeal to me at all if the principles of the measure seemed to be sound, but when a measure is totally lacking in principle it is a fair argument to use. This corporation tax bill does not appear to be governed by any principle whatever other than to get all you can and get it for the State. It violates the principles of comity between the States; it attempts to tax property which has no situs here; it imposes arbitrary rates twenty times heavier on a small capital than on a large hapital; if 20 per cent. of the property is in this State it taxes that property only, and if 19 per cent. of the property is here it taxes the entire capital, no matter where it is. There seems to be a feeling in some quarters that because the assets of a corporation can be easily ascertained it is a fit subject for more severe taxation than the same property owned by a firm. Now, if the corporations are in themselves bad things, we ought not to create them. If, on the other hand, they are what I believe them to be, and what I think you will all agree with me that they are, most valuable modern inventions enabling men to combine their capital for a common work, without the danger of unlimited personal liability for business transactions which they themselves cannot control, and without the danger of the disruption of the business by the death of one of the partners, then there is no reason in equity for imposing any heavier burden upon business done by a corporation, or upon capital owned by a corporation, than if the same business were done or the same capital were owned by an individual or a partnership." The last speaker of the evening was Mr. Charles J. Mass, who closed the speeches with some witty remarks about the professional habits of real estate brokers.

In the Peoples Interest.

If the Commissioner of Manhattan's Building Department, in calling a meeting on Thursday last, of experts in various branches of building construction, has started a movement which will eventually become a power—determining with disinterested motives what is fireproof and what is not—he has done well. There are few things more important in the economy of the world to-day than the building of homes wherein we may repose in security, having no fear of being smothered by smoke or burned alive.

Insurance interests appear to be abundantly represented, if not adequately, but judging by the increased fire losses which have necessitated the recent advance in rates, we think even these interests might be more efficiently represented.

The most potent factor in building construction unquestionably is the preservation of human lives from the dangers of burning buildings. This is paramount to every other interest, and if Commissioner Stewart has started a grand movement which will protect those interests, he has placed himself on record as one of the best Building Commissioners the city has seen.

The gentlemen called to the meeting included college presidents, chemists, engineers, metallurgists, architects, builders and insurance experts. The object of the meeting was declared to be to establish a test which shall decide whether a substance is fireproof. At present this relates to fireproof wood, but we sincerely hope that a "standard of test" of the highest authority on every detail of "fireproof" construction will be the ultimate result of this primary meeting and the desire of the Commissioner.

We shall devote considerable space to the discussions of the meeting in our next issue.

Comptroller Grout's New Tax Payment Plan.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The chimercial tax scheme of Mr. Grout's will not become a law if the taxpayers give this measure a careful consideration. Some justification for this tax bill might be found if there were an actual saving to the city, and to the taxpayers, considered conjointly, as the city and the taxpayers are one, and a saving to the former reverts to the taxpayers. But what costs the taxpayers more than what is saved to the city, can on no mathematical reasoning be figured out as profitable. No financier can disburse two dollars and receive one dollar and make the process profitable. The individual who can swap $10 from one of his pockets into the other, and make money in the transaction was never credited with the ability to do so while dropping a goodly portion to the ground. For Mr. Grout is reserved this distinction.

The gross amount of taxes to be raised, about $90,000,000, represents the amount that Mr. Grout will transfer from Oct. 1st to Feb. 1st, an enght months' earlier period. This means whether permissibly in 1903, or compulsory in a few years later, that $90,000,000 must be raised eight months' earlier by the taxpayers, entailing upon them at this earlier period all the obligations that now exist at the later period. Mortgagees whose customary requirement that the taxes in any year must be paid within a required time, will transfer this requirement to an eight months' earlier period. If the raising of this $90,000,000 for the taxpayers to meet this demand at the eight manths' earlier date were devolved upon Mr. Grout, and upon him were the necessity laid to procure it on the security which each taxpayer could furnish, Mr. Grout would have, perhaps, the chance of his life for a niche in the Hall of Fame, such would be the financial ability necessary to achieve this result. Upon the already over-burdened taxpayers, however, will be left this task, and the distribution upon so many shoulders its justification.

Mr. Grout very attractively clothes the sophistry of his tax scheme by references to the interest now paid for money borrowed by the city, and the consequent loss to the city of such amount of interest; the profit that would accrue to the city because of the average monthly balance in bank from the advance payments on which the city would realize 2% interest; also the total of these two amounts which makes a handsome gross saving to the city of about $1,500,000, all of which to be returned to the taxpayers by reducing the annual tax levy by this amount. It is a very pretty statement, and has easily captivated and secured a number of advocates.

If Mr. Grout's tax scheme is accorded the maximum amount of so-called profit, figured on the basis he outlines, we have the following result:

Interest now paid on borrowed money at about 3%..	$1,100,000
And assuming that the entire tax levy of $90,000,000 were paid in advance on Feb. 1st, and that on this amount no rebate to the taxpayers were allowed, and that during twelve months of the year an average balance would be in bank of $45,000,000 at 2% interest, showing a total interest return of..	900,000
Or a total profit to the city of.....	$2,000,000
Against this profit to the city would, however, be arrayed the loss to the taxpayers on the $90,000,000 which they would be obliged to borrow for a period of eight months, $90,000,000 at 5% for eight months.	$3,000,000

There is thus set over against the maximum gain to the city this maximum loss to the taxpayers, and which evidences the fallacy of Mr. Grout's tax scheme, being a benefit to the taxpayers. If the maximum gain is deducted from this maximum loss the difference or actual loss to the taxpayers is shown to be	2,000,000 $1,000,000
And this at the time when Mr. Grout's scheme is working at its best. This loss in each year is a constant one, increasing or diminishing only as the annual tax budget is increased or diminished.
But to show that the suggested 3% rebate influences advantageously the city very little, I will again take the interest now paid by the city on borrowed money at about 3%	$1,000,000
The $45,000,000 average balance in bank from maximum advance payments on which the city receives 2% interest during twelve months of year	900,000
Total profit to the city	$2,000,000
Less the 3% discount to taxpayers on the $90,000,000 for the period of six months, from Feb. 1st to Aug. 1st	$1,350,000
A net profit to the city of	650,000
Now take the taxpayers under the rebate feature—$90,000,000, at 5% interest, is borrowed to make this eight months' advance payment, $90,000,000 at 5% for eight months	$3,000,000
Less the amount received from the city in rebates	1,350,000
Showing a net loss to taxpayers of	$1,650,000

The reduction of Mr. Grout's tax scheme, when carried to its maximum limit with the rebate feature, shows the city's possible profits reduced to $650,000, and the taxpayers losing the enormous amount of $1,650,000 to make it possible that the city receive this $650,000 profit, a loss of two and one-half times the profit. A tax scheme that requires the taxpayers when receiving the greatest possible rebate from the city, to lose two and one-half dollars for each one dollar of profit to the city, could hardly have been better devised by one inimical to the interest of the taxpayers.

R. V. E. LODGE.

March 18, 1902.

The arithmetical demonstration given in the above letter was shown to Comptroller Grout, and he made the following statement in regard to it:

The trouble here is in errors of fact, both as to present conditions and proposed changes, which upset every computation and comparison presented. When the city borrows from January 1st to October 1st to pay its running expenses and its State taxes, it does so on promissory notes called revenue bonds, which are redeemable at dates fixed between October 1st and December 31st, and on this short-time paper it is almost always obliged to pay 3½%, often 4%, and sometimes 4½ or 5%. The first error is in assuming 3% as the rate paid.

On bank balances at present the city gets very low interest, 2%. But this is because the city is a borrower at the banks, and because its balances fluctuate and are withdrawable without notice. When we cease to be a bank borrower, and have larger balances which can be maintained for fixed times, we will be able to command as good a rate of interest as private individuals. We can deposit where we can get the best rates, and will probably get much better than 2%. This shows error number two. The tax levy, also, is not $90,000,000, but nearly $100,000,000, with a constand tendency to grow bigger.

The critical error, however, is in the assumption that taxpayers must, because of the change, borrow $90,000,000 at 5% for eight months. Why should any one suppose that taxpayers as a rule are able to make their payments only by borrowing the money? Doubtless some do so, but how small is the number as against those who draw the money from a savings bank or trust company, where it was earning not more than 3%, or from a bank of deposit where it was earning nothing, or who take it from current income to pay taxes and save interest, postponing the paying of ordinary bills which do not carry interest? No more false assumption could be made than this one, that an earlier date of payment of taxes will cost the taxpayers as a whole, or even any substantial part of them, 5% for the period advanced.

Let me call to mind here that in Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond, in 1898, there was no tax levied at all, so that in these boroughs there can less fairly be any criticism of this proposed change than in Manhattan and the Bronx, and that the suggestion of this change in these boroughs is not mine, but goes back to Mayor Grant and Comptroller Myers in 1892 and 1893. In other words, the evil is long-standing, and was long ago detected.

One word further. The bill makes its lightest changes for the years 1903, 1904 and 1905. First, it makes the tax a lien for these years the first Monday of February, instead of the first Monday of October, but it also makes taxes apportionable between buyer and seller the same as interest and rents now are, unless the parties otherwise provide. This latter provision seems to be generally acceptable to real estate interests, and meets every objection which can be urged against the mere fact that the tax is made an earlier lien. But nobody is compelled to pay the taxes of 1903, 1904 and 1905, on February 1st. If he chooses to do so, if his money is lying idle, or is earning less than 3%, he can pay any time up to August 1st, and get rebate at the rate of 3%. Payment during these months will be voluntary, but probably enough will choose to pay to provide the city with the funds necessary to run its affairs at 3%, instead of having to skirmish around as it does now and pay 3½ to 5%, according to the money market. During August and September the tax will be payable without penalty or rebate, and the penalty during these three years will begin on October 1st, instead of December 1st. Thus the only substantial change for three years to come which need cost anything of moment to taxpayers is the two months of penalty in October and November. That is, on one side the taxpayer has the opportunity to get a rebate for six months at the rate of 3%, as against a penalty imposed for two months at the rate of 7%; which is as 1½ is to 1 16-100. And the city will be able to stop borrowing on revenue bonds and save whatever it now has to pay in excess of 3%. I see no hardship nor loss in this plan for the next three years. Now, and this is the point I wish to make, we shall have three years for the trial of this part of the plan, for its discussion and for consideration of whether or not we will go further with it in the years after 1905, as the bill outlines. If the taxpayers wish to stop with this much of a change, the legislature can at any time before 1906 further amend the law, and leave the city permanently where this bill puts it for these three years. And still the city will have gained tremendously by getting out of the money market, and getting on a business basis, and no harm will have been done to the taxpayers. I shall still hope that the whole plan will eventually be carried out as proposed in the bill. The complete plan has been very fully and repeatedly detailed in the press since January 1st; it has been commended editorially by a number of papers, including the Real Estate Record and Guide, which, better than any other journal, represents the taxpaying population; it is now, I believe, on its final passage in the Senate, and up to this date has been entirely unopposed. I should suppose from this that it is favored generally by the taxpayers. I have no wish to urge the change if the taxpayers are against it, for their interests are the city's in this respect, as they should be in all, and they will, I believe, profit both by the rebate during the next three years, and by the reduction of taxes thereafter. If the change were made abruptly in a single year there might be temporary hardship, but here we take seven years during which taxpayers may adjust themselves to a change of eight months, and by the change reduce the tax levy by $2,000,000 or thereabout.

In Support of the Wilson Bill.

The following petition has been forwarded to Albany. The object of the bill to which it refers is not to deprive the material-man of his lien, but to secure evidence on the records of the existence of the lien which searchers on behalf of buyers of real estate and loaners of money on mortgage can discover, as they can discover the existence of other claims against the property it is proposed to buy or mortgage. Besides the signers of the petition, the bill has the approval of many others interested in realty. The general opinion is, as the petition states, "its provisions are fair to all interests."

New York, Jan. 20, 1902.

Hon. James T. Rogers, Chairman Judiciary Committee of the Assembly, Albany, N. Y.

We respectfully urge the passage of Assembly Bill No. 85, known as the Wilson Bill, amending the lien law.

This bill is necessary to protect purchasers of and lenders on real estate, and its provisions are fair to all interests.

Ideal Safety Construction

In the face of such tragedies as that which recently happened at the Park Avenue Hotel, where human beings were penned up like rats in a trap and burned to death, we are overwhelmed with sorrow. It is but natural to feel that swift retribution should be meted out where criminal negligence is proved to have caused precious lives to be lost. We believe, with Fire Chief Croker, that in many instances lives might have been saved had there been fire escapes. He knows. Experience has taught him that substantial fire escapes which are kept in order, enable the occupants of houses or hotels to escape in many instances. There are instances on record, however, when the ordinary unsightly fire escapes of iron which irritate the soul of the true architect when they destroy the external beauty of well-designed structures, when even these become red hot and useless. Official investigations in the tenement house districts have been made of the fire escapes and their use in saving life. In very many instances, we read in the report, these alleged fire escapes were used for storage purposes by the household on every floor. Mattresses, food and lumber of every kind were found, so that instead of aiding in escaping from the burning tenement, they not only blocked their way, but added considerable fuel to the flames. Small wonder that lives are often lost in fires in tenement districts if this state of things continues.

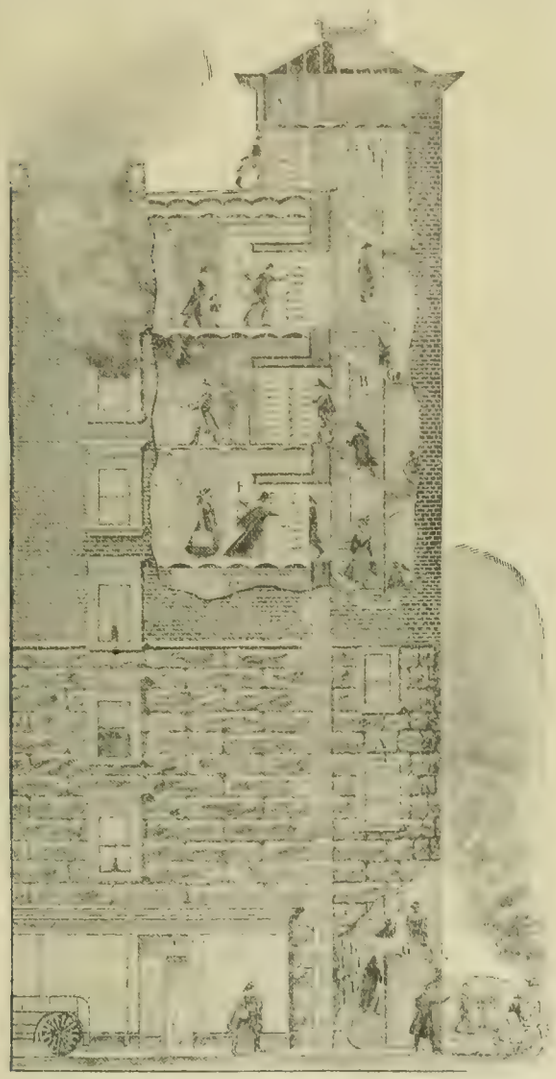

FIG. 1. REVOLVING FIRE DOOR AND TOWER ESCAPE.

The unsightly hempen rope, which is called a fire escape, seems something of a mute mockery of the name. The hotel proprietors who cannot boast of "fireproof" buildings exempt from the precaution of fire escapes, comply with the law and place the rope in the bedchamber. It is only an athlete, however, who can escape by it, and then only before the flames are issuing from the windows beneath him. The burning of the Windsor Hotel, still fresh in the memory, yielded a record of lives lost through the burning of hemp fire escapes. There are many instances where this treacherous "escape" has been severed by flames and dropped the victim to the pavement below. Wire rope is advocated as a substitute, but we should like to know who can slide down a wire rope, whether hot or cold, unless they are athletes. Besides, even this rope is sure to become hot in some places when most needed. It is unworthy consideration for the use of women and children or invalids.

The wire rope in the form of a step ladder is much of an improvement on the single rope as a "fire escape," yet even that appears to us to be crude and by no means in harmony with twentieth century building construction. This is an age which aims at high achievement, and we venture to say that any "fire escape" which is not easily accessible or extremely convenient and entirely without danger in times of excitement, is by no means a high achievement in the way of invention or in harmony with architectural development. We have carefully examined into the claims of alleged fire escapes which have been invented and placed before the public during the past ten years to date, and we find but one which affords absolute protection at all times—permitting escape at any hour of the day or night, not only without inconvenience, but in perfect security at the moment the alarm is given or the warning smoke detected.

The former fire chief of New York once informed the writer that no system of fire escapes he had ever seen could approach that known as the revolving door and spiral stairway system. Our investigation of this fire escape and protection leads us to think that it is a subject well worthy the attention of architects and builders.

The Ideal Fire Safety System is by no means a serious item of additional cost when duly considered and incorporated in the original designs of the building, and even in buildings already constructed a modification of the system can readily be adopted in harmony with the general plan. The protection afforded by the revolving fire-retarding doors alone is sufficient to outweigh all objection to the additional cost, but in conjunction with the means of egress for the occupant in case of fire and the speed with which it permits the firemen to reach every floor without scaling ladders or water towers and other features of the fire department, it might be hailed as an improvement in building which is absolutely necessary.

This safety system is a fire department within itself, which a brief description of the accompanying illustrations will fully demonstrate. Here we have a tower (see Fig. 1) built of stone or brick as the architect may design to accord with the general construction. From basement to roof of this tower is a spiral stairway of iron, or other fire-resisting material decided upon by the architect, which winds around a centre column from floor to roof, but with a doorway opening to each floor. The system includes fire-resisting revolving doors at each of these openings. Inside the tower is a wrought-iron pipe, B, which extends to a large water tank at the top of the tower. At the basement, this pipe is attached to the street main, being provided with a check valve, D, and stop-cock, E. Connected with the standpipe are several hose couplings, to which the hose of fire engines may be coupled. These attachments are at the level of the street as nearly as may be found requisite. The hose reels are depicted on each floor, with sections attached. This arrangement, the inventor claims, has the following advantages: "The pressure and volume of water in tank, C, is made available on any floor before the arrival of the fire engines and used as long as the supply lasts. Even after it gives out the water from the street main will automatically open the lower check-valve, which opens upward and supplies any floor that its pressure will reach. On arrival of firemen it is not necessary to drag their hose up ladders, but they couple direct to the standpipe at the street level, and on pumping, the check-valve, D, closes, the water climbs to the top of the pipe, where another check-valve, D^1, opening downward, prevents the water passing into the tank, thus keeping the full pressure of the engine on the stand-pipe."

The element of danger from suffocation by smoke cannot be too well emphasized when it is known that persons enveloped in it seldom live more than three or four minutes. Under ordinary conditions, they lose their way and become bewildered. The revolving fire-door changes all this. Not only does it with certainty prevent the spread of smoke, and show the way of escape, but its beautiful simplicity and accessibility at all times being understood, make blundering impossible in the time of danger.

The ordinary revolving door which takes the place of storm doors in all up-to-date buildings is already well known, but the revolving fire door is not. It is, however, the same in form and construction, the one distinction being that it is built of fire-retarding materials. It is a fact that the revolving door is always closed yet ever open. However paradoxical this may sound it is absolutely true, and while the terror-stricken inmates might be rushing to the stairway of escape, the flames could not follow them. The advantage of this alone is inestimable, but there are other advantages of equal importance. There could be no dangerous crowding in passing through this door, and firemen could pass within as the excited people pass without. It must not be imagined that these doors obstruct the light in any way. The advent of wire glass as a first-class fire retardant overcomes all difficulties in this way. Panels of whatever design the architect may decide upon may be firmly held in steel frames in each door. There can be no obstruction to the light from without, and fleeing inmates may see where the means of escape are, while the firemen locate the fire instanter.

Air passing upward along elevator shafts has been found not only to materially aid in spreading flames, but as the real cause of the total destruction of some modern buildings. This fact has given rise to many restrictions and demands from Fire Underwriters and Building Departments; yet, notwithstanding all the precautions taken, the elevator shaft has ever been a source of danger where it is in the interior of the building. The air passes upward, from basement to roof, spreading along the halls at every floor. But every up-to-date architect and builder knows about this source of danger, and our suggestion of a remedy in revolving fire-doors cannot fail to attract his attention.

These fire-resisting revolving doors, erected at the entrance to each hallway in front of the elevator, would prevent the draught of air to the elevator shaft (see Fig. 3), and at the same time protect the elevator as a means of rapid exit in case of fire and at all times. One great advantage of this in a hotel, over all others, is, that guests become familiar with the channel of escape. In fact, the visitor has scarcely had time to register ere he has occasion to pass through one or more of the revolving fire-doors, providing the hotel is equipped with either the complete Ideal Safety System or its modification. In the moment of peril he has not yet to learn the use of any fire escape. He has simply to pass out through the same door he has used from day to day, and descend to terra-firma in comfort by the elevator or the spiral stairway. This addition to buildings already existing might be made with great advantage, and, all things considered, great economy. The tower is not always necessary and a less costly arrangement can be adopted while still retaining the meritorious features of the safety system. The hotel which can offer such protection would not lack appreciative patrons. For buildings, residential or otherwise, we consider that the Ideal Safety System of Fire Revolving Doors should attract the serious attention of those who would build or remodel hotels for the safety and mental, as well as physical, comfort of their guests.

In the Legislature.

INSTALMENT PAYMENT OF BRONX ASSESSMENT—THE PATENT FIRE ESCAPE—MANUFACTURING LICENSES FOR TENEMENT HOUSES.

Senator Slater's employers' liability bill passed the Senate on Tuesday, as did also Senator Raines' bill, devised to throw upon police, health and building departments the duty of making more rigid inspections of Raines' law hotels, with the object of suppressing the most objectionable of these places. The Stranahan Mortgage Tax bill was brought out for execution in the Senate on Thursday, and was duly dispatched by a small adverse majority.

The Brooklyn Chapter of the American Institute of Architects have caused a bill (Intro. No. 1265) to be introduced into the Assembly, through Mr. Woody, to secure them a representation on the Board of Examiners. In connection with this, the report of Mayor Low's reception of a deputation from the United Real Estate Owners' Association, given in another column, should be read.

It is interesting to note that New York City's partner in the Tenement House Act, Buffalo, is applying to the Legislature for relief from that measure, through Senate bill (Intro. No. 382), providing that the act in question shall not be deemed to have applied to Buffalo before January 1, 1902.

Mr. Keenan introduced a bill into the Assembly (Intro. No. 1137), which was subsequently passed by that chamber, to amend the Charter of the City of New York relative to assessments for local improvements in the Bronx, Queens and Richmond, by providing that such assessments shall be payable in ten annual instalments, each annual assessment to be a lien on the property only from the date of levy; further, that owners shall have the option of paying any or all instalments due and receive a rebate at the legal rate of interest on such as may be paid in advance.

Other interesting measures of recent introduction are:

Mr. Gardiner's, amending section 18 of the labor law by requiring that windows in buildings now or hereafter built more than four stories in height, must be so constructed that the exterior sides may be cleaned from the interior of the building, or every floor above the second story must be provided with a suitable and safe platform or staging on the outside, extending the whole width of each window, and be not less than 16 ins. in width; also, with a suitable guard rail, securely fastened on the outside, and extending across each window and outward as far as the outer edge of such platform or staging, and not less than 34 ins. above the top of the platform or staging.

Mr. Grady's (Assembly Introductory No. 1218), to authorize the building of a bridge on Westchester av, across the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. Co., the cost to be equally divided between the city and the railroad company.

Mr. Weeke's (Assembly Introductory No. 1217; Senate Introductory No. 814), providing that answers of property-owners in condemnation proceedings must contain a statement of the value of the property to be condemned.

Mr. Barnes' (Senate Intro. No. 774), intended to countercheck the work of the special design fire-escape advocates, and to do away with the requirements of Section 12 of the Tenement House Law in relation to the kind of fire escape to be put upon tenement houses. It reads:

If by any law of the state a building is required to be equipped with a fire escape of a particular character, plan or design described in such law, the equipment of such building with any proper and durable metallic fire escape shall be deemed a compliance with the provisions of such law, and if any such law requires such fire escape to be approved as to its character and sufficiency by any body, board or officer, such body, board or officer may authorize the equipment of such building with any proper and durable metallic fire escapes, sufficient in number, notwithstanding any description in such law of the character, plan or design of fire escape authorized or required on such building.

Among the laws of this year are the following, which became of effect when signed by the Governor:

Under this law such mortgages, besides being filed in alphabetical order under the head of mortgagors and mortgagees, must be entered in a book containing statements of the premises in which the chattels mortgaged are contained, arranged in alphabetical order, under the name of the street or avenue, and with the number of such mortgage or copy and the date of filing thereof. Where no street or avenue is mentioned, a statement of the premises is to be entered under the title "Miscellaneous."

Chapter 84. An act to amend the charter in relation to condemnation proceedings, and providing that no bill of costs for fees of commissioners in condemnation proceedings, unless the same be payable by law from the fund for street and park openings, shall be taxed by the Supreme Court prior to the confirmation of the report.

Gov. Odell vetoed the bill passed this session to require the Collector of Taxes in New York City to give special notice to non-resident taxpayers of the dates for receiving taxes.

W. H. Raser, representing the Hennessey estate, states that the lots located on 118th st, north side, between Park and Madison avs, reported sold in our last issue, have not been sold.

Plans for the grading and paving of Elm st have been prepared by the engineers of the Manhattan Department of Public Works. President Cantor has called a meeting of the local boards concerned for March 27 to consider the plans.

Charles Laue is the buyer of the old United States Hotel property on Fulton st. He gives in part payment the southeast corner of Lexington av and 39th st. Both of these sales were reported in our last issue.

The Hudson, Yorkville and Murray Hill local boards have been called to meet on March 31 to consider a plan to widen 59th st from river to river. John D. Crimmins and a score of other large property owners have signed a petition to President Cantor asking that the street be widened.

Ernest Tribelhorn, co-operative manager of real estate, has moved from the northeast corner of 91st st and Madison av into the Hotel Chastaigneray. The great growth of business incorporation necessitated the change. The business is classified in various thoroughly organized departments, the sales and renting departments being located at the northeast corner of 92d st and Madison av; the collection department and repairing department are located at No. 200 West 111th st, and another ready-selling and management office is located at No. 1855 7th av.

Dr. George A. Macdonald is the buyer of No. 803 Madison av, reported sold in our issue of January 4. He recently sold No. 31 East 67th st to Hugh D. Auchincloss for $60,000. He paid $43,000 for it in 1891. No. 805 Madison av was bought by Ottinger Brothers.

D. H. Scully, of 57 East 125th st, reports the early spring opening to be larger than seen in many years. He has increased his office force, and all are working overtime on the many good things his hustling and knowledge of Harlem property brings to the surface. A list of sales recently completed by Mr. Scully appears in our "Gossip."

Apthorp lane, an old thoroughfare between Bloomingdale road and Harlem Commons that ran between what are now known as 93d and 94th sts, is a subject of dispute in a long pending litigation begun by Mary S. Van Winkle and Elizabeth M. Van Winkle, who claim to own part of the lane, against John W. and Mary Holland and others. In the course of the suit a question of adverse possession was decided, under direction of Justice Scott, adversely to plaintiff by a jury last Saturday. The case now goes to Special Term, when the legal effect of certain conveyances will be determined.

The Lenox Lyceum has been secured by the sub-committee of the Armory Board as temporary quarters for the organizations made homeless by the burning of the 71st Regiment Armory on February 22. The terms of rental are $16,000 a year, with the privilege of renewal. This settles, for the present at least, the improvement which John D. Crimmins contemplated for this site.

Patrick Donohue and George Mulligan are the buyers of No. 134 East 71st st, reported sold in our last issue. They already own Nos. 130 and 132, the three houses making a plot 61x100.5, beginning 60 feet west of Lexington av.

Broker's Written Authority.

THE POSITION OF THE BROKER UNDER CHAPTER 128 OF THE LAWS OF 1901.

Complaints are freely made by brokers of the difficulties they experience in working under Chapter 128 of the Laws of 1901, the act which makes it a misdemeanor in cities of the first and second class for any person to offer property for sale or as security for a loan without written authority. One great difficulty is found in the general disinclination of owners to give written authority; another in the terms in which it is often given, as for instance, when endorsed, "withdrawable without notice;" another is the inclination of owners who have verbally authorized the broker to get behind the act to avoid the payment of commissions. A representative of the Record and Guide called on Frank M. Avery, of Phillips & Avery, the well-known attorneys, at his office in the Tribune Building, and asked him what was the position of the broker in several circumstances that might arise under the act. Mr. Avery expressed himself as ready to answer questions, but prefaced the interview by a reminder that individual opinions, are more valuable after the courts have passed upon the points involved than before, and that he was speaking off-hand.

"What is the position of a broker, who, after doing work under a written authority, has it revoked by the owner?" was the first question.

"It seems to me that is not different from what it was at any time. I think if a broker, having written authority, has placed an application for a loan, and the loan is accepted, the owner would not have a right to revoke the written authority, so as to defeat the broker's claim for fees. With regard to a case where the broker is looking for a purchaser for a piece of real estate, the owner has a right to withdraw the property from the broker at any time before the minds of the parties have met on a contract. That is, the broker has to bring a party who is ready, willing and able to buy, and if before that time the owner has sold to some one else, the broker would not be entitled to a commission."

"But take a case where a broker, acting upon a written authority to sell a piece of property for, say, $70,000, and finds one able, ready and willing to purchase, and the then owner revokes the authority?"

"In that case the broker stands a fair chance to get his commission. In all I say I assume the act to be constitutional, but to go into that question would require a good deal of inquiry and study."

"Would the owner have a right to invoke this law to avoid the payment of a commission earned on a verbal agreement?"

"I may say that this act makes it a misdemeanor to offer for sale a piece of property without written authority, and there is a familiar principle of law that, where a statute declares an act to be illegal, which was before a legal act, and provides a penalty for its violation, that penalty is exclusive. Now, this act does not provide that, in addition to being guilty of a misdemeanor, a broker shall lose his commission, or make it, in terms, unlawful to act without written authority, but simply says that the broker shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and the law provides a punishment for the misdemeanor; and as the law does not say a broker shall forfeit the commission, where a transaction has been completed without written authority, it may be well contended that the broker would be entitled to receive his commission. This point was made by Justice Ingraham in a dissenting opinion in the case of Johnston v. Dahlgren. That was a case brought by a firm of plumbers to foreclose a mechanic's lien. The law required that every master plumber should be registered, and have a certificate, and that if he did not it should be unlawful for him to carry on business as a master plumber; and, further, provided that a violation of the act should constitute a misdemeanor. The majority of the Appellate Division in that case held that inasmuch as the statute in express terms provided that it should not be lawful for any person to engage in the business of a master plumber unless his name should have been registered, and as it had been determined in a prior case that the statute was constitutional, the plaintiff could not recover. The judgment in favor of the defendant in that case was afterwards confirmed by the Court of Appeals, and Justice Gray, in his opinion, said that there could be no doubt but that the effect of the violation of the statute was to preclude the plaintiffs from enforcing and recovering upon their contracts, and that as the statute made it unlawful for them to carry on their business, they were disabled from compelling payment for work performed by them in violation of the statute.

"In regard to the broker's authority, the law does not in terms make it an unlawful act to offer a piece of property for sale without written authority, but it does say that such an act is a misdemeanor. This would at first seem to be a distinction without a difference. The question is a close one, and cannot be answered until after adjudication by the courts, but the chances are against the broker's recovering a commission where he has acted without written authority, and where a contract of sale has not been actually entered into, although he may have procured a purchaser.

"The law makes it a misdemeanor for an individual to conduct business under a firm name which includes the words 'and Co.,' where there is no partner. It is, therefore, unlawful for a man to so conduct his business, and yet in a case where goods were sold by a man conducting business in that manner, and an action to recover payment was defended on the ground that he could not recover because he was conducting business contrary to law, the courts held that he could recover, and that the object of the act was not to prevent people who sold goods from recovering payment therefor, but was to prevent individuals from obtaining credit upon the strength of a supposed partnership. This is an instance, then, where a man conducting business contrary to the provisions of a statute making it a misdemeanor to carry on business in such a way was assisted by the courts in enforcing his contract."

"The intent of the act was to prevent irresponsible brokers, without any authority whatever, from making unauthorized applications for loans which would embarrass the owner of the property when he came to make his own application. It was certainly not the intent of the act to prevent a duly authorized broker, although his authority might not be in writing, from collecting his commission in a case where the owner has availed himself of the broker's services, and has ratified them by actually entering into a contract of sale, or into a contract for a loan. The courts, in determining questions of this kind, look very closely into the intent of the Legislature. The Court of Appeals, in declaring the act in reference to registration of master plumbers to be constitutional, stated that it was upon the border line. In a case, therefore, where a broker has actually effected a sale, which has been acted upon by the owner, there is fair reason for believing that a court would hold the broker entitled to his commission, even though he acted without written authority.

George F. Biggart sold for Edwin B. Stanton to John Auer, the builder, the brick factory buildings on the west side of Smith st, between 3d and 4th places. Aggregate dimensions, 266x75.

Charles H. Easton & Co. have sold for John A. Johnson a plot 160x100 on the south side of 7th st, between 2d and 3d avs.

Burrill Bros. have sold for Peter J. Collins to Charles Spellman No. 196 8th av, corner of 1st st, a 4-sty building, on lot 20x100.

Among the bills that have become laws is one, Chapter 113, reducing the assessment for opening Prospect av, in Flatbush, to one-third of the cost; further, that such assessment be paid in full within six months from the passage of the act, or, if owners so elect, in annual installments during the period of ten years and six months, subject to interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum. The Comptroller is authorized to repay, with interest, any assessment paid on this improvement above the amount to which it is now reduced.

The World of Building

Material Market.

There is scarcely any branch of the material market in which the consumers are not getting the benefit of prevailing low prices. While slight advances are reported in several directions, it is quite evident that with the exception of iron and steel, supplies are fairly adequate to the demand, and advances may not be serious until building construction is at its busiest point. The fringe of a cold blast from Minnesota or Illinois has retarded progress for a few days this week. There is good evidence at the moment that building in every direction will soon be making rapid progress, and that dealers and producers will have their hands full in keeping pace with the demand.

IRON AND STEEL.

The demand for pig iron is said to be quieter in New York, while there is considerable demand in Pittsburg. Prices have advanced for No. 1 X Northern standard, 50 cents; No. 2 Northern standard, 50 cents; and Grey Forge Northern, 50 cents. It is well understood, however, to the trade, that very large premiums are being paid for quick deliveries. Some consumers, it is believed, have bought sufficient supplies to run into next year or to sell. An instance is reported where 2,000 tons was contracted for delivery during the second half. The purchaser later asked to be released from his contract because he only required 300 tons.

The annual meeting of the members of the New York Metal Exchange was held on Wednesday afternoon last, and the reports read. The election of officers will take place next Monday.

The "Cologne Gazette" quotes Chas. M. Schwab regarding future foreign trade in steel with the U. S. Steel Trust, as follows: "Lean years may follow when the Steel Trust will dispose of its surplus output in England. France, Austria and Germany will protect themselves by tariffs. The trust will then, however, get hold of the great export trade, which has hitherto been in the hands of Germany, to East Asia and Russia, unless a special treaty is concluded by Germany and Russia." Mr. Schwab also said that J. Pierpont Morgan's purchase of steamships were in connection with these plans.

The American Bridge Co.'s offices at Pittsburg will be moved from the Empire to the Frick Building, April 1st, and the American Sheet Steel Co. will remain in the Vandergraft Building, and not move, as has been expected.

HARDWARE.

The Wholesale Hardware Jobbers have been holding a series of meetings at the Waldorf-Astoria this week. They seem to be confident of the ultimate culmination of the combine, although none of the representatives would permit their names to be mentioned in conjunction with his opinion.

That the combine will be far-reaching there can be no doubt should it culminate, but the general effect on the trade is merely conjectural. Developments, anyhow, depend altogether upon the combination of the manufacturers.

Nut and bolt-makers have agreed to advance prices about five per cent. on all varieties of bolts, and 1-10c. to 2-10c. on nuts. Although the Nut and Bolt Makers' Association held a special session this week at the Waldorf-Astoria, they are not in the hardware combine.

ZINC AND LEAD.

The output during the week ending March 15 exceeded that of the corresponding week a year ago by seven carloads of zinc ore, while the lead ore production was nineteen carloads less, as the following figures for the week show:

	Zinc	Lead.	Value.
Since Jan. 1	$12,131,369	$13,173,910	$1,801,715
Corresponding week, 1901	10,680,610	2,600,960	147,089
Week ending Mar. 15, 1902	10,939,100	1,255,400	147,138
Zinc value			147,820
Lead value			27,600
Zinc value since Jan. 1			1,518,460
Lead value since Jan. 1			203,255

The promised advances on lead have not yet been realized, notwithstanding the increasing demand. The present buyers are nearly all local, and there can be little doubt that speculation, in view of an expected rise of prices, is a considerable factor in the demand.

Zinc is reported to have advanced 50c. per ton at Joplin, with strong demand and a good output.

BRICK.

The Brick Manufacturers' Association, which has its chambers for the transaction of business in West 42d st, New York City, numbers one hundred and fifty members—all manufacturers of this necessary building material.

This association is so organized that there can be no clashing. No cutting of prices without general consent. No stepping out of the allotted bounds of territory for business. The members need not worry about the solvency of a purchaser of their product, either. The association guarantees all transactions.

It is not unnatural that manufacturers who have their business arranged to such a fine point should take life easy and pleasantly without giving heed to the encroachments of other product in building construction—steel, for instance.

The brickmakers, we are told by Mr. W. K. Hammond, are paying more attention to the quality of their product than they have ever done before. Even brick can be improved, and they are aware of the fact.

There is no advance in the price of brick at present, and none talked of, not even though the enormous demand for the spring building trade is rapidly making itself manifest. Navigation is open on the Hudson as far as Rondout now, and several barge loads of brick are reported to have arrived in New York this week. Manufacturers wish it to be widely known that there will be no lack of supplies.

Mr. Ramsdell was appointed chairman of the Committee of Arrangements for the dinner to be given to the officers of the Association. It seems, however, that gentleman desires to shirk the responsibility, and the hard-worked officers may not have the banquet after all.

LIME AND CEMENT.

Lime and cement both show an increasing demand, but without any advance in prices for the present. However, when rude Boreas has finished his final winter blast, and permits the sun to smile, a rush of orders may send prices upward.

A memorial has been addressed to Congress praying that the tariff on lime to Cuba may be reduced.

The lime producers of Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Georgia recently met at Birmingham, Ala., and decided to advance the price of lime twenty-five per cent.

The Alpha Cement Co. has been awarded the contract for the cement needed for the new Custom House at Baltimore. This is for about 25,000 barrels, and will cost over $35,000. It is the largest cement contract ever given out in Baltimore. The contract for the cement required at Annapolis for the new cadet quarters amounted to 20,000 barrels.

LUMBER.

White pine is reported as not being equal to the demand, and that there is sure to be a scarcity, with consequent advance in prices before the close of the season. Hemlock is scarce and in active demand at $16.00 base, while hardwoods generally are in good demand and scarce, especially the better grades of quartered oak. Spruce is in active demand, and prices remain firm. Yellow pine is generally inactive; flooring, however, has many buyers. Prices for North Carolina pine are inclined to advance owing to large demand.

At the regular New York meeting of the directors of the Export Lumber Co., Francis Gordon Brown was elected a director.

WINDOW GLASS.

On Tuesday last the Eastern division of the National Window Glass Jobbers' Association held a special session at their headquarters, in the Wool Exchange Building, and agreed to advance prices five per cent. The extraordinary tactics of the two companies, which have upset the glass trade for a long time, was also a feature of the meeting.

The rivalry of the Independent Window Glass Co., of Pittsburg, and the American Window Glass Co., however, may not be considered either as interesting or as deadly as the fight between a spider and a tarantulla to the world at large, but it has become a serious matter with the window glass jobbers.

One of these maufacturing concerns had sent out a contract which offers a reduction in price, but subject to advances in labor, and the meeting on Tuesday was to discuss the advisability of signing such a contract. The matter of placing another order for Belgian glass was also considered.

The advance of five per cent. was not satisfactory to many of the jobbers present at the meeting. Ten per cent. was considered a proper and reasonable advance. "Five per cent. is by no means adequate," said one jobber, "and if things go on as they are many dealers will be out of business very shortly."

There was every indication that the five per cent. advance would only be preliminary to a larger increase in prices or reduction of discounts. The maximum discounts will be for the time being 90 and 5 per cent. It was understood that the Western branch of the association had been reached by wire and fully concurred in the advance.

The only consolation which the jobbers have is the fact that the glass factories will all go out of blast about the middle of June, when they have hopes of combining and advancing prices to suit themselves.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.

Paints for building purposes are generally in good demand. Black is especially active, and orders for blues, reds and browns are increasing in volume. White lead in oil is active at 6c. for domestic and 7¼@9⅝c. for imported, while the dry is in good demand at previous quotations. The prices for zinc are uncharged, and orders are plentiful. Litharge and orange mineral are unchanged in prices, with increasing demand. Linseed oil is very firm at last quotations, with growing demand. There are indications of an early advance in prices, but dealers are divided in opinion on this score.

The Union Lead and Oil Co. purposes erecting three large lead-corroding plants during the coming year. One is to be erected in New York, one in Toledo and the third in St. Louis. They are to cost one million dollars.

He carries a large stock, say, from four to five car loads, embracing the latest designs and best patterns. Mr. Rockmore furnished and erected 500,000 square feet of metal ceiling, etc., in J. L. Miller's new building, on 65th st, adjoining Broadway. His address is No. 280 Henry st; telephone, 3439a—Franklin. He will cheerfully furnish estimates of cost.

The superintendents of buildings of the five boroughs have agreed upon the following amendment of section 79 of the departmental rules and regulations for plumbing etc.: "Section 79.—A fresh air inlet must be connected with the house drain just inside of the house trap. Where underground it will be of extra heavy cast-iron. It must extend to the outer air, and finish with a return bend, at least 1 foot above the grade and 10 feet away from any window or cold-air box. An automatic device approved by the Superintendent of Buildings may be used when set in a manner satisfactotry to the said Superintendent."

The moist warm air furnaces and ventilating apparatus for decades manufactured and erected by Thomas Nugent, of No. 223 East 80th st, are known for their excellent qualities and moderate cost. Mr. Nugent executes all orders with great care, and numbers among his customers many leading builders. Umberfield, and ten fine dwellings built by Peter Wagner on the south side of 106th st, near West End av, are all equipped with the Nugent moist warm air furnaces. Mr. Nugent's telephone call is 692—79th.

In making its plea for more time, in the letter signed by eight of its directors, the New York Central Company makes a curious statement to the effect that it is advised that electricity cannot handle its trains yet satisfactorily. It might be true in regard to through trains, but seeing that the whole question is the handling of trains when they reach the tunnel, we are puzzled to discover what such a statement has to do with the case. On the face of it, it looks like a disingenuous plea for delay, but we should be slow to suggest that in view of the solemn pledge otherwise given by the eight directors. Meantime, it would be interesting to know who the electrical engineer is—if there really be one—who advises the company that electricity cannot handle easily every one of its trains—local, through, etc.—in the tunnel, or even in the suburban area. We take it upon ourselves to assert flatly, without any fear of contradiction, that Messrs. Arnold and Sprague never gave any such advice. So far as the public is aware, no one else has ever been called upon for an opinion professionally; and even the extent to which the reference to these two engineers has gone is more or less indirect, or a matter of doubt. Mr. Arnold has certainly done some work for the company, and he is an outspoken advocate of the adoption of electricity for traction. The New York Central owe it to the electrical profession at least, to give up the name of the electrical engineer, who, according to them, is literally "fouling his own nest." We hear the view freely expressed in electrical circles that the company have never had any such advice from any electrical engineer whose professional opinion is worth 10 cents.—Electrical World.

New York Lumber Trade Banquet.

An eminently successful and enjoyable affair was the annual banquet of the New York Lumber Trade Association, which took place on the 13th inst. at the Waldorf-Astoria, at which a very large gathering of members and invited guests participated. Among the latter were Borough President Cantor, Perez M. Stewart, Superintendent of Buildings of Manhattan; John P. Leo, President of the Builders' League; Wm. H. Sayward, Secretary, National Association of Builders; Wright D. Goss, President, Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Materials. President Richard S. White was the presiding officer, and carried things along with his accustomed vim and brightness. In his opening address he said among other interesting things:

The shrinkage in the amount of standing timber of some kinds and the concentration of its ownership in the hands of comparatively few men, I believe, has had more to do with its enhanced value than the increased demand due to the general prosperity and the increased population of the country. That this question of a depleted stumpage is not the old cry of "Wolf" may be proven by the fact that it has at last produced an impression on the National Wholesale Association so strong that if the suggestions of its counsel at the recent meeting in Chicago be heeded, we need not be surprised if they should establish a Bureau of Forestry for the propagation of trees that will supply the future with merchantable lumber.

Would it not be a spectacle for the gods to view the efforts in this direction of a select corps of our wholesale friends, trained as they are in woodcraft, and vying with each other for the record of thousands of trees planted instead of millions of feet sold? It would be a laudable ambition, and there is something practical in the suggestion, but I am afraid you will say, "It is to laugh."

Between the upper and nether millstones of a short supply of lumber and the beneficent provision of the Tenement House Law, the Metropolitan lumber dealer is just at present the victim of a pretty tight squeeze.

I am glad to be able to say, however, that we are likely to escape the latter horn of this dilemma pretty soon through the efforts made here with the Tenement House Commissioner and the kind co-operation of our friends in Albany, as the bill now before the Legislature amending the present law practically clears up the situation as far as Manhattan is concerned, but the bill as reported out of committee does not suit the building interests of Brooklyn. We hope, however, that it will be got into better shape in this respect before it becomes law.

With this incubus removed, even if we do not get a solution of the vexing question of mortgage taxation, we may be able to keep step with the rapid strides of the manufacturer in the apparently resistless march of advancing prices; and with a satisfactory volume of business here, conserved for those to whom it belongs (largely through the efforts of this Association), the immediate future at least promises well.

President Cantor, in the course of his happy address, made the following tribute to the ability and zeal displayed in the public interest by the Superintendent of Buildings and his subordinates:

Sitting at my right to-night is the Building Superintendent of New York. He did not want the job. There are some jobs which everybody wants (laughter), and again there are jobs which nobody wants; and if a man wants a job which nobody else wants, you can make up your mind he is the man for the job. But in looking over the whole situation I picked out my friend Stewart for the Building Department, and I have made no mistake. (Applause.) The men in that department have been working since the first of January as no other building department in the city of New York has worked during the two and a half months. The men in that department, from the head of it down to the inspectors, are just much heroes as the men who wear the blue of the police department or of the fire department, the heroes that we all love to glorify; because after a fire has taken place it is the duty of the inspector to take his life into his hands and mount the walls and ruins, the wreck the fire has left, in order to determine whether those walls are safe or not. That is as much an act of heroism as any act that could be performed by any member of either the fire or police department in this or any other city.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded

Whenever the letters "P M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 14, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

Vol. LXIX. MARCH 29, 1902. No. 1776

BEING a holiday week, the movements of stocks have been without much significance, further than that the market has got back again into routine ways and that prospects are so uncertain that professional operators do not care to carry stocks over an interval of three days during which there is no exchange open, either here or in Europe, to resort to in an emergency. The market closed last week in liveliness under the impression that with the return to town of certain deities of speculation an advance in prices would be engineered. The deities came, but not the advance, so that on the whole the week was a very dull one so far as business in stocks was concerned. Current news was interesting, but not encouraging, except in probably the one item which permits indulgence again in the hope that peace is about to be declared in South Africa; this hope has, however, been so often raised only to be sunk that no one will venture to shape business on it until it is made a certainty. In our own view when this is done it will be followed by realizing sales on both sides of the Atlantic. Money has shown a tendency to harden and exchange rates prefigure a probable resumption of gold exports in the near future. There is apparently no falling off in general activity. More individual railroads are reporting decreases in earnings than was the case a year ago, but in bulk the earnings are keeping up surprisingly well.

THE low price of British Consols due to fears of a new issue affords an opportunity to those who would like to invest in this security to buy the goods cheaply. The time has come when governments can borrow without drawing on the supplies of money needed for business, and there are a good many negotiations on the carpet. When these are concluded there will be a rapid advance in Government bonds. The sign of its coming will be that money can be procured for long terms at rates at about or something less than the interest paid on the bonds. This, with the small margin on which banks are glad to carry "Governments" in times of plentiful money, will make speculation in them attractive, first, and least, for the difference between cost of carrying and interest earned; second, and most, for the premium on cost which the increased demand will insure. European preference in dull times for something with a lien is shown in the favor with which the U. S. Steel funding scheme is received across the Atlantic, where the plan outlined has been promptly endorsed by holders of preferred stock. In the news from London, besides that relating to the "tobacco" war between the home and the American trusts, we come across another instance, presumably one of many yet undiscovered of the reaching-out tendency of our countrymen. In this instance it was not successful, or has not been yet, but it shows what is going on and raises conjectures as to what will be the political and fiscal effects of the mingling of the business affairs of the two countries should the process continue as it seems destined to do. The instance in question is found in a report of the annual meeting of the Machinery Trust, a concern having a practical monopoly of the printing machinery business in Great Britain, at which the Chairman said, in urging an increase of the capitalization: "There are important branches of trade now offered to us from America which we cannot take up, and which are hung up until we can finally say to them whether we will provide the capital or whether we will let it go past us. A proposal was even made to us to take up a certain business, and, failing that, we were asked if we would sell our entire undertaking over here. Well, we do not look with favor upon a proposal to be bought up by an American company. We think there is sufficient money in this country and sufficient enterprise and courage to meet the wants, not only of our own country and the Continent of Europe, with our colonies, provided only that we can establish a good case. * * * * Personally, I do not favor at this stage or for years to come the idea of an amalgamation with any American trust, but I am cordially in favor of a harmonious and effective co-operation with them. We believe and they believe that we can command not only the trade of England and America, but the Continent of Europe and the colonies, and nothing would be more pleasing to me than that the two great English-speaking nations should dominate this great industry."

The Amended Tenement House Law.

FROM the fact that it was passed in the State Senate in compliance with a party order from him we may take it that Governor Odell will promptly sign the Kelsey bill embodying the amendments to the Tenement House law, and that the building trade will now have a law under which they can profitably resume the construction of tenements, a business that has been practically held up for a year. Under the terms of the amendments as passed, owners of old tenements are no longer compelled to give inner rooms direct connection with an open shaft, or with a room directly opening into a street or a yard, but are required simply to make a window opening into an adjoining room, which in a great many cases exists already or can be easily inserted, or an alcove opening equivalent in dimensions to the sash window. The condition that school sinks shall be removed remains, but unaccompanied by the requirement contained in the Tenement House Commission's first amendments that the water closets substituted should be enclosed in a fireproof structure. Section 34 of the present law regulating rebuilding of tenements injured by fire is repealed and that section in the new law will relate merely to heights and capacity of wooden tenements.

The most important amendments of the law controlling prospective construction will permit an additional story on both non-fireproof and fireproof tenements; allow corner lots under certain conditions to be wholly covered with the building up to the first story, and in ordinary cases, also under conditions which it is not necessary to specify, where stores are in buildings, allow the courts to begin above the first story. There are many other changes which could hardly be given without reciting the whole law but which will remove some of the difficulties architects experienced in attempting to lay out buildings capable of appealing to owners from the financial side. For instance, where under the law of last year it was impossible to lay out a building on a lot formed by the intersection of two streets at an acute angle, owing to the yard requirement, a modification of that requirement, that the yard need not extend across the whole width of the lot, may give lots of this description a chance for improvement. Altogether the amendments relating to new buildings are in the spirit of liberality, which, it may be added, is the only spirit that can effectively control legislation for building, as the experience of the past year has shown, and it is to be hoped that the constructive and supply trades will benefit from them.

As to existing tenements, the Tenement House Commission voluntarily offered amendments removing most of the small requirements of the act of 1901, and the representatives of the property owners have secured the removal of the most onerous, that which would have required the insertion of an air shaft to ventilate inner rooms, so that the only serious one that remains is that requiring the substitution of water closets for school sinks. The Legislature has accorded justice in removing the first, even if only to the extent of cancelling an unsuitable solution for what is a serious problem and leaving the way open for the discovery of another that will not press so unfairly upon the owners of the property affected as the law of last year did. Altogether it may be said that in the matter of the amendment of the Tenement House law Assemblyman Kelsey's Committee have met the case in a judicial spirit and dispensed justice with an impartial hand.

SEVERAL of the speakers at the dinner of the Real Estate Board of Brokers reported last week referred hopefully to the time, when the population of the Greater New York would amount to more than half that of the entire state; and they seemed to anticipate when this good time came that New York could have her own way at Albany. But such an anticipation is most assuredly a mistake. The reason New York is not more influential at Albany, is not so much because the rural counties have a larger representation, but because the city of New York is never united upon what it wants. For one thing the division between Tammany and the Fusionists is irreconcilable, and they almost always support at Albany totally different, not to say antagonistic policies. For another thing the Fusionists themselves are frequently divided as to what they want, as they were in the case of excise reform, and consequently their wishes are ignored with some show of reason. The truth is that New York is bound under present conditions to be weak at Albany, because the rural members are nearly all Republicans, and know what they want, while the city delegation is always divided and represents a deep division of interests and principles on the part of its constituents. The consolidated municipality of the Greater New York does not unfortunately stand for any consolidation of feeling among its citizens; and the same trouble hampers the usefulness of many minor organizations in the greater city. Each organization stands for a trade, a clique, or a locality, but none of them stand for a sufficiently large and influential body of citizens to make their wishes and recommendations really effective. One of the best examples of this is the real estate interest itself. There are many organizations of citizens who are interested in the ownership, exchange, and improvement of landed property in New York. Some of these associations represent trade interests, like the Board of Brokers and the Builders' League, others local interests, like the West End Association; still others a section of property owners, like the United Real Estate Owners' Association. But none of these associations can speak with authority for the entire landed interest; and the consequence is that the vital needs of that interest are never adequately placed before the municipal and state government. Just as long as this is the case, must they expect the dominant influences determining both administration and legislation to be radically different from the ideas and the policy, which the property-owners themselves regard as essential.

The Real Estate Situation

Office Building This Spring.

It is evident that there will not be at all as many new office buildings erected this year as appeared probable earlier in the season. A number of plans at one time mentioned in the newspapers have either been abandoned or postponed. The largest of these is that of a twenty-story structure on the present site of the Boreel Building, which will not apparently be started during the present year. It is possible, but improbable, that the City Real Property Investing Company will improve the plot it has acquired on Broad and Beaver streets. The plot has undoubtedly been pieced together for the sake eventually of erecting a skyscraper, but when the building will be begun, or by whom, is doubtful. An improvement on the present site of the Union Building, at William and Pine streets, is to all appearances pretty well assured, as is also the new office of Speyer & Co., on Pine street, plans for which have already been filed. Other plans for improvement which are also sure to go through are the building running through Exchange place to Wall street, the addition to the Manhattan Life Building, another to the Corn Exchange Bank Building, a twelve-story office building at Wall and Water streets, another on Battery place, and perhaps an eighteen-story building on lower Broadway. This list is respectable, but it contains many fewer items than at one time appeared probable, and it is not likely that any new ones will be divulged in the short time still to elapse before leases expire and operators begin. They certainly will not be sufficiently numerous, as seemed at once probable, to produce an over-supply of offices. For the prevailing prosperity is creating a constantly increasing demand, which has rapidly filled all the new buildings erected this year.

The Prospects For Tenement House Building.

The bill relating to the construction of new tenements has passed substantially as it was drawn up by the Department, and we may expect consequently the filing at an early date of a large number of plans which have been held back so as to take advantage of the more lenient provisions of the amended act. It is certain that tenement-house building is recovering with remarkable vitality from the artificial and burdensome conditions created by the enactment of the new law last spring. As a result of that law plans were filed during the first few months of 1901 for 496 tenements to be erected at an estimated cost of $14,762,000, a number and amount only exceeded in 1901, when there was also a change in the building regulations. This enormous building would probably have resulted in the production of an excessive amount of tenement accommodation had it not been that the various extensive public improvements now proceeding in New York are both displacing many existing buildings and are creating considerable demand for unskilled labor, while at the same time the foreign immigration is larger than usual. Owing to all these exceptional causes, the erection of about 500 new tenements, accommodating at least twenty-five families each, has not made an excessive supply. Renting was never better on the East Side than it is to-day, and a house with three per cent. of vacancies is a rarity. Consequently building is still continuing to a respectable extent. Plans have been filed for eighteen tenements already this year, to be erected at an estimated cost of $925,000. The number seems small compared to the large totals of last year, but it represents more building and a large increase of accommodation than would be superficially supposed. For the average cost of each one of these buildings is about $51,300, against $29,000 under the old law. The unit of space for a six-story tenement is from 40 to 50x100, instead of 25x100 as formerly, and the average cost per house consequently almost doubles. Under the amended act, however, six-story buildings are permitted on frontages of twenty-five feet, and this will tend to lower the average cost and size of these buildings to the former figure. For, in spite of the fact that a builder can under the amended act use his space to better advantage in case he has more of it, still he will prefer the smaller unit, because it will give him a building which is more readily saleable to a small investor. At any rate it seems probable that in a few months tenement-house building will be going ahead at something like its normal speed, and that there will be no further danger of increased congestion resulting from the provisions of the new law.

Aspects of the General Situation.

The speculation in East Side residences is still proceeding merrily. Owners of every parcel in the vicinity are being constantly solicited by brokers and operators Record prices are being established every week, and one begins to wonder what it all means. How does it come about that these sudden spurts in particular sections and particular classes of property take place? Here is a district which has been improved for the most part for as much as twenty years, during which time a certain level of prices has prevailed. Last spring one could have taken one's choice of several dwellings on any street north of 60th street and east of Madison or Park avenues. Then all of a sudden the liveliest sort of a demand sets in, a demand based upon the actual inquiry for new houses by intended occupants, but enormously increased by the swarm of speculators and operators who are continually on the watch for evidences of such a demand. The result is that the better built and situated of these dwellings have increased fifty per cent. or more in value, and the present owners are asking any prices they please. Part of this demand is the result of a need for new residences on the part of people who have received good prices for their property from the New York Central for its terminal improvement; but this by no means explains either the acuteness of the want or the willingness to pay such extravagant figures. The truth is that very many causes have contributed to bring about this result. In the first place the decline in the number of cheap dwellings built upon the West Side, owing to the increased value of vacant land in that quarter, diminished largely the customary supply of new private residences, and consequently tended to increase the value of existing buildings of that type. In the second place a number of causes turned the direction of the demand, not satisfied by the erection of new dwellings, toward old buildings on the East Side. The most important of these was the fact that the streets immediately east of the Park had been already selected by rich people as the fashionable residence quarter, and this fact gave a character to the district which the West Side, dominated as it is by apartment houses, could not get. Moreover, the demand on the part of the very rich has been gradually pushing further east, and has increased the value of the cheaper private houses. This augmented inquiry for small dwellings was evident even before the terminal improvements on 42d street began to displace a considerable number of families accustomed to live in East Side dwellings, but this displacement provided a draught and fuel for a fire which was already burning brightly. It remains to be seen whether it will not in the end scorch some of the people who are cheerily warming their hands at the blaze. A new quarter devoted almost exclusively to private dwellings is becoming a necessity for New York, and it will pay operators to secure an available district and restrict for this purpose.

WHEN the news was received this week that the Interborough Railway Company had been organized to build and operate an extensive system of surface railroads in the Bronx doubtless property owners and residents in that borough felt gratified and immediately had visions of an efficient transit service under the spur of competition. Sober second thoughts, however will show them that competition with the powerful interests that now own the transit facilities of the Bronx as well as those of Manhattan is very unlikely, and that the real purpose of the incorporation of the Interborough Railway Co. has yet to be revealed. Some of the directors in the new company have such intimate relations with men known to be very largely interested in the Metropolitan Street Railway Co. and the Union Railway Co. that the idea of the first organizing a new system to be operated in opposition to that in which the second have their money invested does not appear to be at all likely. Until some positive evidence of its independence is received, the new corporation must at best be considered an agent created for the purpose of carrying out the plans of the men who now control the street railroads of the two and perhaps the three most important boroughs of the city. The movement, of course, means an extension of the street railway system, and to that extent its advent must be advantageous to real estate. It may be as well to add that the company have yet to obtain their franchise from the Board of Aldermen.

OUR readers are reminded that Monday next is the last day on which objections can be made to the tax valuations of 1902. This is a change from previous years. Hitherto these objections could be made until April 30th, but at the request of the Tax Department the framers of the last charter, which is now operative, set the date a month earlier.

A GREAT deal is spoken and written about the immigration of Irishmen, Germans, Italians, and foreign Jews to New York, and a great deal more about its peculiar attractiveness to rich men who have made their money elsewhere, but there is another class of immigration, which is less easily traced, but which is of even greater importance. New York is just as attractive to comparatively poor Americans born in other States as it is to their richer fellow-countrymen. Some figures recently published indicate that there are at present living within the limits of Greater New York some 400,000 natives of other States. Of these a large proportion is furnished by the well-populated States in the near neighborhood of the city. New Jersey furnishes 56,000, Pennsylvania, 36,000, Massachusetts, 25,000, and Connecticut, 20,000. Other States that have contributed liberally are Virginia, 22,200; Ohio, 12,000; Maryland, 9,000; Illinois, 8,000, and North Carolina, 6,500. The other States average two or three thousand apiece. It would be interesting to have figures, showing how long the natives of these different States had been resident in New York City. It is probable that such figures would show that this immigration had a tendency to increase, and that the business and social opportunities of New York were drawing a constantly increasing number of energetic young men from all over the country. It is evident that the movement of population in this country is likely to be very different during the coming twenty-five years from what it has been in the past. Hitherto the great movement has been from the east to the west, from the more settled to the less settled States and Territories. But probably that movement has now in some measure spent its force. Owing to the encouragement afforded by the transcontinental railroads, and to the opening up of Indian reservations, this immigration is more active just now than it has been for several years past; but it is obviously one of the last waves of the great tide which has been sweeping across the country for the past century, and hereafter the movement of population will be as much from the country to the big cities, as from older to the newer States. Every year the industry of the United States is gaining in importance compared to agriculture. Industrial development means the growth of cities, and particularly the growth of New York, the city in which the industrial organization of the country centers. Hence the immigration to New York is increasing and will continue to increase. The great test of the progress of a city is its ability to attract men of great energy and enterprise, who are seeking large opportunities, and can conceive large plans of industrial improvement; and measured by such a test, New York is more than ever the metropolis of the country.

Comptroller Grout's New Tax Payment Plan.

CONTINUATION OF THE DISCUSSION BY ITS OPPONENTS.

We publish herewith two letters on Comptroller Grout's measure for gradually advancing the date on which taxes became due, from October 1st to February 1st. But by the publication of the letters we do not wish to be understood as in any way compromising the approval of the plan, which we have already expressed. Of course, such a change cannot be accomplished without some loss, but the loss to the taxpayer would be for only one year, while the loss to the city from borrowing the money in anticipation of taxes is permanent. The plan is an excellent step toward the very desirable end of putting the fiscal system of New York on a business-like basis. The bill, it should be added, has passed both houses of the Legislature, and is now in the hands of the Mayor to veto or approve. As considerable opposition has developed recently, he doubtless will not sign it until after he has given a public hearing.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I read with interest the article in to-day's issue, entitled "Comptroller Grout's New Tax-Payment Plan," consisting of a letter from Mr. Lodge, and an answer from Comptroller Grout. While there may be some ground for criticism as to the absolute accuracy of the figures given by Mr. Lodge, there can be no question but that he is right in the principle underlying his communication. Comptroller Grout, in my judgment, is endeavoring to obtain something which he conceives to be a benefit, but which, in reality, is something purely sentimental. The hardship whereof he complains as falling upon the city means, if it means anything (as the city is but a name), that it falls upon the taxpayers. The taxpayers are making no complaint. Whatever the additional expense caused by the present system of collecting taxes may amount to, the taxpayers make it up in the taxes paid by them. If, therefore, they do not complain, what concern is it of Comptroller Grout, and why should he disturb a system which has been in existence for so many years that it has practically become a rule of property, forming the basis of any number of adjustments heretofore made, when the net result of all he desires to accomplish would simply amount to a reduction of expense to the city, and a consequent lessening of the taxes to be paid by the taxpayers. No matter what words are used to clothe the scheme proposed, nobody questions the fact that it will be a hardship upon property-owners. The Comptroller's own suggestion of distributing this burden over a number of years indicates that he himself realizes this. It seems to me that this is a case where it is better and cheaper to leave matters as they are than to attempt a purely sentimental reform.

Very truly yours, HENRY F. MILLER.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Mr. Grout's reply in last Saturday's issue of the Record and Guide to my communication in the same issue, has modified not one jot the illogical nature of his tax scheme, and mitigated not one tittle its oppressiveness. His explantion strengthens rather the objections against his measure and leaves uninfluenced the enormous loss.

If, as Mr. Grout states, the city is almost always obliged to pay on short-time paper 3½%, often 4%, and sometimes 4½% or 5%, what would the taxpayers on the same sum divided into a multitude of smaller amounts, for the same short-time paper, and on such security as the taxpayers could furnish, have to pay?

The rate of interest to be obtained on the large average balance in bank, Mr. Grout thinks, would be in excess of 2%, and would increase the interest from this source. But this is conjectural on Mr. Grout's part, and if obtained would decrease only slightly the gross loss.

Mr. Grout's reference to $90,000,000 as my statement of the tax budget is more captious than serviceable to his argument. As the amount was stated by me to be about $90,000,000, and this figure was chosen instead of $100,000,000 to avoid exaggerating the loss under Mr. Grout's scheme, which loss is necessarily larger as the budget is increased in amount.

Mr. Grout states that the critical error in the computation against his tax scheme is the assumption that the taxpayers borrow the money. Borrow to a financier is an interchangeable term with use of money, and whether the taxpayer obligates himself to some one else at 5% interest for money borrowed, or uses for the payment of taxes, money with which he forbears to liquidate his existing obligations, is not material, and the suggestion to the contrary from the chief financial official of the city is a surprise.

As the average rate of interest for money loaned on real estate is the only true criterion of what taxpayers are required to pay either for money borrowed, or for the use of money withheld from payments that should or could be made, then if the gross amount of money loaned on New York real estate at 4% on its choicest property secured by the amplest margin of value, and the gross amount of money loaned on the balance of the real estate throughout the boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond on rates ranging from 5% to 6% be averaged, the rate of 5% will be found none too high; and if the bonuses so frequently paid for amounts when second mortgages are also placed on real estate is added, it does not require much effort to grasp the correctness of the 5% rate.

As to the late change of time in the payment of taxes in the three boroughs, Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond, from advance to due payments, there has as yet arisen no protest on the part of those taxpayers. The awakening to the taxpayers in 1903 that this benefit has been taken absolutely from them, should the calamity of Mr. Grout's tax scheme becoming a law be realized, will be like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky. The destruction of this benefit in the three boroughs with the resultant loss in addition thereto, and the entailment of an unmitigated loss in the two other boroughs is a deformed result of this reform.

Mr. Grout says he sees no hardship in his plan for the first three years, but in this he simply refers to the penalty to be paid the city for failure of the taxpayers to pay taxes promptly when they become a lien, and he goes on to say that if at the expiration of three years his plan does not work satisfactorily we may go back to the present method. The penalty to the city during this three years' period naturally is of only slight consequence. It is the mortgagees' penalty, and in the very first year, 1903, with which the taxpayer is concerned, and the mortgagees' demand for the production of a receipted tax bill will not be mollified by the fact that only two additional months of penalty during any of the first three years have been benignly laid on the shoulders of the struggling taxpayer. The mortgagee will want the receipted tax bill, and when the taxpayer has his holdings foreclosed and his not always large equity wiped out the consolation that a repeal of this tax scheme will afford him will be well appreciated by that considerable number whose holdings are thus jeopardized. Within the last few weeks reference to the large arrearage for unpaid taxes, and a purpose to proceed at once to a sale of such property, has been made. It is upon this class of taxpayers that Mr. Grout's additional burden will fall with annihilating effect, and the mortgagees' eight months earlier demand will do the rest.

A large number of mortgagors may arrange for the change, and will adjust themselves to the condition that permanently entails upon them a cumulative loss that goes on impoverishing them without enriching the city. But a large number of mortgagors whose Herculean efforts are constantly employed to meet the interest and taxes on their property must increase the strain and economize when economy may almost be a crime to meet a demand for the production of a tax receipt eight months in advance of the present requirement. R. O. E. LODGE.

Amended Plumbing Regulations.

Perez M. Stewart, Superintendent of Buildings, Manhattan, has posted amendments to the Plumbing and Drainage rules and regulations of his bureau as follows:

Paragraph 11 is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Once in each year every employee or Master Plumber carrying on his trade, business or calling in The City of New York, shall register his name and address in the office of the Bureau of Buildings in the borough in which his place of business is located."

Paragraph 111 is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof these words:

"A plumber proposing to do work in a borough other than that in which he is registered, shall present his certificate at the office of the Bureau of Buildings in that borough before commencing work, so that the fact of his having been properly registered may be recorded."

Section 79 Substitute the following:

"Section 79. A fresh-air inlet must be connected with the house drain just inside of the house-trap; where under ground, it will be of extra heavy cast iron. It must extend to the outer air and finish with a return bend at least one foot above the grade and ten feet away from any window or cold-air box. When this arrangement is not possible, the fresh-air inlet must open into the side of a box not less than eighteen inches square, placed below the sidewalk at the curb. The bottom of the box must be eighteen inches below the under side of the fresh-air inlet pipe. The box may be of cast iron, or it may be constructed with eight-inch walls of brick or flagstone laid in hydraulic cement. The box must be covered by a flagstone fitted with removable metal grating, leaded into the stone, having openings equal in area to the area of the fresh-air inlet, and not less than one-half inch in their least dimension. The fresh-air inlet must be of the same size as the drain up to four inches; for five-inch and six-inch drains it must not be less than four inches in diameter; for seven-inch and eight-inch drains not less than six inches in diameter; and for larger drains not less than eight inches in diameter, the removable portion of grate to be at least eight by twelve inches in area. An automatic device approved by the Superintendent of Buildings may be used, when set in a manner satisfactory to the said Superintendent."

Section 97. Substitute the following:

"Section 97. No form of trap will be permitted to be used unless it has been approved by the Bureau of Buildings, and no masons' cesspool, bell, pot, bottle or D-trap will be permitted, nor any form of trap that is not self-cleaning nor has interior chamber or mechanism, nor any trap, except earthenware ones, that depend upon interior partitions for a seal."

Section 119. Substitute the following:

"Section 119. In lodging houses the water closet and urinal apartments must have a window opening to the outer air; if three stories or less in height, they may have such window opening on a ventilating shaft not less than ten square feet in area."

Section 131. Substitute the following:

"Section 131. In lodging houses there must be one water closet on each floor, and where there are more than fifteen persons on any floor there must be an additional water closet on that floor for every fifteen additional persons or fraction thereof."

Change the number of section 134 to section 133 and substitute the following:

"Section 133. Water closets and urinals must be flushed from separate cisterns on each floor, the water from which is used for no other purpose; where flushometers are used, they must be supplied from separate tanks provided for that purpose, and in no case are connections to be made direct with the water service pipe."

Building Department Tests.

Ever since Perez M. Stewart has been Superintendent of the Bureau of Buildings of Manhattan his time has been much occupied in dealing with violations of the laws which govern the building construction of the city. In many instances these violations were flagrant and necessitated the determined action which the Superintendent has manifested. Walls have been torn down, woodwork removed and building in some instances stopped altogether until the law's demands had been complied with.

The law requires that the window frames and, in fact, all woodwork in buildings 150 feet in height and over shall be fireproofed by some approved process, or covered with metal. It was found by the Superintendent that this particular code had been violated in several instances, and the offending woodwork had either to be removed or covered with metal.

In view of the claims of the various companies having processes for "fireproofing" wood, and the violations of the law so far discovered regarding this product, it is not surprising that the Superintendent should call to his aid men whose opinions on the subject of tests may be the public's safeguard.

Invitations were addressed to many prominent architects, insurance underwriters and chemists, and there was a good response judging by the attendance at the meeting held in the Bureau of Buildings on the 20th inst.

The engineer of tests of the bureau, Mr. W. W. Ewing, briefly stated that the object of the meeting was to establish a uniform method of testing fireproof wood. Superintendent Stewart having been appointed chairman of the meeting, said: "As there has been more or less trouble in regard to the existing regulations regarding tests for fireproof wood, we thought it would be a good idea to call a representative meeting to discuss the question."

After some discussion as to methods to be adopted, it was decided to form a working and an advisory committee. The names of the gentlemen appointed on the working committee were as follows: Professor Stillman, Ira H. Woolson, Collins P. Bliss, W. W. Ewing (Engineer of Tests of the Bureau), and Dr. Chas F. McKenna.

The following names were proposed as an advisory committee: Louis De Coppet Berg, W. S. Lemmon, Wm. A. Anderson, Chas. W. Baker, H. D. Sue, Professor Jacobus, Samuel P. Sadtler, Amory Coffin, Wm. M. Calder, A. F. D'Oench, S. Albert Reed, Geo. L. Heins, C. J. Woodbury, Thos. S. Gladding, Geo. Mason, Chas. A. Hexamer.

Mr. William J. Fryer said he believed that the Building Department had the ability to determine the question of tests within itself. "The Building Department," he said, "has made excellent tests from time to time, and the results have been very satisfactory to the public. Fireproof wood, under the present Building Code, is only required to be used in buildings over 12 stories or 150 feet in height. I have no sympathy in regard to saving any expense to a man who proposes to build more than 12 stories in height, and if he does build that high he ought to be required to use the very best materials that modern science can suggest. I have seen some excellent tests of fireproof wood, and I have seen a test of two buildings [Mr. Fryer refers here to a test which took place about a year ago on Long Island], one built identically like the other, one of treated wood and one of non-treated wood, and of the two the non-treated wood stood the best. The responsibility of what is to be used in these buildings rests on the head of the Building Department, and while it is all right to have as much advice on this subject as possible, yet the responsibility comes back on him, and he will be held responsible for any disaster in such buildings. The trouble is that in those buildings wood supposed to be treated is put in, and when an Inspector of Buildings, or the Superintendent himself visits the building and looks at the trim, he is as ignorant as a child whether it is treated or not.

"Every piece of wood that goes into a building should be stamped by some mark of the manufacturer, and then on the completion of that building a certificate should be filed with the Supt. of Buildings, either from the architect or the manufacturer of the wood, that the wood in that building has been treated by the process that has been established by the Department. Small pieces of wood bearing the stamp of the producer, after being approved, should be retained by the Department and tested at a later date—exposure tests and inside tests—and these pieces should be tested at the end of one, two or three years, and we would know absolutely whether they are permanent."

Mr. W. A. Anderson said he approved of the suggestion that a stamp or other mark should be made upon the wood so that the inspectors could tell whether the wood had been tested.

The meeting adjourned subject to call.

In the Legislature.

AMENDMENTS TO THE TENEMENT HOUSE LAW—PROPERTY-OWNERS' REPRESENTATIVES AND BROOKLYN BUILDERS SECURE CONCESSIONS.

Now that the Legislature has adjourned the question comes up as to what bills have been passed and what not, and it takes some time to discover from the confusion into which matters are thrown by the hasty action of the last days of the session, what were saved and what lost.

Under the spur of an emergency message from Governor Odell, the Senate concurred in the amendments to the tenement house law contained in Assemblyman Otto Kelsey's bill, and passed the measure. During the week much labor was expended in putting the Tenement House Law amendment bill into a form that would meet the wishes of all parties, of whom there were three: The Tenement House Commission, whose views were embodied in the amending bill originally introduced by Senator Stranahan in the Senate, and Mr. Kelsey in the Assembly; the Brooklyn building and realty interests who wished for amendments to meet local requirements in tenement construction; the owners of old tenements, represented by Geo. B. Christman, President of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, and Adolph Bloch, counsel, who were working for the repeal of the sections of the existing law not already amended by the Commission's bills, those required very expensive alterations to be made in their houses. The Assembly bill came first out of committee, amended to meet the objections of the last two named interests. It provided that, while courts on the lot line of 5-sty tenements should be 5 ft. wide, and those between wings or buildings 10 ft. wide, courts on the lot line for 3-sty tenements need be only 4 ft. wide, and those between wings and buildings only 8 ft. wide. It also provided that sections 79 and 100 of the present law, the first relating to lighting and ventilation of inner rooms, and the second abolishing school sinks, should be repealed. This bill was sent back to the committee, and was reported out again, with the changes in the requirements of courts previously mentioned retained, but with new sections for those now numbered 79 and 100 in the law. New section 79 reads as follows:

Sec. 79. Rooms, lighting and ventilation of, continued.—No room in a now existing tenement house shall hereafter be occupied for living purposes unless it shall have a window upon the street, or upon a yard not less than 4 feet deep, or upon a court or shaft of not less than 25 square feet in area, open to the sky without roof or skylight, or unless such room has a sash window opening into an adjoining room in the same apartment (here the words, "which itself has a window opening on the street or a yard not less than five feet deep" are omitted), said sash windows having at least 15 square feet of glazed surface, being at least 3 feet high by 5 feet wide between stop heads, and at least one-half thereof being made to open readily. An alcove opening of no less dimension than said sash window shall be deemed its equivalent.

It will be seen that this not only removes the requirement as to the cubic air space for each individual occupying any room, but it makes it unnecessary to construct the shafts which were considered to be the only practicable way of meeting the demands of the law of 1901 as to inner rooms. The text of new section 100 is:

Sec. 100. Privy vaults, school sinks and water-closets.—In all now existing tenement houses, where a connection with a sewer is possible, all school sinks, privy vaults or other similar receptacles used to receive fecal matter, urine or sewage, shall before January first, nineteen hundred and three, be completely removed and the place where they were located properly disinfected under the direction of the department charged with the enforcement of this act. Such appliances shall be replaced by individual water-closets of durable non-absorbent material, properly sewer connected, and with individual traps, and properly connected flush tanks providing an ample flush of water to thoroughly cleanse the bowl. Each water-closet shall be located in a compartment completely separated from every other water-closet, and such compartment shall contain a window of not less than three square feet in area opening directly to the outer air. The floors of the water-closet compartments shall be waterproof, as provided in section ninety-five of this act. Where water-closets are placed in the yard to replace school sinks or privy vaults, long hopper closets may be used; but all traps, flush tanks and pipes shall be protected against the action of frost. In such cases, the structure containing the water-closets shall not exceed ten feet in height; and shall not be considered as increasing the percentage of the lot occupied nor shall it be subject to the provisions of section sixty-six of this act, provided that it does not occupy more than fifty per centum of the open space or yard in which it is placed, and provided further that the use of said structure is limited solely to water-closet purposes. Such structure shall be provided with a ventilating skylight in the roof, of an adequate size, and each water-closet shall be located in a compartment completely separated from every other water-closet. Proper and adequate means for lighting the structure at night shall be provided. There shall be provided at least one water-closet for every two families in every now existing tenement house. Except as in this section otherwise provided such water-closets and all plumbing in connection therewith shall be in accordance with the ordinances and regulations in relation to plumbing and drainage.

This is the Tenement House Commission's suggested amendment of section 100, except that a fireproof enclosing building, which property-owners claimed was unnecessary, and made this section more obnoxious than ever, was eliminated.

Among other interesting occurrences of this week were the following:

The Senate passed the bill devoting the docks on the North River, between 51st and 54th sts to the exclusive use of canal-boats.

The Slater employers' liability bill has passed both houses and gone to the Governor.

Owing to the Governor's veto of Senator Hennessey's bill to increase the force of the Notification Bureau, and, of course, its salary list, this desirable adjunct to the office of the Collector of Assessments and Arrears cannot be created. Owing to the authority given by the charter for the appointment of a notification clerk being permissive, none has been appointed. The collector will always, however, notify owners of arrears and assessments on application. What was wanted was the machinery for notifying owners as soon as an assessment was entered on the books of the collector. Gov. Odell's reason for vetoing the bill was the general one that the salary list of New York City was growing too fast; but surely there are cases where the city can afford to have it grow and this was one.

The following have become laws:

Chap. 192.—By Senator Hennessey, entitled an act to amend the Greater New York charter, relative to the power of the department of taxes and assessments to remit or reduce a tax.

Chap. 200.—By Senator Malby, entitled an act to amend the Tax Law, relating to the taxation of real property situated in two or more tax districts.

Right of City to Abandon Condemnation Proceedings.

Justice Blanchard, Wednesday, delivered an opinion in the matter of the application of the Board of Education to acquire title to school site at 145th st and College av. It was:

This is a motion made by a property owner to confirm the report of commissioners. The same commissioners were appointed in two proceedings to acquire adjoining sites. It is conceded that in the one proceeding title would have vested in the city four months after the filing of the oaths of the commissioners, and in the other upon the confirmation of the commissioners' report. The commissioners filed their oaths on October 3, 1901, and made their preliminary report December 3, 1901, and on December 11, 1901, the board of education passed a resolution abandoning the proceedings and abandoning the sites. On January 7, 1902, and before the title to any of the property proposed to be taken had vested in the city, the commissioners were notified by the corporation counsel and a certified copy of the resolution of the board of education served upon them. Subsequently the commissioners filed their report in the office of the county clerk and with the board of education, in accordance with the requirements of the law, and thereupon this motion to confirm the report was made by one of the property owners whose property was affected in these proceedings. It is the settled law of this State that a proceeding of this character may be abandoned by the city before title vests in the city, and it is proper that it should be so, for otherwise the city might be compelled to take property for which it had no use. This motion is made simply to confirm the report which the commissioners have filed. This I must decline to do. The motion is, therefore, denied.

The Substitute for Wooden Floors and Trim.

Recent calamitous fires have served to accentuate the need of employing a fireproof substitute for the large amount of wood that is employed in buildings in the shape of flooring, trim, etc., and taste demands that it (the substitute) shall at the same time be as fine in appearance as the original. To meet this dual requirement there has been placed upos the market a substance called Alignum. This is a mineral substance in every sense fireproof, and impervious to changes of temperature; that can be worked up to resemble wood in forms and finish, and is, therefore, admirably suited for employment in the interior of buildings, where assurance against the danger of fire is absolutely necessary, such as dwellings, hotels, hospitals, offices, etc. Recent events have proved that fireproof construction, that is, the employment of iron or steel and stone or brick and terra cotta, do not remove all danger of injury or loss of life through fire, and that they need to be supplemented by an interior fireproof material where wood is now employed. It is only necessary to recall the fires at the Park Avenue and other hotels to show that. In these cases it was the flooring, trim, etc., that were the fuel for the flames, and were responsible for the wrecking of the buildings. The facts being what they are, underwriters and all interested in reducing the fire hazard, architects, builders and owners, looking for a non-flammable substitute for wood should turn their attention to Alignum, which already has the endorsement of the Building Department.

The New Movement.

A WEST SIDE OPERATING, INVESTING AND BUILDING CORPORATION.

In conformity with the latest fashion of the day in methods of handling large realty and building operations, the West Side Construction Co. was recently incorporated with the Secretary of State, at Albany, for the purpose of buying and selling land, making improvements for themselves, and also for doing a general realty and construction contract business for others, having for its President Jacob Axelrod, well-known as a successful builder of apartment houses in this city.

The West Side Construction Co. have a good field in which to employ their energies and capital. They have shown their appreciation of this fact by commencing work on two important operations, one on Riverside Drive and the other on 94th st. The first is the improvement of a plot, 101x123, located on the north corner of Riverside Drive and 97th st, upon which they are erecting a 9-sty and basement fireproof apartment house, from plans by Geo. F. Pelham, who has made a specialty of this kind of planning, and in which he has had a long experience. The plans call for an imposing structure, which will be an appropriate ornament to the beautiful bend of the Drive that winds around this point, containing apartments of five, six and seven rooms, each with bath, and supplied with every modern improvement, including electric elevators for the service of the building, and long-distance 'phones for each apartment. The entrance hall will be up-to-date in conveniences and splendor of marble and decorative effects, and the apartments are to be handsomely finished and supplied with gas ranges, sanitary exposed plumbing, and all the other appliances now demanded by tenants for the promotion of health and comfort. The second operation is the construction of a 6-sty apartment house, on a plot 50x100, located on the north side of 94th st, between Riverside Drive and West End av. This is also being built from plans by Geo. F. Pelham, and is to be in all respects as up-to-date in design and interior finish and fitting as the Riverside Drive operation. The suites, however, will be limited to those containing five and six rooms and bath. This variety is due to a policy of action on the part of the company that will be explained later on. Both these buildings are scheduled for completion in time to receive all the benefits of the next fall renting season, when, owing to the demand for apartments that appears then, they are expected to be promptly filled. It is needless to point out that they will enjoy all the benefits belonging to the West Side generally. It may be added that the views from the Riverside Drive at this point are superb, and that an express station of the Rapid Transit Railroad has been located at 96th st and Broadway, and way-stations a few blocks north and south.

The company are fortunate in having for their president Jacob Axelrod, whose long experience and success in the same line of work as they intend to follow makes him eminently fitted to outline their policy and superintend their trading and building operations, as well as their commission and contract business. His plan of operations has been to select sites that by reason of their location and the high character of adjoining or neighboring improvements have become extremely desirable, and to build thereon high-class apartments, attractive in design, conveniently arranged and artistically decorated, that could be leased at moderate rents. This plan has been highly appreciated by tenants and investors, because not only have the tenants of moderate means been glad to find the quarters and conveniences they desired, and surroundings of refinement to which they aspired, but buyers have seen in the facts and circumstances of the case an assurance of the stability of values and a guarantee of income. Some of the buildings Mr. Axelrod has already erected and sold under his shrewd theory are the St. James' Court, southeast corner of Broadway and 92d st; Earlscourt, No. 306 West 94th st; Norfolk, No. 308 West 94th st; Tremont, No. 310 West 94th st; the Milford, on 101st st, just east of Broadway. All these were planned and built to meet a popular demand, and the operations have resulted successfully to the builder. The policy thus already proved and now adopted by the West Side Construction Co will doubtless be as successful when carried out by them, and may be made still more profitable through the employment of larger capital by expansion to any point where it will apply; that is, in the sections already improved by exclusive and highly-rented apartment houses.

The company have opened offices at No. 2603 Broadway, corner of 98th st, where they are well-located for the purposes of their business. They have all the facilities for doing a large business, and, considering the opportunities offered in their selected field, should not want for success. They will undertake to buy land and improve it for investors; or to improve land already possessed for private owners, supplying plans and estimates and in all ways taking the arduous work of arranging, negotiating, planning and superintending which the average owner does not care to undertake, and in most cases is incapable of undertaking, and which in every instance, it may be claimed, experienced men can carry out more economically than can the inexperienced. Besides this, as has been pointed out before, the company will build for the market by continuing the business that their president has hitherto carried on with so much judgment and profit. In locating on the West Side, and by their corporate title indicating that that will be their chief scene of operations, they do not wish it to be inferred that they will not carry out contracts elsewhere. The fact is quite contrary to that; they are open to negotiations for buying and selling and improving in other parts of the city. But all this and much else that investors in realty may be interested in knowing will be explained to any interested person calling at the office of the company, No. 2603 Broadway.

Work of the Dock Department.

With this is given a diagram showing the improvements of the North River water front, between Charles st and 23d st. Work is now being continued from Bloomfield st north. Dredging on this portion is going on, but no wall has yet been built. To expedite this work the department caused a bill to be introduced into the Legislature, providing that before commencing proceedings to condemn property required, it should not be necessary for them to make any attempt to agree with owners upon prices; that they might by resolution take title at any time after the filing of the oaths of the commissioners of condemnation, ultimate awards to bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum for such designated date; that they have power to deal with railroads operating on any street affected by the improvement. This bill was passed this week and sent to Mayor Low. Some objection having been raised to it in the Legislature on the ground that it was unjust to take a man's property away from him and make him wait years for his compensation, as was done in the case of the Elm st proceedings. Dock Commissioner McDougal Hawkes said there was no force in that objection. He added: "The property-owners whose property will be affected are not protesting, because they realize that their interests have been fully protected. Under the bill as passed the title does not rest immediately with the Dock Department. Property-owners affected have the right of appeal to the Sinking Fund Commissioners. Moreover, it is provided that any property-owner whose property is taken shall be paid 6 per cent. interest on the compensation price finally determined upon from the date upon which judgment in favor of the Dock Department is entered. That is more than most of them are realizing from their rents, and they, therefore, have no reason to complain."

The Dock Department are also building on the North River front, between 42d and 44th sts, and between 129th and 133d sts. On the East River they have about finished the sea-wall in the vicinity of Broad st, and have in progress the wall between Market st and Catherine slip; another between 18th and 21st sts. All this work is being done in connection with an exterior or marginal street on the East River. A diagram of the improvement in hand, between 17th and 23d sts, on the East River, was given in the Record and Guide of May 26, 1900.

Questions and Answers.

We must remind our correspondents that we cannot answer anony mous communications. Readers must also remember that communications to us cannot invariably be answered the week they are received

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In one of my houses the ceiling has fallen down and tenant claims damages to carpet and injuries. There has been no injuries, and the fault is not mine, as I was not notified of any danger in ceiling. Can tenant claim damages?

Answer.—The tenant cannot recover damages from you.—Law Editor.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A tenant who is not willing to pay the rent until certain repairs are done, is served with a dispossess. The day that her case is answerable she pays the rent in court. The question is whether she is obliged to pay costs of the dispossess. If not, kindly let me know whether there are any cases where a tenant would be compelled to pay the costs or vacate premises?

Answer.—She is obliged to pay the costs.—Law Editor.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please answer the following. A rents store to B for a term of years, who, upon taking possession, removed wooden moulding, placed for ornamental purposes, around the ceiling, which is yellow pine wood, replacing same with embossed tin or sheet iron, besides covering the entire store ceiling with same material, made into squares of 14 by 18, using nails in placing the tin or sheet iron in position. He has no desire of renewing the lease; in case he moves, the question I would like to know, can he, B, remove the tin squares with the other fixtures which belong to him, as by so doing would be an injury to the wood ceiling?

Answer.—He has no right to do so. If he should, you have a good cause of action against him for damages.—Law Editor.

DIVISION FENCE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A owns a piece of property, B and C own adjoining property at side of A, and their rear fence is A's side fence; wind has blown fence down. (1) Is it a party job? D owns property at rear of A; this fence is down, also. (2) Is it a party job? D's property is 3 feet below A's. (3) Is a retaining wall a party job? Enclosed is a diagram of property.

Answer.—(1) Yes. (2) Yes. (3) D should bear the expense of maintaining a retaining wall.—Law Editor.

JUDGMENT AGAINST INFANT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following questions? (1) Is a judgment held against a person under 21 years of age legal? (2) Can the person holding judgment against the minor seize or attach any property belonging to same? (3) Is it necessary to have judgment released or set aside; if so, how can same be done?

Answer.—(1) It is valid until set aside or vacated. (2) Yes, so long as the judgment remains in force. (3) If the infant has property on which the judgment is a lien, or has personal property on which the sheriff can make a levy, it is advisable to have the judgment vacated. This can be done on motion to the court in which the judgment was obtained.—Law Editor.

DEFINITION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly explain the exact meaning of "Lis Pendens," and in what manner do such proceedings differ from ordinary suits?

Answer.—"Lis Pendens" is Latin and means "action pending." In certain actions, such as foreclosure of mortgage or mechanic's lien, partition, etc., a notice of "Lis Pendens" (of the pendency of the action), is filed in the office of the County Clerk, in order to bind the real estate and warn subsequent purchasers or incumbrances that an action has begun.—Law Editor.

INHERITANCE TAX.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

If a person receives real estate through a will and not a blood relation (1) does he have to pay an inheritance tax, and if so (2) what per cent.?

Answer.—(1) Yes, if the property is of the value of more than $500. (2) Five per cent.—Law Editor.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following question. A gives B, broker, authority to sell his house. B offers it to C. C says he does not want it, but he has a friend that might buy it. C offers it to D. D goes to look at the property, and there meets A, the owner. D wants to go to C and tell him that he is going to buy the property, but A tells D that he will see C all right. A took D to his lawyer and made out the contract. Are B and C entitled to their commission? B promised C one-half commission if he could get his friend to buy it.

Answer.—Yes.—Law Editor.

HUSBAND'S RIGHTS IN DECEASED WIFE'S ESTATE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Noticing in issue of February 22d an answer to query as to rights of husband to money deposited by deceased wife in savings bank, will you please let me know by what statute the husband is entitled to $2,000 of such deposit. I cannot find it in the Statutes of Distribution, and am interested to know where it is found. Would not the husband, in absence of any children, take all the personal property irrespective of amount?

Answer.—If a wife dies intestate, leaving no descendants her surviving, the husband takes the whole of the personalty. See section 2734 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and Robins v. McClure, 100 N. Y. 328.—Law Editor.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. (Incorporated) announce for Thursday next, the auction sale of six parcels belonging to the estate of the late Richard V. Harnett, consisting of improved and unimproved properties, well-located and varying sufficiently to attract buying from several points of view; also a number of desirable residence parcels located on well-known and appropriate thoroughfares, and a business property for other estates and individuals, all of which will doubtless find appreciation in the auction room. The auctioneers will supply terms, etc., at No. 73 Liberty st, and designations and descriptive matter will be found in our business pages.

Bryan L. Kennelly, as will be seen by reference to our advertising pages, has a large amount of property, in all 34 parcels, mostly unimproved, to sell Wednesday next. This sale ought to appeal particularly to builders and others desiring sites for improvement under the amended tenement house law, which passed this week, and is now in the hands of the Governor. On the following Wednesday, April 9th, Mr. Kennelly will have a further sale of 24th Ward lots, and at the same time dispose of the dwelling, No. 434 West 23d st, and the business building, No. 1852 3d av. Details of these numerous and in so many instances attractive parcels will be found in the advertisement of the auctioneer, or at his offices at No. 7 Pine st.

D. Phoenix Ingraham announces the executors' sale for 8th inst., of six parcels to close the estate of the late Simon Stern, which consist of the dwelling No. 74 East 110th st, and vacant lots and plots located on West 111th, 112th and 149th sts, near 7th and 8th avs and Jerome av. These are very desirable lots in improving sections. Descriptions and dimensions, etc., are given in the auctioneer's advertisement, on another page. Terms include 70 per cent. on bond and mortgage at 4½ per cent. The auctioneer, at No. 111 Broadway, and Creevey & Rogers, attorneys for executors, at No. 41 Wall st, will supply book-maps and answer inquiries.

Leonard Moody will sell in the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange, Thursday next, the fashionable dwelling, No. 27 Grace Court, as our advertising columns show. No. 20 Court st, Brooklyn, is the auctioneer's address.

ANOTHER BATCH OF INVESTMENT OFFERINGS.

James L. Wells has another big sale which cannot fail to excite attention and attract a large crowd of buyers. This is scheduled for April 8th, and the bill of offerings is made up of the block front on the east side of 6th av, between 54th and 55th sts, Nos. 113-115 University pl, No. 26 Waverly pl, No. 796 Washington st, Nos. 513-519 West 25th st, Nos. 1-3 Division st, No. 16 East Broadway, No. 5 East Broadway, No. 29 Catherine st. Descriptions and dimensions, etc., of these parcels will be found in the auctioneer's advertisement in our business pages, and application for book-maps, terms, etc., may be made to James L. Wells, No. 141 Broadway; John M. Perry, attorney; and Charles Remsen and William Manice, at No. 55 William st. It is announced that the sale is absolute; that terms are liberal, and that titles will be guaranteed free of cost by Lawyers' Title Insurance Co. The property to be sold is recommended to the careful consideration of buyers looking for suitable realty investments, and there is every reason to believe that the demand will respond to the offer.

The Eastern Bar Iron Association will officially announce April 1st the price of bar iron for delivery April to July at 1.80c. base price. It has been quoted officially at $1.70 for some time, although orders were not accepted for less than 1.80c. base. Many steel plants in the East have advanced prices recently $2.00 per ton for steel plates and forms, making the price $35.00 per ton.

Real Estate Notes.

No. 109 East 65th st, a 4-sty dwelling, on lot 19x100.5, was sold for $35,000; sale was reported last week.

Monday next is the last day on which objections may be made to Tax Department valuations for 1902.

Clarence W. Gaylor was associated with David H. Scully in the sale of No. 439 West 26th st, reported sold last week.

The Alliance Realty Co. are the buyers of Nos. 31 and 33 West 19th st and No. 30 West 20th st, reported in our last issue.

The Sterling Realty Co. are the buyers of No. 132 East 73d st.

N. Wolff, the owner of Nos. 105 and 107 East 73d st, states that they have not been sold.

According to President Young, the North Jersey Street Railway Co.'s cars will be running under the Hudson into Manhattan and connecting with the Metropolitan system in two years.

The Terminal Realty Company has been incorporated, with a capital of $50,000. Messrs. F. D. Ames, B. J. Berry and J. S. Maher, of No. 122 West 34th st, are the directors of the company.

The City Real Property Investing Co. took title on Wednesday to the southeast corner of Broad and Beaver sts, which they bought about three months ago through Isaac T. Meyer and S. Osgood Pell. It is the intention of the company to erect a large office building on the plot.

Philip A. Payton, Jr., is a young colored broker and agent, who is scoring success in realty work. His specialty is the management of colored tenements. Mr. Payton's office is at 119 Nassau st, telephone 4391 Cortlandt, with a branch office at 31 West 134th st.

De Lancey T. Smith has just returned from a six weeks' trip to Florida. Mr. Smith visited Palm Beach, Ormond and Miama and had good luck with the gun. He continues business at the old stand, 1519 Broadway, despite the wreckage of the rest of the block front.

President Haffen has inaugurated a movement for the abolishment of all grade railroad crossings in the Bronx, by summoning before him the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, and informing them that they must comply with the provisions of the grade-crossing act without further delay.

Recently an owner directed a broker to insert in a contract of sale for his West 46th st property the figures shown on a City Atlas as the size of his lot. The dimensions given in the atlas were 25x100.5, whereas the lot was only 24.2x100.5. The result was a loss of $500 to the owner, who had to make an allowance of that amount to the buyer. Owners should get dimensions from deeds to avoid such losses.

Work on the Kingsbridge extension of the Metropolitan street railroad system is being pushed with a vigor, most satisfying to the hearts of real estate and building people interested in that section. A force of about 2,000 men were put to work early this week, and in a few days about eight 8-block headway was made. It looks as though this line would be completed in a month's time, and if so, the fact cannot be without influence upon values in the district it develops.

Horatio Gallatin, an owner of property facing on Gramercy Park, has begun suit in the Supreme Court against the Robert J. Blake Building and Realty Co., to restrain it from erecting a 9-sty hotel on a lot known as No. 26 Gramercy Park. According to Mr. Gallatin's complaint, Samuel B. Ruggles, on Dec. 17, 1831, conveyed to trustees forty-two lots to be used for the purpose of laying out Gramercy Park, and at the same time conveyed the lots surrounding the park with the express covenant in each deed of conveyance that only dwelling houses should be erected upon them. Plans for the building of the hotel have been filed with the Building Department, and the demolition of the house which occupies the lot where the hotel is to be built was begun.

The annual meeting of the Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Materials was held at the association rooms, No. 18 Broadway, on the 20th inst. The meeting was largely attended. There were two tickets in the field, the candidates on the regular ticket being elected, thus leaving the management of the association in the hands of practically the same officers who have managed it during its life. The officers elected are as follows: President, Wright D. Goss; Vice-President, John A. Philbrick; Treasurer, Nathan Peck; Directors, Wright D. Goss, John A. Philbrick, Nathan Peck, John J. Bell, Wm. H. Schmohl, Francis N. Howland, Nathaniel Wise, William H. Barnes, William K. Hammond, John B. Rose, Wm. T. Hookey, Robert Main, John C. McNamara, Clifford L. Miller, Daniel Darrow.

There are some evidences of continued interest in realty in this borough, one of which is the report that negotiations are said to be under way by a Chicago department store to secure the block on Broadway, between Eldert and Covert sts, Williamsburg, for the erection of a large department store. The site belongs to Moses May, the Vice-President of the Williamsburg Trust Company, and was purchased by him about two years ago for $135,000. When Mr. May was spoken to regarding the negotiations of the property he admitted that a Chicago concern was after it, but said that nothing definite was settled upon as yet. Until it had been Mr. May said that he would neither tell the name of the firm who wanted the property nor the price offered for it. Last week there were reports that some interest was seeking to acquire the triangle bounded by Flatbush, Atlantic and 5th avs. The Long Island Railroad Co. was said to be the desirous party, but there is nothing to support that suggestion.

The plans of the New York Dock Co. to improve the wharfage facilities of this port are being rapidly forwarded, and another important step was taken yesterday, when the State Land Board at Albany granted five applications of the company for land under the waters of the East River, on the Brooklyn Borough shore, south of Montague st, this being selected by the company for the purpose of constructing ocean steamship piers, at which the steamers of the North German Lloyd, it is said, will dock.

The letters patent are subject to such interest as the City of New York has under the provisions of its charter to lands under water. A representative of the New York Dock Co. said that it was the intention of his company to project the old piers which now exist along the Brooklyn shore, so that vessels of the largest draught could be docked there until the new pier line, which was approved by the Secretary of War in 1897, had been reached.

The dredging of Buttermilk Channel by the United States Government, which project is under consideration at Washington, will be necessary to fully carry out the plans of the company in making the Brooklyn shore front a rival to Hoboken as a docking place for big steamships.

The Hudson Realty Co. have purchased from James Brooks the following property: Six buildings on the northerly side of St. Johns pl, between Albany and Troy avs, known as No. 1247 to and including No. 1257 St. Johns pl. The World of Building

Material Market.

Building construction is active on every hand, and the natural sequence is increasing demand for material of every description. Weather prophets have nothing to prognosticate but fine, genial spring, with a flood tide of prosperity. Prices are generally firm, with inclination towards advance in some materials as stocks decrease.

IRON AND STEEL.

Complaints are frequent in the city that iron and structural steel is exceptionally difficult to obtain from the mills. The mills report that they are sold up to the end of the year, and it is almost impossible to place orders. Philadelphia reports prices at stores as follows: Soft steel bars, 2.30c. per lb. basis; best refined bars, 2.10c.; angles, 2.70c. Many buyers begin to think that there is no possibility of a famine in pig-iron, and decline to pay present high prices, preferring to take chances on buying later in the year. We learn from Pittsburg that the men employed at the blast furnaces have made demands for an eight-hour day instead of twelve hours, to become effective May 1. Some of the larger furnace operators declare they will not agree to the demand, and trouble is looked for. Demand for foundry iron is heavy in Pittsburg, also for forge iron and Bessemer. Sales of billets are not large because the mills cannot spare the steel. At makers' mill it is selling for $31.00@32.00 in small lots. The Eastern Bar Iron Association will officially announce April 1st the price of bar iron for delivery April to July at 1.80c. base price. It has been quoted officially at $1.70 for some time, although orders were not accepted for less than 1.80c. base. Many steel plants in the East have advanced prices recently $2.00 per ton for steel plates and forms, making the price $35.00 per ton.

John L. Arts, superintendent of the Borden Iron Works, of Troy, N. Y., is stopping at the Fifth Avenue Hotel of this city.

The manganese iron mines upon the Jacob Cramer farm, Annandale, N. J., are to be reopened. Prospectors now believe that the ore will be found in large quantities in the mountain.

The new Talbot open-hearth furnace for the Jones & Laughlins, Ld., in Pittsburg, will be started on April 15th. Professor Talbot, the inventor, is the expert chemist of the Penroyd steel works at Philadelphia.

Charles M. Schwab, president of the U. S. Steel Corporation, refuses to deny or confirm the report that he is responsible for the bid of $11,000,000 by the Varney syndicate for the control of the Western Maryland Railroad.

Unless the American Bridge Co., at Pencoyd, Pa., agrees to pay the 40 cents an hour demanded by the men the 7,000 or more organized structural iron workers of the United States, of which there are 1,800 in the Pittsburg district, will go out on strike. A compromise already offered by the company has been rejected.

It is said that the new furnace of the Sharon, Pa., Steel Co. broke the output record recently when 318 tons of pig iron was turned out against 278 tons, the previous high record, representing a turn of only 12 hours! The new skelp mill to be erected by this company will have a capacity of 600 tons daily, and the tube mills, 400 tons, requiring 1,000 additional men.

The total shipments of pig and cast-iron pipe from Alabama and Tennessee, in February, were 148,919 tons.

The present American Iron and Steel Works, at Worcester, Mass., are expected to be abandoned shortly for a much larger plant in San Francisco.

BRICK.

The opening of navigation on the Hudson conforms well with the requirements of the brick consumers. The demand is increasing day by day, and the fresh supplies which are daily coming down the river will soon be required. Prices remain firm for the time being.

Manufacturers are generally looking to their machinery and methods of production with a view as far as possible of improving the standard of quality of brick supplied to the New York builders.

We hope they will astonish Britons with the super-excellence of their bricks, now that the advantages of American methods of laying bricks have been thoroughly demonstrated. The occasion of the bricklaying exhibit was the erection of the British Westinghouse Company's plant, at Manchester, England.

The average British bricklayer, it appears, generally lays about 900 bricks in the usual working hours of the day. Under American management his full capacity was brought out, and his average was raised to 1,800 per working day. The published record of this fact, and its manner of accomplishment, is stigmatized by the Manchester "Guardian" as "a damaging indictment of British trade methods." The quality of American brick may become another eyeopener.

CLAY AND STONE.

The Cumberland Basin Land Co., of Baltimore, recently purchased 2,622 acres of land, rich in fire clay and coal, near Mount Savage, Allegheny County, for $40,000. They purpose sub-leasing the fire clay.

Prof. J. P. Edmonds has discovered, near Scottsboro, Alabama, a new stone in large quantities. It is claimed to be a bisilicate of ammonia, and one of its uses will be for the polishing of marble, glass or metal. Whether it can be used for other purposes we have not learned.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed at Augusta, Me., for the Clay Product Co., with a capitalization of $200,000. The president is Luther C. Greenleaf, of Boston.

LUMBER.

Prices are generally firm, and the demand is good for all classes of building lumber. At $16 base hemlock is receiving considerable attention. There are many enquiries for cypress, and prices are firm. Yellow pine is somewhat quiet, but prices remain unchanged. North Carolina pine stocks are reported much reduced, and prices very firm. White pine is in big demand, because it is expected to become scarce. Prices, however, remain firm. Eastern spruce is scarce. Adirondack and Virginia spruce are in great demand, and advances almost certain. Birch and ash are in fair demand, while oak and poplar are being well sought after at firm prices.

Louis Brill and J. A. Fox, of Stevens Point, Wis., have closed a deal with the Hope Lumber Co., of Hope, Idaho, to take the company's output of 20,000,000 feet of lumber for the coming season.

Lumber dealers of Maine have recently suffered losses amounting to thousands of dollars owing to heavy rains.

The total amount of money involved in recent and prospective operations for the purchase of pine lands in Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas, is $2,500,000.

On Tuesday last the first vessels of the Chicago lumber fleet for the season were cleared.

PAINTS AND OILS.

There appears to be a much brisker demand among the dealers than there has been for some time. The activity in the building of new and the repairing and painting of old buildings naturally bring increased business with the fine weather, and dealers are jubilant. Prices, however, remain firm, but changes in some directions may be looked for shortly. Quotations in linseed oil remain at 63c. for city raw in lots of over five barrels, and 64c. for smaller lots, and 62c. to 63c. for Western raw.

Thomas Sixsmith, a paint chemist, has invented a remarkable paint to withstand atmospheric action under all conditions. This has been successfully tested in the New Tennis Club and other places.

WINDOW GLASS.

The present discounts offered by manufacturers are 90 and 5 off jobbers' list in lots less than a carload; and 90, 10 and 7½ off for single, and 90 and two 10's off for single in quantities f. o. b. at the factory. It is asserted by manufacturers that prices within a month will be 10 per cent. higher. The National Window Glass Jobbers' Association, the American Window Glass Co., and the Federation Window Glass Co., through their representatives, will meet at Atlantic City in April. The object will be the adoption of a general price list for manufacturer and jobber.

The plate glass market is firm, with evidences of demand not equalling supplies, which may result in the closing down of factories in the month of July

The American Plate Glass Association of Cincinnati decided on Monday last not to advance their prices.

It is only a matter of time, and the American manufacturers of window glass will not only have competitors in France and Belgium, but in Japan.

Minister Buck, of Tokio, has made a report to the secretary of the legation at Washington, in which he says: "After some discussion in the Japanese Diet in regard to the promotion of window glass manufacture, this government, to which he is accredited, has decided to establish 'a model factory' for training workers in window glass manufacture."

The importation of glass by Japan in 1899 amounted to about $625,500. The price per box is estimated at 7 to 10 yen. The Japanese believe they can make equally good window glass at 5½ yen. A yen is about fifty cents.

Minister Buck concludes his report by saying that an American applicant for employment as an expert glass-maker should apply through the Japanese legation at Washington, presenting his credentials.

Product and Appliances.

The special committee appointed by the Board of Fire Underwriters to investigate the fire hazard at Philadelphia, laid particular emphasis on sprinklers and wire glass.

It is evident that wire glass has come to be a necessity in up-to-date building construction, and we are not surprised to note its application to fire-revolving doors.

A window which is transparent and will not fall out to admit flame at a temperature of 3,000° F., is certainly sufficient to recommend this product, if nothing else does.

The fire-revolving door referred to last week, appears to meet a need in building of either hotels, residences or office buildings. In conjunction with the tower and spiral stairway, it cannot fail to appeal to the sound judgment of the architect, as well as the public generally. The Van Kammel Revolving Door Co., who are the manufacturers, will send descriptive literature to all who write them, at their New York offices, No. 50 West 67th st.

There is much misunderstanding about termite. This article will not dissolve or soften steel, as the public might gather from vague gossip. Some of the safes which aided to destroy the valuable papers at the Paterson fire might succumb to it, but it is scarcely fair to infer that Manganese steel, for instance, is not impervious to termite or any other "ite."

The potency of the carbon point in cutting steel is not a new thing, and it is a matter of question whether this invention or any other has thrown doubt on the reliability of safety deposit vaults.

Still another method of rendering wood fireproof. J. L. Ferrell is the inventor of a new chemical combination of aluminum sulphate and one other chemical which he claims will render wood fireproof. The other chemical is a residue of a carbonate decomposed "in the presence of the aluminum sulphate."

We shall be interested to learn that Mr. Ferrell is successful with his solution. We have been waiting long for his success in "heart treating" wood, and shall be pleased to learn that his patent cylinders force the solution to the inner fibres.

Building News.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

James Brown Lord is still confined to his home by sickness.

Lord & Hewlett's design for the proposed Philadelphia Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument has taken the first prize of $1,000.

John W. Rapp is fireproofing the 10-sty hotel at the south side of 45th st, west of 6th av, for which Geo. F. Pelham drew the plans. He is also fireproofing the 10-sty apartment house and hotel, on Broadway, between 94th and 95th sts. Ross & McNeil, architects.

Striking stonemasons are getting some surprises; one arises from the fact that some builders, rather than have their jobs tied up, are putting in brick foundations. This was noticed on a job on East 98th st, near 2d av, and is reported on a big operation on West 107th st. The result of this is that the strikers have the pleasure of watching bricklayers earn the money they would have earned had they not gone on strike.

George Burns, well-known in the mantel and tile trade, has organized a new company, the Burns Mantel and Tile Co., with offices and showroom at No. 1636 Broadway, near Halsey st, Brooklyn. The company will manufacture wood and slate mantels, structural slate-work, and lay tiling, having a large factory at Cooper st and Irving av. They are prepared to give estimates on this work. Telephone 334 East New York.

The United Board of Building Trades of New York and vicinity have adopted a constitution and by-laws, the principal feature of which is its arbitration clause. This clause provides that in cases where trade disputes arise between any of the affiliated unions and the employers the union involved in the dispute can ask for the appointment of a joint arbitration committee of employers and employes to settle the dispute. The constitution also recommends the affiliated unions to make yearly agreements with employers as the best guarantee against strikes.

The journeymen plumbers have at last got together, uniting as Local No. 2, of the United Association of Plumbers and Gas Fitters. At their meeting, held on the 16th inst., they voted to act as one body, doing away with the various councils, which were a feature of the old Brotherhood. The wage question is still unsettled, but many rumors are going around as to what will be asked, some going as high as $4.50. The Saturday half-holiday and the doing away with apprentices and also with juniors after a certain time, are features that are likely to be brought forward.

Legal Decisions.

Lease—by parol for one year, with privilege of another, void. A parol lease of real estate for a year, with the privilege of another year if the tenant so elects, is a hiring for more than a year, and is, therefore, void under the Real Property Law (L. 1896, ch. 547, sec. 207) because not in writing. (Hess v. Martin, 36 Misc., 541.)

Overflow of water not necessarily indicative of landlord's negligence—his liability for his tenant's acts. An overflow of water in a tenement house, injurious to personal property of the tenant of a lower floor, of itself establishes no cause of action in his favor against the landlord, as the tenant must also prove that the overflow was in some manner due to the landlord's negligence. Semble that, in the absence of notice, a landlord is not liable for negligent acts of his tenants, causing such overflow. (Becker v. Bullowa, 36 Misc., 524.)

Guaranty of rent—collateral or original undertaking. An undertaking to guarantee the payment of and to pay rent by one jointly interested with another in business on premises rented by the latter for the carrying on of such business, made at the time of and as a part of the general agreement between the parties for the renting of the premises, is an original undertaking and not within the Statute of Frauds as a promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another.

Lease—beginning in the future. A lease for one year to take effect in the future need not be in writing. (Ward v. Hasbrouck, 169 N. Y., Rep. 407).

Broker's commissions—when earned—a failure to consummate a loan because of a defect in the principal's title—it cannot be shown under a plea of performance—the rejection of the title by a title guaranty company is not proof of a defect therein. A broker employed to secure a loan upon real estate, who procures a person who stands ready and willing to make the loan upon the terms proposed, is entitled although the loan is not actually made, to recover his commissions, where it appears that the failure to consummate the loan is due to the act or misfortune of the principal and not to that of the broker. (Gatling v. Central Spar Verein, 67 App. Div., 50).

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 21, 22, 24, 25, 26 and 27.

*Editor Record and Guide:

The lien filed against the Nassau-Beekman Building, No. 140 Nassau St., New York, by the Hecla Iron Works is an attempt to compel the payment of an unjust claim by encumbering the property with a large lien in the hope that it will interfere with the plans of the owner and force him to settle. The lien will be bonded and the case will be fought out in the courts, when the real facts will be made to appear—that if the lienor has any claim at all it will not be in excess of Two Thousand Dollars.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The Attention of Architects, Builders, Owners and Managers of Hotels and Apartment Houses is called to the New York Telephone Company's

Private Branch Exchange System.

By means of a Private Branch Exchange city and long distance telephone service, as well as an interior service, are available to every apartment, at very moderate cost. Most people depend so much now-a-days on the telephone service that a Private Branch Exchange, connecting with the New York Telephone System, is practically a necessity in the Modern Apartment House or Hotel.

*Editor Record and Guide:

I see by the public records that a lien has been filed against me for $3,874 by Joseph Harter on account of a job on the corner of Smith and Warren Streets, Brooklyn. Mr. Harter has not finished his work that his contract calls for to date, and his lien so states, and in addition he has delayed me in the completion of the work. I have informed Mr. Harter that I am willing to pay him whatever is due him when he completes his work, and I am ready to stand by that offer.

Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors, and altogether it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable in character.

WITH SUPPLEMENT.

Every subscriber of the Record and Guide should receive with the issue of this date a supplement describing the present status of apartment house building in New York City, and comparing the latest types of New York apartment houses with those erected in London and Paris.

THERE has been an increase of activity in the Stock Market and some more commission business has been attracted by the sensational movements of certain issues. The transactions have a larger element of gambling in them than ever, and, while it is apparently in the power of a clique with money to put up any stock they choose, people who do not want to take risks of carrying stocks through a break will do well to consider the matter carefully before they embark on little speculative ventures. Generalized, the situation invites new operations, but when it comes to particularizing a quite serious difficulty arises. Take the independent and Vanderbilt Northwesterns, for instance. Should anyone be attracted by their recent sensational advances what assurance has he got from the crowd of known gamblers who are said to be engineering this movement from Chicago that there is anything in it but a pool operation to make a scoop. As for the general business situation, that remains unimpaired. In all staple lines steadiness and strength are the predominant features. Money eased off somewhat owing to increased supplies. Sterling continues high and firm. The arguments in favor of higher prices for listed securities are also unchanged. Epitomized, they amount to this: As everything comes up in Spring, why not the prices of stocks?

MAYOR LOW has been complaining about those provisions of the new charter which tie his hands in exercising any effective control over city employees. Whenever an office is abolished the incumbent must receive a preferred place on the waiting list, and the consequence is that the heads of departments are obliged to take back into other positions men whose offices have been abolished and who may be entirely unsuited to the work. This provision of the new charter undoubtedly tends to be destructive of any real departmental discipline. Its obvious purpose is to secure permanency of official employment and to protect under-officials from discharge for political purposes; but, however laudable this purpose may be, the tendency of civil service reformers has been to push means to this end altogether too far. The primary object of all civil-service rules is to secure administrative efficiency; and nothing is more destructive of such efficiency than to make the minor officials largely or wholly independent of their superiors. As long as a man can keep his office under any circumstances, unless guilty of serious fault, he is not likely to over-exert himself in his work or to carry out loyally the designs of his superiors. There can be no efficiency in administration without the possession of disciplinary powers on the part of heads of departments. This is the trouble with the police force at the present time. It is practically independent of the Commissioner, so long as it cannot be convicted of actually disobeying the laws, and the consequence is that it persistently and systematically ignores the wishes and policy of the administration. According to the Mayor, the same thing is also happening in the other departments, and he has a right to complain of it. His power of dismissing heads of departments is worthless as long as these chiefs are themselves unable to secure responsible and faithful subordinates. This question of municipal employment in all its branches is one which has not as yet begun to be satisfactorily solved in this city, and the civil-service reformers make as fundamental an error in their way as Tammany does in its way.

Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities.

THE question of municipal ownership of street railways, gas and electric lighting has just been submitted to the voters of Chicago, with results that are surprising and encouraging to the rapidly increasing number of economists who believe in that policy. More than 150,000 people recorded their votes in favor of municipal ownership, and only 25,000 voted against it. The city is not committed to anything by the issue of the referendum, for the vote was taken only for the purpose of testing public opinion; but as long as the majority in favor of city ownership was so overwhelming, it is extremely probable that measures will be taken to make the popular verdict effective. If such measures are taken, we shall have another illustration of the enterprising readiness of Chicago to apply new and useful ideas. In this respect the Western Metropolis is far ahead of New York. It is already trying with some success a system of registering land titles, and should it try municipal ownership of public utilities also, it will have taken its place in the front rank of American cities who are progressive, not only in population, but in ideas.

There can be no doubt that a city which is willing to face, if necessary, the ways and means of municipal ownership is in a much better business situation than a city which is afraid of such an alternative. By this statement we are far from meaning that it is better for New York or any other municipality to adopt municipal ownership under any event. On the contrary, the system of private operation, if not ownership, has distinct advantages. But the great difficulty is that a city which is not prepared, if necessary, to construct and operate street railways, electric light plants and the like is utterly unable to get from private corporations terms which represent the full value of such privileges. The capitalists who undertake these enterprises have been accustomed to making profits out of all proportion to the money invested in them and the risk they involve; and municipal officials who are negotiating with such capitalists are quite unable to get full value for the city's property, unless they are able to threaten, as an alternative to a bad bargain, exclusive municipal ownership and operation. The threat should be seriously made. It is always possible to calculate roughly what a given franchise is worth, and if no private capital is ready to come forward and pay that value in full, the city should be in a position legally and mentally to go ahead on its own account.

The lease of the New York Subway, now under construction, is a case in point. The Rapid Transit Commission undoubtedly secured the best terms that it could from private capitalists, for such capitalists were not willing to embark on the work unless they could see ahead of them a large profit. But at the same time the bargain was undoubtedly a very bad one for the city. During the whole term of the lease it will not receive more than the interest on the cost of construction and enough added to pay off the bonds when they mature. Perhaps this is all the Subway will be worth during the first five years or more of its operation; but by the time Washington Heights and the Bronx are well settled it is obvious that the value of the Subway will be enormously increased, and that this increase will go exclusively into the treasury of the Subway Co. The recently completed Metropolitan Railway in Paris is already earning ten per cent. for the operating company under conditions in many respects less favorable to it than those which the New York company enjoys. The city of New York would undoubtedly have made a better bargain if the Rapid Transit Commission had been able and willing to reject all the bids and undertake the operation as well as the construction of the system of rapid underground transit.

The Record and Guide does not call attention to this matter for the purpose of fruitlessly criticizing accomplished facts. The Subway contract will be a gold mine to New York compared to the street railway, gas and electric lighting franchises. But the important consideration is that New York is only beginning the construction of its system of underground transit, and it is essential that any other subways which are constructed by the city should not be leased to private companies except on very much better terms. In a short time the Brooklyn tunnel will be offered for lease, and in the course of a few years other extensions will follow. One of the daily papers is already agitating for an East Side Subway, an addition to the system which cannot be long postponed. In case of all these extensions the city should get better terms than it did for that portion of the system now under construction; and in case private capital refuses to offer such terms the threat of municipal ownership should be used, and, if occasion arises, be carried into action. The same is true with all street railway franchises. It is only by such drastic measures that private capital can be taught that the profits made by the Metropolitan Street Railway consolidation and the like are things of the past. There are enough street railway millionaires in this city and country now. New York should do nothing more to add to their number.

THE Tribune has begun agitating for an East Side tunnel, to run up either Madison or Lexington avenues, and to connect with the Subway in the Bronx. Moreover, it has secured a statement from William Barclay Parsons that the Rapid Transit Commission will take the matter up as soon as it has finished with the preliminary work on the Brooklyn tunnel. Upon the necessity of such a tunnel there can be no doubt, both for the accommodation of the vast numbers of people domiciled east of the Park and for that of the inhabitants of large sections of the Bronx. But it is obvious that no such improvements are possible as long as the present constitutional debt limit remains unchanged, and it is just as well for people, who are very much interested in costly changes in transit routes, to begin their agitation with an attempt to remove the present unscientific and burdensome restriction upon the power of New York city to borrow money for the purpose of providing profitable and desirable public improvements.

The Real Estate Situation

The most prominent and interesting fact about the real estate market during the past three months is that more activity has taken place than during any corresponding quarter in the history of New York real estate. Such is the testimony of the transfers recorded in the Register's office. It is true that these records represent rather the transactions of the last month of 1901 and the first two months of 1902 than they do those of the first quarter of 1902; but as the filings at the Register's office are the only means of obtaining any figures which cover the total transactions for a definite period we have to use them for what they are worth. These figures show that during the past three months there have been 4,455 conveyances recorded, involving the sum of $43,752,339, while during the same period of the year previous there were only 4,050 conveyances recorded, involving $37,224,801. But the figures for this year are not only much in advance of the very large totals of 1901, but they are also greater than those of the year, which marked the high-water mark of activity in New York real estate. Thus in the whole twelve months of 1890 there were 15,857 transfers placed on record, which was a larger number than has been reached in any subsequent year, but the total for the first quarter of 1890 was only 3,540, which is about 900 less than the similar total for the present year. It should be added, however, that for some reason there was a smaller proportional activity during the first quarter of 1890 than there has been during the corresponding period of many subsequent years of comparative dullness, for the number of conveyances recorded during the first three months of 1897 was 4,025, involving $35,802,985; during the first three months of 1898, 4,143, involving $27,634,948; during the first three months of 1899, 3,902, involving $42,877,600; and during the first three months of 1900, 3,781, involving $30,718,502. The highest of these totals, however, is at least ten per cent. less than those of the present year, which are also some six per cent. greater than the totals of 1901. These figures have, of course, been very much swollen by purchases made by corporations for the sake of transit improvements. Indeed, probably two-thirds of the increase, both in the number of conveyances and the amount involved, can be traced directly to such purchases. The New York Central, for instance, has taken title to 55 parcels, for which it paid $2,813,750; while the Stuyvesant Realty Co. has acquired possession of fully three times as many lots in its particular district. Yet even after making all allowances for these special causes the activity has been most unusual, and all the more so because many departments of trading, which formerly contributed a large number of transactions to the totals have been very largely neglected during the past three months. It is this fact which provides a satisfactory assurance that when the influences behind the existing activity lose their force there will be others to take their place. A financial writer in one of the daily papers, in referring to the presnt speculative boom in real estate all over the country, has predicted that it foreshadows the end of the existing period of prosperity. Well, perhaps it does; but so far as New York is concerned, there are local improvements now under way and nearing completion which, whatever the course of general business, will have a profoundly and lastingly stimulating effect upon real estate and building transactions. We refer, of course, to the various transit improvements, which, beginning with the Subway, will be completed during the next six years, and which will cause redistributions of business and population of the greatest importance,

Real Estate in 1902.

The building figures for the first three months of 1902 do not make as good a showing as do the conveyances, There have been filed during that period for Manhattan and the Bronx plans for 396 buildings, to be erected at an estimated cost of $19,832,879; against 684 buildings, estimated to cost $29,406,975, during the corresponding period in 1901. This is a decrease of fully 42 per cent. in the number of buildings called for, and of 32 per cent. in their estimated cost. It will be noticed also that the average cost of each building has increased from about $43,000 to $50,100. Much of this increase in the cost per building must be attributed to the diminished filings of tenement houses and the increased cost of those which were filed. The increased cost of each building becomes still more considerable and remarkable when the figures for Manhattan are separated from those of the Bronx. The number of buildings for which plans were filed in Manhattan alone is only 187 during the present year, against 429 for the same period of the previous year. This is a decrease of no less than 54 per cent. in number, while the decrease in estimated cost remains at about the same figure as it does for the two boroughs together. The consequence is that the average cost of each building erected in Manhattan is $98,700 during the present year, against $63,100 during the year previous. These figures are in themselves a sufficient explanation of the increased part which corporations are playing in New York real estate. When building transactions in Manhattan call for such increasingly large sums of money for each operation, nothing is more natural that there should be some attempt made to distribute by means of a corporate organization the risk involved in these undertakings. The reasons for the great falling off in the figures from those of the first quarter of 1901 have been frequently explained. The decrease is marked in almost every kind of building except in those broadly classed as mercantile. There have been plans filed for 43 warehouses, lofts and factories to be erected at an estimated cost of $5,053,000. The amount these buildings will cost is about 28 per cent of the total amount of money called for by the plans filed in Manhattan, which is a proportion absolutely unprecedented in the previous history of the city. Of course this large percentage is as much due to a certain amount of dullness in other branches of building as it is to a peculiar activity in erecting mercantile structures; but the positive activity in mercantile building is unusually great, and is caused by the imperative demands of the current business prosperity, which is the most wholesome influence in the real estate market of to-day. During the corresponding period of 1901 there were plans filed for only 30 mercantile buildings, estimated to cost $4,195,000, which was only about 16 per cent. of the gross sum called for by the plans filed.

Building in 1902.

The other important and unusual branch of building operations is the continued planning of apartment hotels. There is not only not a decrease in the number of these hotels for which plans are being recorded, but there is even an increase. In 1901 plans were filed for 46 hotels of all kinds, estimated to cost $20,374,000, and of these all but six were apartment hotels. But of these 46 the plans of eight of them only were recorded during the first quarter, and these eight were estimated to cost $3,640,000. On the other hand, during the first quarter of the present year plans have been recorded for fifteen apartment hotels to be erected at an estimated cost of $5,290,000, so that if the same rate is maintained throughout the year, there will be a large number of these buildings started in 1902 than there were in 1901. Moreover it is probable that the same rate will be maintained, because every week there are announcements made of the proposed erection of several buildings of this character. Doubtless one reason builders and building loan operators are encouraged to put money in these buildings is the ease with which they can find lessees. In the past two weeks leases have been announced or recorded for six of these buildings, and presumably the tenants are responsible people. As to the localities in which the movement is taking place, the Long Acre square district continues to maintain its pre-eminence. Of the 15 plans filed this year seven are for buildings situated in that section, while of the rest four are situated on the West Side, two along the line of 5th avenue, and two on the upper West Side. Of late two very favorite sections for operations of this character are in the thirties, near 5th avenue, and along 7th avenue in the fifties. The second of these districts continues to be one of the most progressive in the city. Prices have advanced thereabouts considerably during the past year, and a systematic attempt will be made to improve the character of some of the streets thereabouts chiefly by the erection of apartment hotels. It may be noticed, in conclusion, that the hotels and the mercantile buildings together account for three-fifths of the Manhattan buildings for which plans have been filed during the first quarter of 1902. The filings of tenements, apartment-houses and dwellings do not together repesent the expenditure of $4,000,000.

IN the foreign markets the only spots attracting the eye are those in which Government bonds and Kaffirs are to the fore. The first are strong on a moderate advance for the week and the over-subscription of the new Russian loan at Berlin reveals clearly the nature of the investment tendency of the moment. As to gold shares, the best financial journals are warning the public to beware of the promoter-shark. For example, the London "Economist" has a special commissioner on the grounds who is very frank about the nature of the South African gold fields, and who describes actual conditions as follows: "The Transvaal has been prospected over and over again from one end to the other, and no payable patches of ore are known to exist which have not already been worked for years. There are hundreds of reefs all over the country—banket reefs, or any other variety you fancy—but they are no good. Not only are they unpayable, but no sophistry can make them anything else. They might get dynamite for nothing, and be relieved from all the other oppressions of the 'corrupt oligarchy,' and still they would be unpayable. The mining industry was not in a languishing state before the war; it was working at full pressure. The rich mines then were making practically as big profits as they ever will, and the poor mines were doing just as well as poor mines do in any other country. Even on the Rand there are big stretches of ground that never have paid, and much of this ground can never be worked at a profit. There are no new mines or new districts in the Transvaal. There is the 40-mile stretch of the Witwatersrand—half of which is unpayable—and its deep levels, and there are the half dozen outside mines—just as there used to be. The investor or the ordinary speculator must not leave these areas—let the promoter rage ever so furiously; if he does, he simply throws away his money."

IT seems that we have been indulging in rather extravagant notions of the encouragement given by the building trade to the growth and development of the steel industry in the form of orders for structural steel. Structural steel does not cut much figure in the total of production given out by the American Iron and Steel Association. According to these figures, 10,188,329 gross tons of steel were produced in 1900, of which only 815,161 tons were structural shapes, and this included shapes going into bridges and miscellaneous purposes, estimated at about one-half, and thereby bringing the steel that goes into buildings down to about five per cent. only of the total production.

OWING to technical defects the bill intended to change the time for paying taxes, with the object of placing the finances of the city on a sensible and business basis, had to be returned by Mayor Low without his approval. The much-desired reform sought to be obtained by this bill is therefore postponed for another year. The action of the Mayor was unavoidable, because the Corporation Counsel, when consulted, would not give assurance that the validity of the tax levy of 1902 would not be doubted if the bill became a law. It seems that this outcome is primarily due to a failure to consult the Tax Department on the terms of the bill before its passage. This is unfortunate and shows the need of securing the collective opinion of all departments affected by city bills before they are sent up to Albany. In this case, because of a failure to do this, a most creditable effort to make a saving equal to one or two per cent. of the total budget has turned out to be what can only be termed a lamentable fiasco.

Dealers at Dinner.

SECOND BANQUET OF THE DEALERS IN MASONS' BUILDING MATERIALS.

The banquet by which the Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Materials celebrated the fact that they had passed their second birthday safely, with no more than the complaints natural to youth, which took place at the Cafe Martin Wednesday night, was a very successful affair. The dinner was all that could be desired, the speeches were bright and entertaining, and were interspersed with song, company singing and the excellent performances of the Metropolitan Quartette. The dinner committee, John B. Rose, John A. Philbrick and J. D. Crary, richly deserved the hearty vote of thanks they got before the proceedings closed. Wright D. Goss presided with his customary tact and urbanity, and carried the function through without a hitch of any kind. He had with him at the guests' table: Richard S. White, President of the N. Y. Lumber Trade Association; De Witt C. Overbaugh, President, Building Material Exchange; W. K. Hammond, President, Brick Manufacturers' Association; Robert Main, President, Manufacturers' and Agents' Consolidated Brick Association; Wm. A. Sayward, Secretary National Association of Builders; James J. Larkin, President Contractors' Protective Association.

There were present, in addition to the President and guests, besides some whose names we failed to obtain, the following: John J. Bell, R. R. Latourette, Orrin D. Person, Paul Pfotenhauer, Wm. H. Nesbit, Nathan Peck, John A. Philbrick, Nathaniel Wise, Aaron E. Aldridge, Wm. H. Barnes, C. Clayton Bourne, H. J. Jova, John J. King, John C. McNamara, Theodore G. Peck, John B. Rose, Geo. S. Shultz, Edwin Terry, Frank L. Holmes, Uriah F. Washburn, Wm. H. Edsall, Clayton S. Goss, Willis J. Barto, Jos. M. Philbrick, Jas. Holmes, H. H. Barnard, Wm. J. Fowler, Wm. J. Peck, Alexander Rose, Wm. K. Hammond, Jr., Harold Hammond, Denton Fowler, Jr., Lenox S. Rose, Jos. H. Rose, Frederick A. Rose, Robert T. Boyd, Isaac M. Purdy and J. D. Crary.

President Goss, in leading the oratory, said: "It is again my pleasure to welcome the members of the association and their guests at a banquet, and in doing so it is not my intention to make any extended remarks. For the benefit, however, of those of our guests who may not know the facts, I think it incumbent upon me to state briefly what are the purposes of this organization of dealers in masons' building materials. As it was the time for organization, it seemed necessary for us to organize, and this was done two years ago. The organization, I may say, includes practically all the dealers in masons' building materials in this city. Its purpose is by mutual understanding to put the business on a basis fair to our customers and to ourselves. We have done a good deal in removing difficulties that stood in the way of this. While this is the case, we are still far from perfection; still we are not happy; there are some things still wanting. The reason for this can be easily found. I think in order to make this organization effective the line of policy adopted must be supported by all the members. Without that the efforts of the association will not be effective; its usefulness will be marred by the defection of even one or two of its members. I am sorry to say that there has not been entire harmony in the organiztion, and we have, therefore, not been able to accomplish all that we desire. We have been able to accomplish some things, but the benefits that we ought to be able to measure in dollars and cents are not all that we ought to expect. Among the friends with us to-night is the President of a kindred organization large enough and strong enough to initiate legislation for building up the depleted forests of the country, and in that way continue their business and hand it down unimpaired to their heirs and successors. At the rate the building material men are depleting their clay banks, unless they can do something to conserve or renew them, they will have nothing to hand down, and their heirs and successors will have to find something else to make money out of. The officers of the association are doing all they can to benefit the whole trade, but without the unanimous support of the members their efforts can be only partially successful. I sincerely trust that in the future we will have harmony and the kind of success that is marked by satisfactory financial balances."

Richard S. White said that lately he was present at a dinner given at Newburg, where, while one gentleman was speaking, the electric lights went out and they had to resort to gas. The chairman introduced the next speaker by saying: "Gentlemen, we have had one orator who extinguished the electric lights; I now introduce one who will put out the gas." He had almost hoped that two such speakers would have preceded him on this occasion, and it would not then have been necessary for him to speak. Still he did not hesitate to say that he was a great believer in organized effort. Last spring and recently he had had quite a little to do in endeavoring to secure something in the way of remedial amendments to the Tenement House Law, and the lack of organized effort on the part of business men in protecting or supporting their interests was then brought very strongly before his observation. He found there arrayed against his almost individual effort on one particular amendment desired to secure for the Brooklyn building interest something they were entitled to, the entire power and force of the city government and the philanthropic sentiment reinforced by newspapers of the metropolis. He managed to secure the reporting of the bill he wanted, but unfortunately the Legislature changed their minds a day or two before adjourning, and the bill was lost. He then realized the want of associated effort. There ought to be organizations in trades and federations of business men's associations. He judged from what the President had said that their association had not been as harmonious as it should have been in the years past. That he regretted. Every member should regard every subject brought up for discussion from the broadest point of view, and should discard all narrow views. Only in such a way could any association be fostered and carried along the lines that would bring profit to its members. In conclusion, he hoped that whatever differences they had among them would be reconciled before long, and in all honest endeavors promised them the hearty support of the New York Lumber Trade Association.

W. K. Hammond delivered a brilliant address, having for its subject harmony of effort supported by friendship and honesty. In the course of his address he said that while the brick manufacturers were not selling a great deal, they were, as a result of their fidelity to their organization, making a fair profit on what they were selling.

De Witt C. Overbaugh was equally eloquent. He pointed out that they could not expect pecuniary success while they delivered goods at less than cost. If they sold brick at less than the brick manufacturers' prices, and cartage and cement at 80c. that cost 75c., where would they come out at the end of the year? "Let us," he said, "get together like men of sense and not be a public crib from which everyone can feed. The builders are getting all the benefit of our work, while we charge off to profit and loss. Why not get together and charge proper prices that will give us fair profits? If the manufacturers and dealers will only get together in harmony prosperity will surely come to us all."

President Goss here interjected a few remarks in favor of their customers and friends, the builders, who, he said, did not desire that they should do business unprofitably. All the builders wanted was that each should be treated in a fair way and all on an equality.

Wm. H. Sayward urged the association not to be discouraged because they had not reached perfection in the short space of two years. It was by discords that they discovered their errors. It seemed to him that the remedy for their immediate trouble lay in the hands of the brick-makers; it was that the disloyal should have no brick. Going into the general question of trade organizations, he said the workmen offered the best example to the employers. The latter would give neither the time nor money necessary to make their organizations properly effective. Speaking of the workmen engaged in the building trades, he found that each of their organizations held at least one meeting in each week of each year, and a governing committee another meeting a week. This was 104 meetings a year. Every workman gave from $15 to $20 a year to his union. Among the employers it was difficult to get them to attend association meetings, and equally difficult to get them to contribute anything for associated work. The result was that the employers, when brought up against the trained forces of the workmen in any fight, were not in a condition to meet them.

President Goss said he did not want it to be understood that they were feeling depressed because results had not been all that were hoped for. The organization had already had much success, but these results could be improved upon, particularly from the pecuniary point of view, if the membership was more harmonious.

Robert Main testified to the value of united action. He pointed out that for want of it the building material business lacked that success that was found in other lines. In the 24 years he had been in it, he never had heard of any of its members retiring on profits made in the business, although such an enormous amount of building had been done in that time. They had made a living, but no progress beyond that.

The thanks of the company were extended to the Dinner Committee, and acknowledged by J. D. Crary.

John Bell made the final, though not the least interesting, speech. He gave some interesting figures to show the extent of the business they were engaged in, and on which he based a plea for agreement on prices, and to reduce the cost of cartage, clerical hire, storage, etc. He said that in Manhattan and the Bronx, 500,000,000 brick were consumed in the course of the year, which, at 50c. above cost, should net them $250,000 a year; 2,000,000 of barrel goods out to net 10c. a barrel, or $200,000 a year; a reasonable profit on other stuff would amount to $100,000 a year more; the saving through consolidation, in cartage, reduced clerical force, places of deposit and delivery should amount to $150,000 a year more. These were low figures. Altogether they might safely reckon on annual profits of from $700,000 to $800,000. "What," he asked, "do we make to-day; what are the estimated profits of our business? From $200,000 to $250,000. We have need to get together."

The Taxpayers' Alliance.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Taxpayers' Alliance of the Borough of the Bronx, at Alliance Hall, on Wednesday evening, much interest was manifested about the charter for the new street trolley lines throughout the Borough. A committee was appointed to see if the company was in earnest to begin the roads. A time limit was suggested to be applied by the Board of Aldermen who have yet to grant the franchise; also the compensation on gross receipts when completed. As many of the streets through which the roads are to be built are not yet open or graded, there may be much delay about the construction. It was proposed that at least seven miles of the line should be completed and in operation each year until all is completed. A large delegation was suggested to accompany the committee to appear before the Mayor on Tuesday to urge his approval of the Hennessey bill for reduction of interest on assessments from seven to six per cent. per annum. The Mayor and Comptroller are now against the reduction, but are open to conviction. The trouble with the proposed reduction heretofore has been that it applied to taxes as well as assessments. This bill now only applies to assessments for local improvements which are paid for by the individual property benefited along the lines.

The property-owners in cities of the second-class and in villages have only to pay five per cent. interest on such improvements, where the expense is much less than in New York City. It would seem but fair and an inducement to have local improvements made to have the rate of interest as low as can be consistent without loss to the city. Improvements increase the taxable value of all property.

The Proposed Change in the Tax Paying Plan.

The bill passed by the Legislature of this year to change the date of paying taxes in this city in order, in the course of a few years, to relieve the city from the necessity of borrowing money for current expenses, will be returned without the approval of Mayor Law, and is, therefore, dead. It appears that the bill was so technically defective that this became necessary, or it might have jeopardized the 1902 collection of taxes. Since its passage the bill was examined by the Tax Department, who found it objectionable because it did not give time enough from any date at which it could become law to properly make the assessment for 1903 and at the same time carry on the work of the department necessary to the levy of the taxes for 1902. The objections raised were submitted to the Corporation Counsel, who, in concluding an opinion, said: "The question of the validity of the tax roll of 1902 is one of momentous importance. It would be unfortunate if even a doubt of its validity existed. Inasmuch as the act repeals the existing provision for levying and collecting the taxes of 1902 and substitutes another provision applicable to the current year, I am unable to say that reasonable doubts would not exist if the bill should become a law in its present form."

Paving—Municipal Administration.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A resolution to pave 139th st, between Lenox and 7th avs, was adopted by the Municipal Assembly-Council, Oct. 8, 1901; Aldermen, Oct. 22, 1901, and approved by Mayor Van Wyck, Oct. 29, 1901. About Dec. 13, 1901, Commissioner Keating apparently had contract for work awarded. Property-owners have heard nothing of the matter since. Inquired lately at City Hall, and were told that resolution would not be considered, and it would be necessary to renew petition for work to be done. Can the present administration thus cancel the acts of late administration?

Answer.—I do not think it has a right to do so, and, in my opinion, a writ of mandamus directed to the proper officer would lie.—Law Editor.

The Lawyers' Title Insurance Company of this city have added to their business a survey and engineering department, of which, after May 1st next, P. Elbert Nostrand, C. E. and C. S., will be the manager. The addition of this branch to their business will, no doubt, prove a great convenience to owners of real estate in general, as it will afford them at all times facilities for having their properties surveyed by competent and experienced experts. The general business of the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company has grown to such large proportions as to demand the necessity of their taking a large amount of increased space in their own building, at 37-39 Liberty st, for facilitating the conduct of their business.

The World of Building

Material Market.

The various markets in building materials are increasing in activity as the spring advances. Supplies are generally good and building construction is progressing on every hand without hindrance from tardiness of deliveries except in rare instances. These instances are in the deliveries of structural steel, which can well be accounted for by the overwhelming demand.

IRON AND STEEL.

Orders for pig iron have not been as plentiful during the past week as for some weeks previously, and prices have not advanced. Consumers are prepared to wait rather than risk placing orders for future delivery, being well covered for present requirements.

Reports from Pittsburg say that production of pig iron is very large at present, because there is little or no difficulty in obtaining coke.

Prices of steel billets are firm, although there is not any special demand. Wire rods are firm at $36, and even higher. Some producers are said to be cutting the prices of iron bars, and it is expected that $1.80 will not stand very long.

In New York next week it is anticipated that Charles M. Schwab will meet the builders who represent the Iron Contracting Co. regarding the erection of St. Thomas' Roman Catholic Church, at Buffalo. President Schwab gives $65,000 towards the erection of this church.

TIN AND LEAD.

The recent sudden advance in pig tin was only temporary New arrivals effected the decline. Business is by no means brisk, and jobbers' prices are about same as before. Straits pig in small lots is quoted at 27½c. to 28c. per lb. There is very little doing in pig lead, and American pig is quoted in small lots at about 4.45c. to 4½c. per lb.

COPPER.

There is not much business being transacted, and wholesale prices have fallen slightly. Retail prices remain firm and unchanged. Lake ingot is quoted at 13¼c. to 13¾c. per lb., and casting copper at 13c. to 13¼c. Although the demand for sheet copper is considered good, buyers are cautious, and taking only what they need. The basis is 18c. per lb. at the store.

A rich copper vein has been discovered 65 miles from Carlsbad, N. M. The assay showed 23½ per cent. six feet from the surface. The same result averaged over 5,000 feet.

BRICK.

There is no change to report in prices of brick. Business is very brisk, and large supplies are being brought down the river. Manufacturers are concerning themselves principally about next year's supplies, and vieing with one another to make a record for their products.

D. A. Perkins, lately with the Brooklyn Firebrick Works, has resigned to associate himself with the firm of Newton & Perkins, firebrick makers at Albany, N. Y.

WINDOW GLASS.

Consumers are urgent in their demands for window glass, and jobbers will undoubtedly combine for another advance in prices very shortly. Their stocks are much reduced, and the meeting they intend having on Tuesday next is principally with a view to supplies in the immediate future from the manufacturers.

Notwithstanding the announcement that the joint order from the jobbers would be 1,000,000 boxes, the manufacturers declare that it will not exceed 500,000 boxes. The Independent Glass Co. are adverse to an advance in manufacturers' prices, and say that such a move is next to impossible because of the large stocks of glass "held in the warehouses."

The formation of the Window Glass Manufacturers' Co-operative Federation at Pittsburg will add greatly to the strength of the Jobbers' Association, and those who know say that it greatly increases the chances of a sharp advance at the meeting of the jobbers next week in New York. A charter has been applied for in New Jersey for the new Federation, and the capitalization is $600,000.

LUMBER.

With the advance of spring the demand becomes stronger generally, and advances in some directions have been necessary. Cypress finds many buyers at an advance of $1.00 to $1.50, and there is no present prospect of a reduction in these figures. Spruce is in good demand, and prices are firm, although supplies are good. Spruce lath is in demand at $3.75 per thousand.

Prices of North Carolina pine are firm, and the demand is strong. There is a large demand for hemlock at $16 base. Yellow pine is in demand, and prices are firm; 260 million feet have been bought in the Southern pine belt by the American Car and Foundry Co. and the Pullman Car Co., and 25 million feet by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

The advances ordered by the Northwestern Cedarmen's Association recently were: 1 cent on 5 to 7-inch 7-foot posts; ½-cent on 3-inch rounds, 7-foot; 1½ cents on 4 to 6-inch rounds, 7-foot; 2 cents on 7-inch; 5 cents on 8-inch; 2 cents on all 8-foot lengths, except the 8-inch, which are advanced 5 cents; 10-foot lengths were advanced 3 and 5 cents; 12-foot lengths, 3 cents; 14 and 16-foot lengths, 3 cents, except 5-inch; 14, 18 and 20-foot lengths, 5 cents. Telegraph poles were raised 5 cents, and piling 1 cent. Extra shingles were raised 15 cents, and standards 10 cents.

There will be a large gathering of Texas lumbermen at Houston April 8, 9 and 10. The association has several hundred members, and special rates are arranged for by the railroads. The meeting will combine business and pleasure.

Jerry Whalen, of I. T. Williams & Sons, of New York, was in Cincinnati recently on his way south, where he has been looking after lumber stocks.

The Railroad Commission will hold a meeting May 1, at Tallahassee, Fla., to revise and amend lumber rates in carload lots.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.

While business is daily improving, it is not considered brisk. "The flood tide in the paint trade is about two or three months off," said the manager of a large manufacturer, "but we are prepared for all demands." Prices are firm, without prospects of advance. Linseed oil is in fair demand, and prices are unchanged.

The Paint, Oil and Varnish Club held its eighteenth dinner on Thursday last, the 3d inst., at The Arena, New York City. The reception committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dohse, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Peters, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Lucas. Officers for the ensuing year were nominated. The members and ladies adjourned to the Herald Square Theatre at 8.15.

Charles W. Link has been appointed receiver for the Standard Litharge Manufacturing Co. by Judge Gildersleeve.

Those interested in the manufacture of paints, etc., are invited to inspect one of the newest vacuum drying machines of Alexr. P. Mende, in operation at 536 West 14th st, New York.

Products of a clay which will withstand any acids and the extremes of heat and cold, are on exhibition at the office of F. Behrend, 54 Front st.

The president of the J. R. Alsing Co., 73 Guernsey st, Brooklyn, Mr. R. F. Abbe, sailed for Europe on Thursday last on the "Savoie," for a trip on business and pleasure combined.

In the report of the meeting held in the Bureau of Buildings last week, we quoted Wm. J. Fryer as witnessing a test of fireproof wood on Long Island where the treated wood burned as rapidly as the untreated wood. Mr. Fryer informs us that he did not witness the test we refer to, but another one in New Jersey, where the facts were as he stated.

The Amended Tenement House Law.

AS IT READS NOW GOVERNOR ODELL HAS SIGNED THE BILL PASSED LAST WEEK.

Below will be found the Tenement House Law, with the exceptions afterwards noted, as it reads, now the Governor has signed the Kelsey bill, passed last week, and to which reference was made in our last issue. The manner of its compilation was simply the rejection of the amended sections from the old law now superceded, and the substitution for them of the sections as they are made to read by the amendatory act. The unamended sections are retained in order to preserve continuity and to make reference easier, because many of the unamended sections and the amended sections require to be read together. In referring to the law as given below, the following facts should be borne in mind:

The amended sections are: Sections 11, 12, 13, 15, 16, 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 24, 26, 27, 28, 32, 33, 34, 51, 52, 53, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 64, 71, 72, 74, 77, 78, 79, 80, 83, 91, 92, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 106, 112—in all 48 sections.

Section 113 is repealed.

Section 77a is new.

The sections not specifically mentioned above are unchanged. Of these Sections 121 to 165, inclusive, it was not thought necessary to reprint below, because they remain in their entirety and no new matter interferes with their sequence or order. They comprise Chapter 5, Remedies; Title I., General Powers and Duties; Title II., Registry of Names and Service of Papers; Title III., Prostitution in Tenement Houses; Chapter VI., General Provisions.

CHAPTER I.

Definitions.

Section 1. Short title and application.—This act may be cited as the Tenement House Act, and its provisions shall apply to cities of the first class.

§ 2. Definitions.—Certain words used in this act are defined for the purposes thereof as follows:

(1) A tenement house is any house or building, or portion thereof, which is rented, leased, let or hired out, to be occupied, or is occupied, as the home or residence of three families or more living independently of each other, and doing their cooking upon the premises, or by more than two families upon any floor, so living and cooking, but having a common right in the halls, stairways, yards, water-closets or privies, or some of them.

(2) A yard is an open unoccupied space on the same lot with a tenement house, between the extreme rear line of the house and the rear line of the lot.

(3) A court is an open unoccupied space, other than a yard, on the same lot with a tenement house. A court not extending to the street or yard is an inner court. A court extending to the street or yard is an outer court. If it extends to the street it is a street court. If it extends to the yard it is a yard court.

(4) A shaft includes exterior and interior shafts, whether for air, light, elevator, dumb-waiter, or any other purpose. A vent shaft is one used solely to ventilate or light a water-closet compartment or bathroom.

(5) A public hall is a hall, corridor or passageway not within an apartment.

(6) A stair hall includes the stairs, stair landings and those portions of the public halls through which it is necessary to pass in going between the entrance floor and the roof.

(7) A basement is a story partly but not more than one-half below the level of the curb.

(8) A cellar is a story more than one-half below the level of the curb.

(9) A fireproof tenement house is one the walls of which are constructed of brick, stone, iron or other hard incumbustible material, and in which there are no wood beams or lintels, and in which the floors, roofs, stair halls and public halls are built entirely of brick, stone, iron or other hard incumbustible material, and in which no woodwork or other inflammable material is used in any of the partitions, furrings or ceilings. But this definition shall not be construed as prohibiting, elsewhere than in the stair halls or entrance halls, the use of wooden flooring on top of the fireproof floors or the use of wooden sleepers, nor as prohibiting wooden handrails and hardwood treads such as described in section eighteen of this act.

(10) The word shall is always mandatory, and not directory, and denotes that the house shall be maintained in all respects according to the mandate, as long as it continues to be a tenement house.

(11) Wherever the words, charter, ordinances, regulations, department of buildings, department of health, department of water supply, fire department, corporation counsel, city treasury, or fire limits occur in this act they shall be construed as if followed by the words "of the city in which the tenement house is situated."

§ 3. Buildings converted or altered.—A building not erected for use as a tenement house, if hereafter converted or altered to such use, shall thereupon become subject to all the provisions of this act affecting tenement houses hereafter erected.

§ 4. Buildings in process of erection.—A tenement house not now completed, but upon which work has been actually commenced, after approval of the plans therefor by the department of buildings, shall be subject only to the provisions of this act affecting now-existing tenement houses.

CHAPTER II.

Protection from Fire.

TITLE I.

Provisions Applicable Only to Tenement Houses Hereafter Erected.

§ 11. Fireproof tenements, when required.—Every tenement house hereafter erected exceeding six stories or parts of stories, in height above the curb level, shall be a fireproof tenement house, nor shall any tenement house be altered so as to exceed such height without being made a fireproof tenement house. A cellar the ceiling of which does not extend more than two feet above the curb level is not a story within the meaning of this section.

§ 12. Fire escapes.—Every non-fireproof tenement house hereafter erected, unless provided with fireproof outside stairways directly accessible to each apartment, shall have fire escapes located and constructed as in this section required, except that tenement houses that are less than four stories in height and which also do not contain accommodations for more than four families in all, may be equipped with such other iron, steel, or wire cable fire escapes as may be approved by the department of buildings, such escapes must be capable of sustaining two thousand pounds, and be of sufficient length to reach from the top floor to the ground, and with rungs not more than twelve inches apart and not less than fifteen inches in length.

(1) The fire escapes shall open directly from at least one room in each apartment at each story above the ground floor, and no fire escape shall be placed in a court except as provided in section fifty-seven of this act. Fire escapes may project into the public highway to a distance not greater than four feet beyond the building line.

(2) The fire escapes shall consist of outside open iron balconies and stairways. The stairways shall be placed at an angle of not more than sixty degrees, with steps not less than six inches in width and twenty inches in length, and with a rise of not more than nine inches. The balcony on the top floor, except in case of a front fire escape, shall be provided with a goose-neck ladder leading from said balcony to and above the roof.

(3) Balconies.—The balconies shall not be less than three feet in width, taking in at least one window of each apartment at each story above the ground floor. They shall be below and not more than one foot below the window sills and extend in front of and not less than nine inches beyond each window. There shall be a landing not less than twenty-four inches square at the head and foot of each stairway. The stairway opening on each platform shall be of a size sufficient to provide clear headway.

(4) Floors of balconies.—The floors of balconies shall be of wrought iron or steel slats not less than one and a-half inches by three-eighths of an inch, placed not more than one and one-quarter inches apart, and well secured and riveted to iron battens one and a-half inches by three-eighths of an inch, not over three feet apart and riveted at the intersection. The openings for stairways in all buildings shall not be less than twenty-one inches wide and thirty-six inches long, and such openings shall have no covers of any kind. The platforms or balconies shall be constructed and erected to safely sustain in all their parts a safe load at a ratio of four to one, of not less than eighty pounds per square foot of surface.

(5) Railings.—The outside top rail shall extend around the entire length of the platform and in all cases shall go through the wall at each end, and be properly secured by nuts and four-inch square washers at least three-eighths of an inch thick, and no top rail shall be connected at angles by cast iron. The top rail of balconies shall be one and three-quarter inches by one-half inch of wrought iron, or one and a-half inch angle iron one-quarter inch thick. The bottom rails shall be one and one-half inches by three-eighths of an inch wrought iron, or one and a-half inch angle iron, one-quarter inch thick, well leaded into the wall. The standards or filling-in bars shall not be less than one-half inch round or square wrought iron, well riveted to the top and bottom rails and platform frame. Such standards or filling-in bars shall be securely braced by outside brackets at suitable intervals, and shall be placed not more than six inches from centres; the height of railings shall in no case be less than two feet nine inches.

(6) Stairways.—The stairways shall be constructed and erected to fully sustain in all their parts a safe load at a ratio of four to one of not less than one hundred pounds per step, with the exception of the tread which must safely sustain at said ratio a load of two hundred pounds. The treads shall be flat open treads not less than six inches wide and with a rise of not more than nine inches. The stairs shall be not less than twenty inches wide. The strings shall be not less than three-inch channels of iron or steel, or other shape equally strong, and shall rest upon and be fastened to a bracket, which shall be fastened through the wall as hereinafter provided. The strings shall be securely fastened to the balcony at the top, and the steps in all cases shall be double-riveted or bolted to the strings. The stairs shall have three-quarter inch hand-rails of wrought iron, well braced.

(7) Brackets.—The brackets shall not be less than one-half inch by one and three-quarter inches wrought iron placed edge-wise, or one and three-quarter inch angle iron, one-quarter inch thick, well braced; they shall not be more than four feet apart, and shall be braced by means of not less than three-quarters of an inch square wrought iron, and shall extend two-thirds of the width of the respective balconies or brackets. The brackets shall go through the wall and be turned down three inches, or be properly secured by nuts and four-inch square washers at least three-eighths of an inch thick. On new buildings the brackets shall be set as the walls are being built. When brackets are put on tenement houses already erected the part going through the wall shall not be less than one inch in diameter with screw nuts and washers not less than five inches square and one-half an inch thick.

(8) Drop-ladders.—A proper drop-ladder shall be required from the lower balcony when the floor of such balcony is more than fourteen feet above the sidewalk or ground.

(9) Painting.—All the parts of such fire escapes shall receive not less than two coats of paint, one in the shop and one after erection. All fire escape balconies shall contain a plate firmly fastened to the standards or filling-in bars near the top railing in front of each window, such plate to contain in plain, large, prominent, raised letters, each letter to be not less than one-half an inch in length, the following words: "Any one placing any encumbrance on this balcony will be fined ten dollars."

§ 13. Bulkheads.—Every tenement house hereafter erected shall have in the roof a fireproof bulkhead with a fireproof door to the same, and every tenement house hereafter erected exceeding three stories and cellar in height shall have fireproof stairs with a guide or hand rail leading to the roof, and such stairs shall be kept free from encumbrance at all times. No bulkhead door shall at any time be locked with a key, but it may be fastened on the inside by movable bolts or hooks.

§ 14. Stairs and public halls.—Every tenement house hereafter erected shall have at least one flight of stairs extending from the entrance floor to the roof, and the stairs and public halls therein shall each be at least three feet wide in the clear.

§ 15. Stairways in non-fireproof buildings.—Every non-fireproof tenement house hereafter erected containing over twenty-six apartments or suites of rooms above the entrance story shall also have an additional flight of stairs for every additional twenty-six apartments or fraction thereof; if said house contains not more than thirty-six apartments above the entrance story in lieu of an additional stairway, the stairs and public halls throughout the entire building may each be at least one-half wider than is specified in sections fourteen and twenty of this act.

§ 16. Stairways in fireproof buildings.—Every fireproof tenement house hereafter erected containing over thirty-six apartments or suites of rooms above the entrance story shall also have an additional flight of stairs for every additional thirty-six apartments or fraction thereof; but if said house contains not more than forty-eight apartments above the entrance story, in lieu of an additional stairway the stairs and public halls throughout the entire building may each be at least one-half wider than is specified in sections fourteen and twenty of this act; and a power passenger elevator, enclosed in a separate shaft from the stairs and distant not less than thirty-five feet from the main flight of stairs, shall be deemed the equivalent of an additional flight.

§ 17. Stairways, continued.—Each flight of stairs mentioned in the last three sections shall have an entrance on the entrance floor from the street or street court, or from an inner court which connects directly with the street. All stairs shall be constructed with a rise of not more than seven and one-half inches and with treads not less than ten inches wide and not less than three feet long in the clear. Where winders are used, all treads at a point eighteen inches from the strings on the well side shall be at least ten inches wide.

§ 18. Stair halls.—The stair halls in all non-fireproof as well as fireproof tenement houses hereafter erected exceeding three stories and cellar in height shall be constructed of fireproof material throughout, except as in this section specified. The risers, strings and banisters shall be of metal or stone. The treads shall be of metal, slate or stone, or of hard wood not less than two inches thick. Wooden hand rails to stairs will be permitted if constructed of hard wood. The floors of all such stair halls shall be constructed of iron or steel beams and fireproof filling and no wooden flooring or sleepers shall be permitted. All windows on such stair halls opening on courts shall be of good quality wire glass in frames of fireproof material.

§ 19. Stair halls, continued.—In every non-fireproof tenement house hereafter erected exceeding three stories and cellar in height all stair halls shall be enclosed on all sides with brick walls. The doors opening from such stair halls shall be fireproof and self-closing, and if provided with glass such glass shall be good quality wire glass. There shall be no transom or movable sash opening from such stair hall to any other part of the house. Each stair hall shall be shut off from all non-fireproof portions of the public halls and from all other non-fireproof parts of the building, on each story, by self-closing fireproof doors, and if glass is used in such doors it shall be of good quality wire glass.

§ 20. Entrance halls.—Every entrance hall in a tenement house hereafter erected shall be at least three feet six inches wide in the clear, from the entrance up to and including the stair enclosure, and beyond this point at least three feet wide in the clear. In tenement houses hereafter erected exceeding three stories and cellar in height every entrance hall shall be enclosed with brick walls, except that in a fireproof tenement house hereafter erected it may be enclosed with terra cotta blocks not less than four inches thick and with angle iron construction, and shall comply with all the conditions of the preceding sections of this act as to the construction of stair halls. If such entrance hall is the only entrance to more than one flight of stairs, that portion of said hall between the entrance and the first flight of stairs shall be increased one-half in width in every part for each such additional flight of stairs. In every tenement house hereafter erected, access shall be had from the street to the yard, either in a direct line or through a court.

§ 21. First tier of beams.—In all non-fireproof as well as fireproof tenement houses hereafter erected five stories or more in height, exclusive of the cellar, the first floor above the lowest cellar, or, if there be no cellar, above the lowest story, shall be constructed fireproof with iron or steel beams and fireproof flooring; and the bottom flanges and all exposed portions of such iron or steel beams below the abutments of the floor arches or filling shall be entirely encased with hard-burnt clay or porous terra cotta or with metal lath properly secured and plastered on the under side. In all non-fireproof tenement houses hereafter erected less than five stories in height, where the first floor above the lowest cellar, or, if there be no cellar, above the lowest story, is not constructed fireproof with iron or steel beams and fireproof flooring, the cellar ceiling of said tenement house shall be lathed with metal lath and plastered thereon with two coats of brown mortar of good materials, or shall be covered with plaster boards not less than one-half inch in thickness, made of plaster and strong fibre and all joints made true and well pointed.

§ 22. Partitions, construction of.—In all non-fireproof tenement houses hereafter erected, fore and aft stud partitions which rest directly over each other shall run through the wooden floor beams and rest upon the plate of the partition below, and shall have the studding filled in solid between the uprights to the depth of the floor beams with suitable incombustible materials. In all fireproof tenement houses hereafter erected, all partitions shall rest directly upon the fireproof floor construction, and extend to the fireproof beam filling above.

§ 23. Cellar stairs in non-fireproof buildings.—In non-fireproof tenement houses hereafter erected exceeding three stories and cellar in height there shall be no inside stairs communicating between the lowest cellar or other lowest story and the floor next above, but such stairs shall in every case be located outside the building, and if enclosed shall be constructed entirely fireproof and be enclosed in a fireproof enclosure with fireproof self-closing doors at all openings. This provision however shall not apply to the stairs leading from the entrance story to the upper stories in tenement houses hereafter erected where there is no cellar or other story below the said entrance story.

§ 24. Cellar stairs in fireproof buildings.—In every fireproof tenement house hereafter erected the stairs communicating between the lowest cellar or other lowest story and the floor next above, if not located underneath the stairs leading to the upper stories, may be placed inside of the said building; provided, that the portion of the cellar or other lowest story into which said stairs lead is entirely shut off by fireproof walls from those portions thereof which are used for the storage of fuel, or in which heating appliances, boilers or machinery are located. All openings in such walls shall be provided with self-closing fireproof doors.

§ 25. Closet under first story stairs.—In non-fireproof tenement houses hereafter erected no closet of any kind shall be constructed under any staircase leading from the first story, exclusive of the cellar, to the upper stories, but such space shall be left entirely open and kept clear and free from encumbrance.

§ 26. Cellar entrance.—In every tenement house hereafter erected there shall be an entrance to the cellar or other lowest story from the outside of the said building. In such tenement houses, which exceed three stories and cellar in height, unless the entire ceiling and floor above the cellar or other lowest story is constructed fireproof, all receptacles for fuel or storage in the cellar or other lowest story shall be constructed entirely of fireproof materials.

§ 27. Fire stops.—In tenement houses hereafter erected, in all walls where wooden furring is used all the courses of brick from the under side of the floor beams to the top of the same shall project a distance of at least two inches beyond the inside face of the wall so as to provide an effective fire stop; and wherever floor beams run parallel to a wall and wooden furring is used such beams shall always be kept at least two and one-half inches away from the inside line of the wall, and the space between the beams and the wall shall be built up solidly with brickwork from the under side of the floor beams to the top of the same, so as to form an effective fire stop.

§ 28. Wooden tenement houses.—Within the fire limits no wooden tenement house shall hereafter be erected, and no wooden building not now used as a tenement house shall hereafter be altered or converted to such use. But outside of the fire limits, tenement houses not exceeding two stories in height, exclusive of the cellar, may be erected of wood, but shall not provide accommodations for, or be occupied by, more than four families in all, or more than two families on any floor; and such houses, whether of wood or other material, need not comply with the foregoing provisions of this act in reference to protection from fire nor with the provisions of sections twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-one, thirty-two, thirty-seven and thirty-eight of this act.

TITLE II.

Provisions Applicable only to Now Existing Tenement Houses.

§ 29. Fire escapes.—Every now existing non-fireproof tenement house, unless provided with fireproof outside stairways directly accessible to each apartment, shall have fire escapes located and constructed as described in section twelve of this act. But a fire escape now erected upon such house shall be deemed sufficient except as provided in the next two sections.

§ 30. Fire escapes, continued.—In every now existing non-fireproof tenement house there shall be a separate fire escape directly accessible to each apartment, exclusive of fire escapes in air shafts and courts; and a party-wall fire escape balcony on the rear of the building connecting with the window of an adjoining building shall be deemed a sufficient fire escape only when the two buildings are completely separated by an unpierced fire wall throughout their entire height and length. All wooden floor slats and floors in fire escape balconies shall be replaced by proper iron slats or floors. No wooden balcony or wooden outside stairs shall be deemed part of a lawful fire escape.

§ 31. Fire escapes, continued.—Whenever a now existing non-fireproof tenement house is not provided with sufficient means of egress in case of fire the department of buildings may order such additional fire escapes or other means of egress as in its judgment may be necessary.

§ 32. Scuttles, bulkheads and ladders.—Every now existing tenement house shall have in the roof a bulkhead or scuttle constructed as in this section required. No scuttle shall be less in size than two feet by three feet, and all scuttles shall be covered on the outside with metal and shall be provided with stairs or stationary ladders leading thereto and easily accessible to all tenants of the building and kept free from encumbrance, and all scuttles and ladders shall be kept so as to be ready for use at all times. Every bulkhead hereafter constructed in a tenement house shall be fireproof with a fireproof door to the same and shall have stairs with a guide or handrail leading to the roof, and such stairs shall be kept free from encumbrance at all times. No scuttle and no bulkhead door shall at any time be locked with a key, but either may be fastened on the inside by movable bolts or hooks.

§ 33. Stair halls, public halls and entrance halls.—If any now existing tenement house shall be so altered as to increase the number of rooms therein by thirty-three and one-third per centum or more, or if such building is increased in height so that the said building is more than four stories or parts of stories above the curb level, and also the number of rooms is increased therein, the entire stair halls, entrance halls and other public halls of the whole building shall be made to conform to the requirements of sections fourteen to twenty, inclusive, of this act.

§ 34. Alteration of wooden tenement houses.—No now existing wooden tenement house shall be increased in height so as to exceed two stories, exclusive of the cellar, nor shall it be altered so as to be occupied by more than two families on any floor nor by more than four families in all.

TITLE III.

Provisions Applicable to all Tenement Houses Hereafter Erected or Now Existing.

§ 35. Fire escapes.—All fire escapes hereafter constructed upon tenement houses shall be located and constructed as described in section twelve of this act. The owner of every tenement house shall keep all the fire escapes thereon in good order and repair, and whenever rusty shall have them properly painted with two coats of paint. No person shall at any time place any encumbrance of any kind before or upon any such fire escape.

§ 36. Stairways.—In every tenement house all stairways shall be provided with proper banisters and railings and kept in good repair.

§ 37. Shafts.—All shafts hereafter constructed in tenement houses shall be constructed fireproof throughout, with fireproof self-closing doors at all openings, at each story, except window openings in vent shafts; and, if they extend to the cellar, shall also be enclosed in the cellar with fireproof walls and fireproof self-closing doors at all openings. In no case shall any shaft be constructed of materials in which any inflammable material or substance enters into any of the component parts. But nothing in this section contained shall be so construed as to require such enclosures about elevators or dumb-waiters in the well-hole of stairs where the stairs themselves are enclosed in brick or stone walls, and are entirely constructed of fireproof materials as hereinbefore provided.

§ 38. Plastering behind wainscoting.—When wainscoting is hereafter placed in any tenement house, or any building in process of alteration into a tenement house, the surface of the wall or partition behind such wainscoting shall be plastered down to the floor line, and any intervening space between said plastering and said wainscot shall be filled in solid with incombustible material.

§ 39. Wooden buildings on same lot with a tenement house.—No wooden building of any kind whatsoever shall hereafter be placed or built upon the same lot with a tenement house within the fire limits.

§ 40. Combustible materials.—No tenement house, nor any part thereof, shall be used as a place of storage for any combustible, article except under such conditions as may be prescribed by the fire department, under authority of a written permit issued by said department. No tenement house, nor any part thereof, shall be used as a place of storage for any article dangerous to life or health, nor for the storage of feed, hay, straw, excelsior or cotton, nor for the storage or handling of rags.

§ 41. Bakeries and fat boiling.—No bakery and no place of business in which fat is boiled shall be maintained in any tenement house which is not fireproof throughout, unless the ceiling and sidewalls of said bakery or of the said place where fat boiling is done are made safe by fireproof materials around the same, and there shall be no openings either by door or window, dumb-waiter shafts or otherwise, between said bakery or said place where fat is boiled in any tenement house and the other parts of the said building.

§ 42. Other dangerous businesses.—All transoms and windows opening into halls from any portion of a tenement house where paint, oil, spirituous liquors or drugs are stored for the purpose of sale or otherwise, shall be glazed with wire-glass or they shall be removed and closed up as solidly as the rest of the wall; and all doors leading into any such hall from such portion of said house shall be made fireproof.

CHAPTER III.

Light and Ventilation.

TITLE I.

Provisions Applicable only to Tenement Houses Hereafter Erected.

§ 51. Percentage of lot occupied.—No tenement house hereafter erected shall occupy more than ninety per centum of a corner lot, or more than seventy per centum of any other lot; provided, that the space occupied by fire escapes of the size hereinbefore prescribed shall not be deemed a part of the lot occupied. For the purposes of this section the measurements shall be taken at the ground level, except that where such a building has no basement, and the cellar ceiling is not more than two feet above the curb level, the measurements as to percentage of lot occupied may be taken at the level of the second tier of beams.

§ 52. Height.—The height of no tenement house hereafter erected shall by more than one-half exceed the width of the widest street upon which it stands. Such height shall be the perpendicular distance measured in a straight line from the curb level to the highest point of the roof beams; provided that where there are bulkheads exceeding ten feet in height or exceeding in area ten per centum of the area of the roof, the measurements shall be taken to the top of the bulkhead; but this shall not apply to elevator enclosures not exceeding fifteen feet in height. The measurements in all cases shall be taken through the center of the facade of the house.

§ 53. Yards.—Behind every tenement house hereafter erected there shall be a yard extending across the entire width of the lot, and except upon a corner lot, at every point open from the ground to the sky unobstructed, except that fire escapes or unenclosed outside stairs may project not over four feet from the rear line of the house. The depth of said yard, measured from the extreme rear wall of the house to the rear line of the lot, shall be as set forth in the two following sections.

§ 54. Yards of interior lots.—Except upon a corner lot the depth of the yard behind every tenement house hereafter erected sixty feet in height shall be not less than twelve feet in every part. Said yard shall be increased in depth one foot for every additional twelve feet of height of the building, or fraction thereof; and may be decreased in depth one foot for every twelve feet of height of the building less than sixty feet; but it shall never be less than ten feet in depth in any part.

§ 55. Yards of corner lots.—The depth of the yard behind every tenement house hereafter erected upon a corner lot shall be not less than ten feet in every part, provided that where such lot is less than one hundred feet in depth, the depth of the yard may be not less than ten per centum of the depth of such lot, but shall never be less than five feet in every part. Where a tenement house hereafter erected on a corner lot has no basement and the cellar ceiling is not more than two feet above the curb level, said yard may start at the level of the second tier of beams. Where a corner lot is more than fifty feet in width, the yard for that portion in excess of fifty feet shall conform to the provisions of section fifty-four of this act.

§ 56. Yard spaces of lots running through from street to street.—Wherever a tenement house hereafter erected is upon a lot which runs through from one street to another street, and said lot is not less than seventy feet nor more than one hundred feet in depth, there shall be a yard space through the center of the lot midway between the two streets, which space shall extend across the full width of the lot and shall never be less than twelve feet in depth from wall to wall; but where such building has no basement and the cellar ceiling is not more than two feet above the curb level, such yard space may start at the level of the second tier of beams. Where such lot is over one hundred feet in depth such yard space shall conform to the provisions of section sixty-two of this act for inner courts, and shall be left through the center of the lot midway between the two streets, and shall extend across the entire width of the lot. Where a single tenement house hereafter erected is situated on a lot formed by the intersection of two streets at an acute angle, the yard of the said house need not extend across the entire width of the lot, provided that it extends to a point in line with the middle line of the block.

§ 57. Courts.—No court of a tenement house hereafter erected shall be covered by a roof or skylight, but every such court shall be at every point open from the ground to the sky unobstructed, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, and shall conform to the requirements of the following sections; provided, that an apartment not containing any room fronting upon the street or yard shall have a fire escape in a court, projecting not more than four feet from the wall of the house.

§ 58. Outer courts.—Where one side of an outer court is situated on the lot line, the width of the said court, measured from the lot line to the opposite wall of the building, for tenement houses sixty feet in height shall not be less than six feet in any part; and for every twelve feet of increase or fraction thereof in height of the said building, such width shall be increased six inches throughout the entire height of said court; and for every twelve feet of decrease in the height of the said building below sixty feet, such width may be decreased six inches. Except that in tenement houses hereafter erected not exceeding three stories and cellar in height and which also are not occupied or arranged to be occupied by more than six families in all, or by more than two families on any floor, and in which also each apartment extends through from the street to the yard, the width of an outer court situated on the lot line shall not be less than four feet in any part, provided that the length of such outer court does not exceed twenty-four feet.

§ 59. Outer courts, continued.—Where an outer court is situated between wings or parts of the same building, or between different buildings on the same lot, the width of the said court, measured from wall to wall, for tenement houses sixty feet in height, shall not be less than twelve feet in any part; and for every twelve feet of increase or fraction thereof in the height of the said building, such width shall be increased one foot throughout the entire height of the said court; and for every twelve feet of decrease in the height of the said building below sixty feet, such width of the said court may be decreased one foot. Except that in tenement houses hereafter erected not exceeding three stories and cellar in height and which also are not occupied or arranged to be occupied by more than six families in all, or by more than two families on any floor, and in which also each apartment extends through from the street to the yard, the width of an outer court situated between wings or parts of the same building, or between different buildings on the same lot, measured from wall to wall, shall be not less than eight feet in any part, provided that the length of said outer court does not exceed twenty-four feet.

§ 60. Outer courts, continued.—Wherever an outer court changes its initial horizontal direction, or wherever any part of such court extends in a direction so as not to receive direct light from the street or yard, the length of such portion of said court shall never exceed the width of said portion; such length to be measured from the point at which the change of direction commences. Wherever an outer court is less in depth than the mimimum width prescribed by this title then its width may be equal to, but not less than its depth, provided that such width is never less than four feet in the clear. This exception shall also apply to each offset or recess in outer courts. And no window except windows of water-closet compartments, bath-rooms or halls shall open upon any offset or recess less than six feet in width.

§ 61. CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's Office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 28, 29 and 31, April 1, 2 and 3.
